LONDON HEARS U. S. BACKS UP PLEDGE TO INDIA

Suggest Guarantee to Get War Aid.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 7 [Tuesday].—Dispatches from New Delhi stating that Louis Johnson, described here as "President Roosevelt's personal minister to India," has promised Congress party leaders the United States would guarantee India's independence after the war were given a big play in London papers this morning.

After prolonged discussions lasting until late last night, the British war cabinet was reported to have sent new instructions to Sir Stafford Cripps, who is negotiating with Indian leaders. The instructions were aimed to meet India's demand for the control of defense of her own country and remove Indian doubts about automatic dominion status after the war.

The Revised Proposals.

Ways in which the Indian demands might be met, it was suggested in political circles, include:

1. The appointment of an Indian defense minister in an executive council to advise the viceroy.

2. Formal guarantee by the United States and other countries that the promise of dominion status afterward would be carried out; and

3. An immediate invitation to prominent Indians to join the war cabinet and the Pacific council and possibly participate in a new body, charged with the defense of India.

Johnson Meets Leader.

NEW DELHI, India, April 6 (AP).—Louis Johnson, a special emissary from the United States, sought in a round of conferences today to assist in solution of the complex Indian independence question, rendered even more urgent by the first Japanese air attacks on the mainland of India.

Friendly assurances of the American government's interest in India's freedom and future were believed to have been given by Johnson in talks yesterday and today with Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru and Maulana Abul Kalm Azad, leaders of the All-India Congress party, the country's major political group of Hindus.

Johnson then conferred with Sir Stafford Cripps, British cabinet minister who brought to India an offer of postwar dominion status.

Letter Remains a Secret.

Johnson, who is also head of a mission to bolster India's war industrial possibilities, did not hand to Nehru a letter which he has brought from President Roosevelt to some unidentified Indian native leader. When and to whom he will deliver it remained secret.

[In London well informed sources said a decision one way or the other was expected this week after Cripps explains the British cabinet's revision of the plan for India's defense. One suggestion under consideration was said by these sources to be appointment of Gen. Sir Archibald P. Wavell as viceroy with Nehru or the moderate Sir Tej Bahadur Sapru as defense minister. Wavell would retain his position as commander in chief of India.]

Reports to Congress Party.

The Congress working committee heard reports today from Nehru and Azad on their talks with Johnson, and Azad said he was expecting to hear from Cripps possibly tonight.

The committee adopted a memorandum to be given to Cripps, inviting an "unequivocal" declaration on India's future status.

Meanwhile the Moslem league adopted a resolution at Allahabad empowering its president, Mohammed Ali Jinnah, to "take forthwith all necessary and effective steps for protection of the life, honor and property of Moslems." It was not explained what these steps might be. The league, second largest of Indian political organs, claims leadership of India's 77,000,000 Moslems.

8 Die, 20 Hurt as Sub Shells Boat 2½ Hours

New Orleans, La., April 6 [Special].—An enemy submarine's two and a half hour attack on a Panamanian ship by the light of a full moon, while sharks killed at least one crewman when he leaped overboard, was dramatically recounted today by survivors.

119

Eight men were killed and approximately 20 were wounded in the night attack March 8 in the Caribbean sea, the 8th naval district announced today. Forty-two men survived.

The ship, however, escaped the fate of 119 other vessels that have been sunk by undersea craft striking in the vicinity of American waters since the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. The crew had given up the vessel for lost at the time of the attack, but they returned to the craft the next day and brought it into Mobile, Ala., under its own power.

Torpedoed, Then Shelled.

The submarine first torpedoed the ship and then raked her with shells and machinegun bullets. A fire started aboard the ship, her steering gear was damaged, and all except one lifeboat were wrecked.

Survivors said some crew members jumped into the water when the attack began, and that a shark killed one. Others clambered into the lifeboat and aboard three life rafts.

A short distance away the submarine rode on the moonlit surface of the sea, sending shell after shell into the helpless ship. Capt. James Stewart, the ship's master, and Hawkins Fudske, the chief engineer, killed by shell fire, were among the dead.

Chief Engineer T. J. McTaggart, 29 years old, of Medford, Mass., said the deck was aflame when he left the ship. The submarine kept firing until two star shells were sent up by a nearby ship, at which the attacker ceased the shelling and vanished.

Return and Save Ship.

To the surprise of the survivors, who had remained in the vicinity, the damaged ship was still afloat the next day. The courageous crewmen climbed back aboard, made repairs, and boldly took it to Mobile.

The name of the ship, her tonnage, and the exact area in which the attack occurred were not made known.

The navy announced, however, that the attack was one of three on ships which subsequently reached port. The second was a large United States cargo vessel which outran a submarine March 23 and the third was a medium size United States merchant ship which was attacked March 25. The two ships, undamaged, put in to Texas ports.

In the sinking of 119 ships since Dec. 7 a total of 798 persons have lost their lives, 994 are missing and believed dead, and 2,841 have been rescued.

FLYING ITALIAN FLAG

Miami, Fla., April 6.—The sinking of a medium size British freighter in West Indies waters by a submarine which hoisted an Italian flag was disclosed by survivors here today. Survivors said one crew member died of a heart attack at the time of the attack and the remaining 57 were rescued after 42 hours in lifeboats and were taken to Nassau.

[The dispatch from Miami said the ship was sunk March 13 and had been announced March 17 in Nassau. Dispatches from Nassau that day said 57 survivors of a torpedoed vessel had reached Nassau on March 15. In Washington, D. C., yesterday the navy announced that a medium size British merchant vessel had been torpedoed off the Atlantic coast. It was not disclosed, however, whether the ship to which the navy referred was the one sunk in West Indies waters. The Miami dispatch did not say when the survivors arrived there.]

Torpedoed and Shelled.

Capt. J. J. Egerton, the master of the British ship, said it was torpedoed and shelled in daylight, altho the crew did not see the submarine until after a torpedo had crashed into the boiler room.

"I'm certain the submarine was of the large Italian class," said Egerton, who is a veteran of more than 40 years at sea.

"After we had abandoned ship the submarine circled our lifeboats and the captain shouted out to ask whether we were all right and whether we needed anything. He spoke good English, but it was easy to tell he was an Italian speaking English, and not a German."

WHEN THE TIMES NEED MEN OF COURAGE

11 Flyers Die in 3 Military Plane Crashes

Eleven officers and men of the army and navy lost their lives in three plane crashes announced yesterday. An army bomber crashed in the desert near Tuscon, Ariz. Near San Diego a two seater navy plane crashed during routine maneuvers. In Hawaii four bodies were recovered from the fire swept wreckage of a bomber which crashed in Oahu Island.

Five Die; Two Escape.

Tucson, Ariz., April 6 (AP).—Motors of a big United States army bomber failed today, one of them burst into flames, and the ship crashed on the desert 22 miles southeast of here, trapping and killing five officers and men in the blazing cabin.

The dead and their addresses, as listed by Col. Lowell H. Smith, commander of Davis-Monthan air corps base, who said the tragedy was due to engine failure and fire in the air, were:

First Lieut. Donald W. Johnson, the pilot, of Dunning, Neb.

Sgt. Laurel D. Larsen, Minkcreek, Idaho.

Pvt. Herman W. Dunn, Mifflintown, Pa.

Pvt. Emerson L. Wallace, Philadelphia, Pa.

Pvt. Leo W. Thomas, Lemoore, Cal.

Second Lieut. Sidney L. Fouts, of Santa Rosa, Cal., and Sgt. William F. Regan of Dunmore, Pa., parachuted to safety, suffering only minor injuries and shock.

On Training Flight.

The bomber was on a routine training flight.

Two witnesses, Marguerite Shoemaker and Fidel Rhodes, said the ship made three spirals before crashing. Fouts and Regan bailed out at a low altitude and landed in a gully about 200 yards from the burning plane.

Trapped in the cabin, the five others men never had a chance to extricate themselves, Miss Shoemaker and Rhodes said.

Firemen from Davis-Monthan field fought the stubborn blaze for more than an hour before extinguishing it.

Four Dead in Hawaii.

HONOLULU, T. H., April 6 (AP).—Army authorities reported today that an army bomber crashed and burned on Oahu Island last night. Four bodies had been recovered and it was feared there were additional victims.

Galesburg Ensign Killed.

San Diego, Cal., April 6 (AP).—Ensign Willard E. Norval, 26, Galesburg, Ill., and James F. Crow Jr., 18, apprentice seaman from White Deer, Tex., were killed today in the crash of their two seater navy plane near Bonita, 10 miles southeast of San Diego. The navy said the flyers were engaged in routine maneuvers when the craft crashed. Norval's widow, Katherine, and his mother, Grace Morgan, Galesburg, survive.

7 U. S. NAVY FLYERS REACH AUSTRALIA TO END HECTIC ODYSSEY

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 6 (AP).—Another epic of heroism and endurance was unfolded today following the arrival in Australia of seven United States navy airmen who within 73 hectic hours—

Escaped from their flying boat after it was shot down in flames off northern Australia by nine Japanese fighters with the loss of one of their comrades;

Drifted for hours in a rubber dinghy until they were rescued by an American merchantman, which in turn was sunk by Japanese divebombers as the vessel raced to the aid of another ship set afire by enemy planes;

Survived this sinking and rowed for many hours in a lifeboat manned by panic stricken natives before sighting an island;

Walked endless miles under a scorching sun to a settlement where they were picked up by a second ship which was bombed by a Japanese flying boat but finally reached the safety of an Australian port.

3 CHICAGO MEN MISSING AFTER SEA DISASTER

Parents of three Chicago men who were aboard the United States aircraft tender Langley, have been notified their sons are missing following the sinking of the ship off Java.

Those missing are Richard P. Ratajik, 23 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ratajik, 4622 Altgeld street; Walter R. Tierney, also 23, son of Mrs. Anna Tierney, 8012 Langley avenue, and George James Small, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Small, 11148 Sawyer avenue.

Ratajik and Tierney were petty officers in the naval intelligence division and Small was a seaman, second class.

Norwegian Tar Tells Ship Dash in Hail of Fire

A BRITISH PORT, April 6 (AP).—A number of the 11 Norwegian ships which last week made a daring dash toward Britain from Goteburg, Sweden, have reached this port safely after being attacked repeatedly by German airplanes, naval surface craft, and submarines.

A combination of heavy fog, skillful seamanship, and plain luck enabled the ships to run the German blockade. But some of them were sunk by the Germans.

Torpedoes Filled Sea.

[Copenhagen, Denmark, dispatches said that two to four of the ships were sunk, and that two turned back to Goteburg.]

A young Norwegian sailor who came thru the gantlet said "those torpedoes seemed to fill the sea."

"The Germans had been tipped off," the young Norwegian said. "They were waiting just off the Swedish coast in the heavily mined Skagerrak, and opened up on us immediately. We could do nothing in reply.

Shells Scream in Air.

"Their shells were screaming all around us at point-blank range. German bombers droned overhead.

"Most of the ships turned back. Then suddenly a heavy fog came down and the Nazi bombardment stopped.

"We crept out again. Then I saw a vivid flash. I think it was a ship hit by a torpedo.

"Our ship kept on at full speed. Above us we could still hear the roar of German bombers and every now and then the thud of exploding bombs. But that fog was our salvation."

U. S. SUBS SINK 2 JAP TANKERS AND FREIGHTER

Diver Raids Tokio's Own Waters.

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—American submarines battering at Japan's long supply lines in the western Pacific have sunk three more enemy merchant ships, two of them heavily laden tankers, the navy reported today.

Destruction of these vessels raised to a total of 51 the Japanese ships blasted by United States undersea raiders—a total made up of 30 sinkings, 10 probable sinkings, and the damaging of 11 other ships.

The over-all score of Japanese vessels sunk and damaged by both army and navy forces mounted to 209 in the four months of war ending today.

Sunk in Jap Waters.

The two tankers were sunk by a submarine on extended patrol in the vicinity of the Caroline Islands, Japanese mandates lying east of the Philippines. One of the tankers fired on the submarine but, the navy said, failed to damage it.

The cargo of the tankers, whether oil or gasoline, was not given, but it was considered possible that they were transporting fuel for enemy fleet units. Truk Island in the Caroline group is a great Japanese naval base.

The third ship reported sunk was a freighter, blasted by a submarine on patrol in Japanese waters. No details of this encounter were divulged by the navy. It was recalled, however, that other submarine attacks have been carried out in that area, suggesting the probability that United States craft are in constant operation there, thousands of miles from their bases.

Operations Increasing.

That operations over the whole of the enemy dominated western Pacific are constantly increasing was indicated by the fact that in recent weeks the navy has made more and more frequent reports of American undersea attacks.

Only last Saturday it was announced that two light cruisers had been torpedoed south of Java, and that five noncombatant enemy vessels had been damaged by submarine attacks in Dutch East Indies waters.

Rear Adm. L. O. Colbert, director of the Coast and Geodetic survey, announced today that both of his agency's ships in the Philippine Islands were either damaged or missing.

Beached on Manila Bay.

The survey vessel Research was beached on the western side of Manila bay after being damaged by bombings at Engineer Island on Dec. 28 and in Manila bay Dec. 29 and 30. The survey ship Fathomer was last heard from at Manila before the outbreak of war.

Adm. Colbert indicated that the personnel of the Research escaped serious casualties.

The Research was commanded by Lieut. George E. Morris Jr., of Minneapolis. The Fathomer was commanded by Lieut. [J. G.] J. W. Stirni of Milford, Del.

TWO HAMS IN A MILAN WINDOW CAUSE NEAR RIOT

BERNE, Switzerland, April 6 (AP).—Two succulent hams hanging in a Milan store window caused a near riot among ration pinched Italians who couldn't believe their own eyes. The incident was related today in a Milan dispatch printed in the Fascist newspaper La Stampa of Turin.

The paper said a grumbling crowd gathered in front of the store at the spectacle of "two marvelous hams," and began asking one another if the hams were real. Traffic was blocked. Police were called, and found the hams, described as "gifts from God," were real and had been acquired legally.

The proud owner, who had put the hams in the window merely for show purposes, was ordered to hang them out of public view.

American Mother of '42 Has 13 Children and Job

New York, April 6 (AP).—The Golden Rule foundation announced today that Mrs. William N. Berry of Greensboro, N. C., had been selected as "the American mother of 1942." Mrs. George W. Stark of Detroit was named "associate American mother of 1942." Mrs. Berry, 52 years old, has 13 children and is secretary and treasurer of her husband's coal company.

ROUNDUP OF WAR DEVELOPMENTS ON MAJOR FRONTS

Latest war developments:

Japanese bombers carried the war into India by bombing two seaport towns on the bay of Bengal, an Indian communique said. The towns Vizagapatam and Cocanada, were not seriously damaged. A British fleet was reported to be seeking the Jap aircraft carrier from which the planes were launched.

In Burma the enemy had pushed forward 15 miles from Prome and was massing west of the Irrawaddy river in a possible flanking movement to threaten the British connection with the coast, New Delhi dispatches said.

Great Battle in Bataan.

On the Bataan peninsula the war department said wave after wave of Japs had been thrown at the American-Filipino lines and had forced the defenders to give ground, altho a second attempt by the Japs to land reenforcements by barges from the sea was defeated.

American submarines, one of them operating in Japanese waters, the other in the Caroline Islands, sank a Jap freighter and two tankers, raising their toll since the war began to 30 Jap ships, the navy announced.

On the Australian front United States headquarters dispatches announced that American and Australian bombers struck at Rabaul and Gasmata in New Britain, now held by the Japs, wrecking ships in the harbor and planes on the airfields.

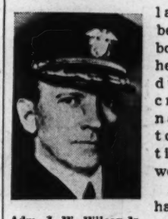

Reds Bag 415 Planes.

On the Russian front unusually wet spring weather found the Russians still fighting to throw the Germans back before they can start a new offensive. Kuibyshev said that 415 German aircraft were destroyed in eight days' fighting and that 221 were downed Saturday and Sunday, at a cost of 84 Russian planes.

U. S. Admiral Lost at Sea in Bad Weather

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—Rear Adm. J. W. Wilcox Jr. of Atlanta, Ga., has been lost overboard "at sea in heavy weather during normal cruising," the navy announced today. No additional details were disclosed.

Adm. J. W. Wilcox Jr.

Adm. Wilcox had been on duty at sea since November, 1941. He was born in Milledgeville, Ga., March 22, 1882, and was appointed to the naval academy in 1901. He won his navy "N" in football in 1903 and 1904.

Immediately prior to his service at sea, Adm. Wilcox was president of the board of inspection and survey at the navy department, a post to which he was appointed in September, 1940.

Following his graduation from Annapolis he was assigned to duty on the battleship West Virginia. Later while attached to the U. S. S. Scorpion in the Mediterranean, he assisted in relief work after an earthquake in Messina, Italy.

He is survived by his widow, the former Caroline Manigault, to whom he was married in Charleston, S. C., Dec. 22, 1919, and two children, Arthur M. Wilcox, 21, and Mary M. Wilcox, 11.

Wilcox was the second American admiral to be lost in the present war. Rear Adm. Isaac Kidd was killed at Pearl Harbor.

YANKS BEAT OFF SECOND ATTACK FROM THE SEA

Fight Dive Bombers and Artillery.

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—The Japanese hurled wave upon wave of assault troops at Lieut. Gen. Jonathan Wainwright's American-Filipino forces today, and gained ground in the third day of heavy fighting on the Bataan peninsula.

A late day communique from the war department said the attacks were supported by heavy artillery fire and dive bombers, and, for the second time in three days, reported that "the enemy made some gains," altho paying heavily in casualties.

Anti-aircraft gunners shot down one of the dive bombers, the second they have bagged in two days.

Open Fire from Barges.

On the east coast of the peninsula, where the Japanese have been repulsed twice in the last 72 hours in attempts to land troops for a flank attack, enemy artillery harassed the defenses, firing from barges in Manila bay. Most of the shells fell short of their targets, the communique said.

The action reported today was the seventh massed drive against the Bataan defenses in less than two weeks. Since Saturday the hammering at the right center of Wainwright's line has been almost continuous.

There was no mention in department communiques today of the extent of casualties among the defending forces, but it was believed likely that they have been much lighter that the Japanese losses.

Foil Second Landing Effort.

A morning communique, covering the fighting of yesterday, told of the frustration of the second attempt to land troops from barges on the peninsula shore.

Light artillery fire from the beach defenses broke up the landing attempt, and the Japanese, despite the tremendous power of the attack on the Bataan line, were unable in several hours of savage fighting to extend their gains until today.

The repeatedly heavy Japanese drives were taken by observers as meaning that Lieut. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, the Japanese commander, was determined to force his way thru the line regardless of the cost in men and equipment.

Fear Withdrawal Near.

This grim view was accompanied by predictions that, if Yamashita is willing to disregard casualties, he probably will be able eventually to crush the stout opposition and force a general withdrawal by the defenders to new positions farther down the peninsula, possibly even to a last ditch stand at Corregidor.

Wainwright's line now extends across Bataan from a point above Abucay on the Manila bay shore, southwestward to the China sea, with about half of the peninsula in the possession of the defenders.

Forts Frank and Drum, near the Cavite shore of Manila bay, were subjected to light attack by enemy dive bombers which inflicted neither casualties nor damage.

KEARNY IS READY FOR SEA AFTER TORPEDO REPAIRS

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—The destroyer Kearny, which was torpedoed in the North Atlantic Oct. 17, has been completely repaired and is again operating with the fleet, the navy announced today.

Final repairs were made at the Boston navy yard. Emergency repairs made by the repair ship Vulcan immediately after the attack were performed so efficiently that Lieut. Comm. Edwin R. Duncan of Burlington, Ky., repair officer, and Capt. Leon S. Fiske of Whitinsville, Mass., commanding officer of the Vulcan, have been officially commended.

Eleven men were killed in the attack, two were seriously injured, and eight received minor wounds.

CHICAGO SALUTES ARMY; 15,000 JOIN IN RECORD PARADE

Throngs Hail Heroes of Past and Present Wars.

BY ROBERT CROMIE.

Chicago marked the 25th anniversary of America's entry into the World war yesterday with the greatest and most colorful Army day parade in the city's history.

Fighting men out of the heroic past, today's soldiers, sailors and marines, 7,500 boys of the ROTC, grim lines of mechanized equipment, fleet little jeeps "that can go on two wheels—any two," youthful drum and bugle corps—all passed down Michigan avenue in a parade that started at Superior street and ended two and a half hours later at Roosevelt road.

15,000 Participate in Parade.

More than 15,000 persons marched, and many times that number lined both curbs, hung from office windows or perched on points of vantage—including the bronze lions in front of the Art institute—to admire and cheer their passing. Well in the van, close behind the Chicago Police post of the Legion and massed American and Legion post flags, came the 1st infantry band and the 2d battalion of the 1st infantry from Fort Leonard Wood, Newburg, Mo., under command of Lieut. Carleton Smith.

The 1st, organized in 1791, is the army's oldest infantry regiment and numbers among its former officers Presidents William H. Harrison and Zachary Taylor.

Following these troops came the 80th field artillery battalion, whose 102 vehicles included motor drawn 155 mm. howitzers, anti-aircraft units mounting 30 and 50 caliber machine guns, jeeps, transport trucks, and command and reconnaissance cars.

Roll Past Reviewing Stand.

The soldiers riding these swift weapons of destruction came stiffly to attention as they rolled past the reviewing stand in the Congress street plaza, where sat Brig. Gen. William E. Guthner, 6th corps area, parade marshal; Maj. Gen. George Grunert, 6th corps area commander; Mayor Edward J. Kelly and other dignitaries.

Proudest of all those in the reviewing stand, however, were six members of the G. A. R., the youngest 92 and the oldest 102. They rose to shaky attention at least 25 times as the American flag went by.

The greatest portion of the parade was devoted to ROTC units from high schools thruout Chicagoland.

Also in the line of march were a detachment from the marine air corps, Spanish-American war veterans, and VFW and Legion posts, including the Commonwealth Edison Legion post's national champion drum and bugle corps. Great Lakes sent a band and several hundred gobs; Fort Sheridan a band and a detachment of military police, and a lone British-American ambulance also was in line.

10,000 See Warplanes.

Ten thousand Chicagoans who failed to attend the parade satisfied their pride in the nation's fighting forces by visiting Chicago airport, where battle planes of both the United States and Great Britain were on display.

At Fort Sheridan, in command of Col. Fredrick C. Rogers, there was open house from 4 to 9 p. m., with a demonstration of anti-aircraft fire under direction of Brig. Gen. La Rhett L. Stuart. Later 1,200 soldiers were entertained by Neil Bondshu and his orchestra and Jane Frohman, singer, from the Blackstone hotel. Several hundred civilians visited the fort during the open hours.

The 15th annual Army day dinner sponsored by the Military Order of the World War was held in the Gold ballroom of the Congress hotel.

Maj. Gen. Grunert, a friend of Gen. Douglas MacArthur's for 24 years and who left the Philippines last Oct. 31, was speaker. He praised Gen. MacArthur's personality and leadership and then told of the military situation in the Philippines at the time he departed.

Regular Philippine Army.

"The Philippine army at that time consisted of approximately 150,000," he said, "of which some few thousands pertained to the regular Philippine army and the balance were reservists who had had five and a half months of training in groups of about 17,000 to 20,000 every six months since 1937 and who since then had practically no opportunity for refresher training or training for modern combat in units higher than a company.

"Due to housing conditions and utilities, the first contingent called for 13 weeks intensive training on Sept. 1 consisted of about one-fourth of the entire force. Their cycle of training prior to higher training was to end Dec. 1.

"By Oct. 15 it was possible to call in the second contingent, and the third was due for call Dec. 15. So when the Japanese struck, MacArthur had one contingent which had completed its basic training and one with but seven weeks' training. Whether any more were called I know not, because I left the Philippines Oct. 31, 1941."

Gen. Grunert said Gen. MacArthur's success in meeting the onslaught under those conditions emphasized his "truly remarkable command ability."

CLUB HONORS MacARTHUR

Earlier in the day, at a luncheon in the Union League club, during which Gen. Douglas MacArthur's name was added to the club's roll of honorary members, Gen. Grunert reminisced about his former chief:

"I vividly recall his voice and mannerisms. How, being seated, his thoughts and their demand for expression literally forced him out of his chair and set him to striding up and down, seeking new words to express his dynamic personality.

"I was in his close proximity during World War I when his car was splattered with machine gun bullets, and on another occasion when he nearly lost his life by being mistaken for a Boche officer.

"MacArthur is a natural showman and an individual stylist insofar as his personal attire is concerned. In the AEF he couldn't stand the stiff crowned cap so he removed the rear supporting wires—thus making it resemble a snappy Boche headpiece.

"As a natural result, he was held up and nearly shot."

Ferre C. Watkins, president of the club, announced that an embossed memorial, bound in leather, will be sent to Gen. MacArthur.

Only 43 other men have been so honored by the club, whose roots go back to the Civil war era. That list includes such American generals as Grant, Sherman, Sheridan, and Pershing, and nine former Presidents.

FIGHTERS ALONE WILL WIN WAR! SAYS GEN. LEAR

Detroit, Mich., April 6 (AP).—Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear, commander of the 2d army, told the Detroit Economic club today that the United States must fight an aggressive war, "bold, venturesome, and loaded with the risks of daring action and distant objectives—a war in which fighters will win."

Gen. Lear, here to review an Army day parade, declared that costly machines and equipment, necessary as they are, would be useless without "hardened fighting men"—whom he called "the master machines of war"—to operate them.

"American fighting men look to you never to fail them, not even for an hour; never to fumble, never to falter, never to look backward, never to compromise with the evil that they fight," he added.

BOEING BOMBERS GET CREDIT FOR 'ARMY SUCCESSES

Seattle, Wash., April 6 (AP).—Boeing bombers have carried the majority of the burden in the United States army's smashing campaign in the western Pacific, Col. James S. Griffith, air force resident representative, told Boeing plant employés in a special Army day message today.

Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the air force, messaged the company that its planes are "the guts and backbone of our world-wide air offensive."

"Boeing fortresses are credited with the majority of the 62 enemy ships sunk or seriously damaged and the 50 Japanese fighter planes destroyed in the air by the United States bomber command in the western Pacific up to March 1, based on reports made public," Col. Griffith said.

13 IN 2 TROLLEYS HURT IN CRASH ON 100 FOOT BRIDGE

Cleveland, O., April 6 (AP).—Thirteen persons were injured and nearly 100 others were jolted in a rear end collision of two trolley cars on the Detroit-Superior high level bridge 100 feet above the Cuyahoga river.

Motorman Charles H. Wendorff, 35 years old, who suffered a broken leg, was pinned inside the battered cab of his street car for an hour before rescuers cut him free with torches.

Wendorff's car, bound downtown loaded with passengers, struck the rear of a stalled car. He said he did not see the other car until it was too late to stop.

CAPITAL MARKS ARMY DAY WITH SUBDUED SPIRIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The capital today observed Army day, marking the 25th anniversary of America's entry into the World war, without fanfare or martial processions of any kind.

The capital was one of the few large cities which did not put on a parade of military might to show the citizens their strength of arms and the growth of their fighting forces.

Oldtimers said the occasion was in striking contrast to the day's events 25 years ago when the United States declared war on Germany. On that day there were demonstrations in crowded, flag bedecked streets after congress had adopted the war resolution.

The highlight of today's activities here was the unveiling of a portrait bust of Gen. Douglas MacArthur, the fighting general whose mettle in battle has made him the No. 1 hero of the allies. In Australia soldiers under MacArthur heard by broadcast the unveiling ceremonies at the Mayflower hotel.

The only other formal observance of the day was the annual dinner of the Military Order of the World War, sponsors of Army day.

URGES 'SHOOTING MATCH' TRIAL OF SHORT, KIMMEL

Pikeville, Ky., April 6 (AP).—Congressman A. J. May [D., Ky.], chairman of the house military affairs committee, declared today that "when Gen. Short and Adm. Kimmel come up for court martial I'm in favor of holding a shooting match."

Then turning to newspaper men seated on the stand from which he addressed some 5,000 Army day celebrants, he said, "You can quote me on that, and if it gets back to Washington that will be all right too."

May asserted that the deposed commanders of American army and navy forces in Hawaii received repeated and ample warnings to take every precaution because war was imminent and that they had not heeded these warnings.

Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short and Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel were relieved of their commands Dec. 17, 10 days after the Japanese surprise attack on Pearl Harbor. They face court martial at a time not yet set but expected to be delayed until the end of the war.

DIES OF HEART ATTACK.

Herman Fragel, 44 years old, 3623 South 50th avenue, Cicero, a painter, who has complained of feeling ill since he gave a blood transfusion to a friend two weeks ago, collapsed of a heart attack in Union hall, 1446 West Adams street, yesterday and died en route to Berwyn hospital.

400 MECHANICS OF CHICAGO SEEK DUTY IN AEF UNIT

1,200 More Needed to Fill Service Battalion.

Formation of a battalion of 1,600 men, nearly all mechanics and most of them from the automobile industry, was going ahead rapidly in the Chicago area yesterday, it was announced by Lieut. Col. A. T. Baston, commanding officer of the unit.

Col. Baston was in the automobile business in Minneapolis until a week ago and for many years was assistant football coach at the University of Minnesota. He reported that 400 applications for service with the unit definitely scheduled for overseas duty have been received.

Men of the retail automobile industry are requested to make early application if they wish to join the unit, one of six battalions being formed in the United States. Headquarters of the others are at Atlanta, Ga., New York, N. Y., San Francisco, Cal., Denver, Colo., and Dallas, Tex. The combined units will be known as the 301st regiment, army ordnance corps.

45 Officers in Command.

Forty-five officers, most of whom have been selected, will be in command of the battalion. Approximately 75 per cent of the men under the officers will hold noncommission ratings which will be conferred on enlistment after they have proven their ability. The battalion will be called on to service all types of engines, including those of airplanes.

Plans for the regiment were worked out by army officials and officials of the National Automobile Dealers' association in an effort to provide jobs for jobless employés.

Registered Men Eligible.

Men who have registered under the selective service act are eligible if they apply for enlistment in the unit before their induction date has been set. The Chicago office of the unit is in the Civic Opera building. Col. Baston has jurisdiction over seven states—Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, Minnesota, and Illinois.

Col. Baston stressed the fact that the battalion is to be assigned immediately to overseas duty. Any one wanting to stay in the United States need not apply. Completion of the formation of the unit is expected before the end of the month. Officers of the unit will be announced within 10 days.

FIVE DAY CURE FOR GONORRHEA HELD SUCCESS

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—A five day cure for gonorrhea has been perfected and proved in wide tests, Surgeon General Thomas Parran of the United States Public Health service announced today.

Dr. Parran hailed the development as "a giant step forward in the total eradication of venereal diseases in this country." He estimated that several million cases are acquired in the United States each year.

He said that tests have shown sulfathiazole is capable of curing at least 80 per cent of all gonorrheal infections. He said slower cures can clear up the remaining 20 per cent.

He cautioned against self-diagnosis and self-treatment, warning that sulfathiazole is extremely dangerous unless taken under a doctor's orders and under close medical observation.

Abandon Plan to Cancel City Employes' Vacations

Mayor Kelly announced yesterday that the plan to cancel vacations and sick leaves of city employés had been dropped. A proposed ordinance to take away the vacations was introduced in the city council recently by Ald. James S. Bowler [25th] and was referred to the finance committee.

MEDITERRANEAN PARACHUTE WAR BY NAZIS SEEN

LONDON, April 7 [Tuesday]—(AP).—Morley Richards, military correspondent of the Daily Express, reported today that Lieut. Gen. Student, who commanded German parachute troops during their assault on the Netherlands, had joined German Field Marshal Albert Kesselring in the Mediterranean area. Richards observed that a new adventure for an air borne German army was indicated.

Marshal Kesselring commanded German air forces in the French campaign and in the bombing of England in 1940 and 1941. The correspondent said hundreds of German gliders and transport planes were concentrated on Mediterranean shores.

He said Gen. Student had visited Sicily, Greece, and Crete recently and might be organizing a two way air borne attack from Libya and Crete on the rear of the British army in Libya, an assault on Suez, or an air borne assault on Syria and the British fortress of Cyprus.

415 NAZI PLANES DESTROYED IN 8 DAYS, REDS CLAIM

Russians Say Own Losses Only 84 Aircraft.

KUIBYSHEV, Russia, April 6 (AP).—Russian airmen and ground batteries, scoring one of the biggest bags of the war, destroyed 415 German planes in blazing aerial war during the eight day period up to and including yesterday, a soviet communique announced tonight.

This great toll was rolled up, a Moscow communique said, at a cost of only 84 soviet planes. On Saturday and Sunday alone, it added, 221 Nazi craft were destroyed.

Erupting in full fury over the weekend, the biggest day's total was reported for Sunday, when 119 Nazi craft were listed as destroyed in the air and on the ground after Saturday's count reached 102.

In the last two days of fighting on the Leningrad front, 2,300 German officers and men were killed, the Russians said. A Russian guards unit in the Kalinin sector northwest of Moscow recaptured seven more inhabited localities from the Germans, taking much equipment.

[London heard the Moscow radio say that 60 German parachute troops attempted a landing behind soviet lines but before they reached the ground 57 of them had been killed by Red army machine gunners.]

"Worse Than Usual Weather."

Worse than usual weather of a sodden Russian spring, along with the Red army's unceasing pressure on the key German forward bases, was regarded tonight as seriously dampening German hopes for an early spring drive to the east.

Altho the Germans apparently have started feeling out the front for weak spots, Russian dispatches reported the Red army still pushing doggedly to the west in its offensive which has cost the Germans important forward positions and sapped the Nazi striking power.

These reports mentioned particularly the weakening of the German reserve strength on the bitterly contested southern front where Marshal Semeon Timoshenko's divisions have been said to have mauled troops the Nazis had expected to keep under wraps until time for their offensive.

[Dispatches reaching London reported the Red army shelling Bryansk, 200 miles southwest of Moscow, on one flank of the central front, and pushing forward on the other with cavalry raids northwest of Moscow.]

Finns Reclaim Island.

BERLIN, April 6 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The Finnish high command announced today the recapture of Tytarsaari, an island in the Gulf of Finland on April 2. It is south of the island of Suursaari [Hogland], occupation of which was announced on March 28.

Russian forces on two other islands, Lavansaari and Seiskaari, were bombed, a communique added. All these islands were ceded to Russia in the 1940 peace.

The German high command reported that local Russian attacks had failed and that the Reds were thrown out of 69 localities on the central sector and lost hundreds of men.

HURL 1,000 TONS OF BOMBS ON NAZI WAR INDUSTRIES

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—One of the mightiest British air fleets ever to cross the English channel—a force of more than 300 bombers—cast a thousand tons of explosives and countless fire bombs upon German war plants in an overnight raid extending from the French coast inland to the Parisian industrial suburbs and on eastward into Germany to the heart of the Rhineland.

In this great attack, a part of a plan to choke the flow of German arms eastward to the Russian front, only five British craft were lost, less than 2 per cent of the forces used.

Hard hit were the docks at Le Havre and the Gnome-Rhone works at Gennevilliers near Paris, in which French workmen are making airplane engine parts for use against Britain and Russia, but the greatest power of the raid was expended on Cologne, the metropolis of the industrial Rhineland and the hub of its railway transport.

PAPER IN LONDON CHEERS FIGHT ON CHURCHILL'S AID

Claims Political Truce Nets 'Ersatz M.P.'s.'

BY LARRY RUE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, April 6.—Altho Prime Minister Winston Churchill has written Sir James Grigg, minister of war and National candidate in the Cardiff, East, parliamentary by-election Thursday, endorsing his candidacy and expressing the hope that the public will realize "that to play party politics at such a time is to strike a blow at national safety," the Evening Standard tonight applauds signs that the political truce will no longer be applied to by-elections.

"Under the by-election truce, party machines or their local bodies assume immense powers," the Standard says. "The result is a steady procession of ersatz members of parliament thru the portals of Westminster."

No Fight for Seats.

Under the system agreed upon at the outbreak of the war, as members die or become peers each vacancy is filled by a nominee of the party which held the seat before.

That worked perfectly until the Grantham election recently, when an appeal by the prime minister in behalf of Chief Air Marshal Sir Arthur Longmore, the official candidate, failed to prevent his defeat by W. D. Kendall, an independent.

Asserting that "Britain has decided to fight this war with a free parliament and free press," the Standard warns "against the decline of the status and vigor of parliament."

Declares Peril Grows.

The peril has grown, it says, as a result of "absence of formal opposition, multiplication of the number of members of parliament whose allegiance was tied to the government of the day by title of office, and a readiness to lapse into secret debates."

"Because a general election is impossible is no reason why we should suffer a by-election truce," the Standard said.

Opposing Grigg is Fenner Brockway, Independent Labor party candidate. The Independent Labor party has three members in parliament and has constantly been demanding that workers the world over get together and make peace.

New Zealand Told Its Air Strength Is Increased

WELLINGTON, New Zealand, April 6 (AP).—New Zealand's air strength has been "substantially" increased with the most modern equipment from Great Britain and the United States, Prime Minister Peter Fraser told a Labor party conference today.

CRUSHED BY PRESS ROLLERS.

August Dispensa, 45 years old, 2744 Shields avenue, was crushed to death yesterday in the rollers of a cylindrical press in the Rapid Roller company plant, 2558 Federal street, where he was employed.

2,000 Employed

For 20 minutes yesterday men and women workers at the Hurley Machine company, 1945 South 54th avenue, Cicero, interrupted what has become 24 hours a day, seven days a week production job to accept a special ordnance flag from the Chicago ordnance district. The flag was given in recognition of the work of the 2,000 employés of the Hurley works in turning out shell parts and other munitions items.

"Every time you turn out a shell you can think maybe one of the 30 men who have gone from this factory to the fighting forces will have a chance to hurl it at the Japs," Lieut. Col. Whitney B. Hobbs, who presented the flag, told the workers.

John R. Hurley, executive vice president, introduced a committee of employés—Arthur Heiden, representing factory workers; Miss Jean Erickson, oldest employé; William J. McCaughan, oldest foreman, and A. R. Nickson of the production department—to accept the flag.

EMPLOYES MAKE AND GIVE TRENCH MORTAR TO ARMY

Employés of the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing company presented a howitzer carriage and a trench mortar to the army yesterday in observance of Army day. The workers made and paid for the gun carriage and gun and dedicated them "to Gen. Douglas MacArthur and his gallant Philippine army."

The weapons of war were painted red, white, and blue. On the howitzer carriage were stamped the names of workmen and such messages as "Greetings to Mac." "Give 'em hell, Mac," and "Tokio Special."

Frank Lomax, chairman of the employés' committee, made the presentation to C. A. Liddle, president of the company, who in turn presented the gifts to Lieut. Col. Barrett Rogers of the Chicago Ordnance district.

Charges U. S. Kept Petain and Laval from Agreeing

VICHY, France, April 6 (AP).—The Paris newspaper Nouveaux Temps said today that United States pressure had blocked a rapprochement of Chief of State Marshal Petain and Pierre Laval, former vice premier, and that the axis powers were "thru with France" because of her failure to collaborate. The writer, Jean Luchaire, warned that the axis would take large slices of the French empire unless Vichy sided with Germany.

CLAIMS U. S. SEES AN ILLUSION, NOT REAL CHURCHILL

British Critic Tells Faults of Prime Minister.

[What is behind the recent wave of criticism in Britain of Winston Churchill's government? Two members of parliament, representing opposing views, were asked to explain the arguments for and against Churchill's leadership. Here is the first of two articles.]

BY ANEURIN BEVAN.

[Labor M. P. for the Ebbw Vale division of Monmouthshire.]

LONDON, April 6 [Wide World].—I am told there is a legend in America. The legend is that the premiership of Winston Churchill and Britain's will to continue the war to final victory are so closely bound together that, if one goes the other goes with it.

Aneurin Bevan.

This is either an illusion of distance, a byproduct of wartime censorship or the result of the vividness of American reporting. Probably it is the result of all three.

I suspect the legend is supported by an older one which has even less to justify it. This is the story—even Churchill now believes it—that his was the solitary voice raised in British politics for a stand to be made against the menace of fascism.

Calls It a Fairy Story.

Like most legends, it is a fairy story with just enough fact to give it verisimilitude and a strong dash of self-interest to keep it growing.

There is no tendency in Britain to belittle Churchill's contribution during the critical days of 1940. He gave authentic and immortal expression to the dogged spirit of the British when they had their backs to the wall.

But let us be quite clear even about that. He did not create the spirit. He expressed it.

Churchill's oratory, which was the main source of his power, is now likely to weaken him. Rolling periods and heroic calls for what turns out to be unheroic action begin to pall and even look ridiculous, like a little man strutting about in a big man's clothes.

The chief criticism of Churchill falls under two heads: One is that as prime minister he is not trying to do his job, and second that as defense minister it would be better if he didn't try.

Take the first. For many months the country has been calling upon the prime minister to reconstruct his government on lines which disregard claims of party machines. He answered at first by saying he couldn't see anything wrong with his government or his policy and that he would not change either.

Press and People Grumble.

Other than himself and members of his government, nobody of any importance agreed with him. The press condemned him and parliament kept up a daily criticism. People grumbled.

Within a few weeks Churchill had to reconstruct his government. His incapacity to realize the seriousness of his position was soon shown by the steps he thought it necessary to take. He tried to persuade Sir Stafford Cripps to take a minor position and then a few days later was compelled by the force of public opinion to take him into the war cabinet [as lord privy seal] and make him leader of the house of commons.

For many months he has fumbled with the ministry of production, vacillating from refusal to have one at all, to the creation of a pretentious façade, which failed to conceal the fact that no real change had occurred in the allocation of functions of ministry.

In the main lines of his domestic policy, Churchill differs in not the slightest regard from the late Neville Chamberlain. He behaves like a stiff necked Tory with the result that workers' support of the government is dangerously undermined.

The best description of Churchill as defense minister is given by the military record to date. Much of it was inescapable by any man and there is no tendency to blame Churchill for all of it.

Predictions Prove False.

But he fails to inspire confidence in his assessment of the military situation because events quickly falsify his predictions, as in the last campaign in North Africa.

Also his frequent references to the possibility of invasion cause British people to believe he is paralyzed by a defense psychology against which he periodically reacts by an ill thought-out attack.

So it is not because the will to victory of the British people is weakening that Churchill is not so strong as he was. It is because they feel he is not fighting the war so robustly as he did. If he falls, America should bear this in mind and fear no weakness here.

The best thing I could say of Churchill is that he would prefer to have it that way.

Begins Naval Duty

GOV. HAROLD E. STASSEN.

Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota entered active duty as a lieutenant commander at the Great Lakes Naval Training station yesterday. He was sworn in a week ago in the naval reserve.

The governor—he still retains his office—will undergo 30 days of training after which he will be placed on the inactive list to enable him to put his political affairs in shape. Then he will be recalled to active duty. This may not be until after the legislative session in April, 1943.

Gov. Stassen, in uniform, was met in Waukegan by Comm. H. R. Harris, service schools officer, and escorted to the naval station where he reported to Capt. E. A. Lofquist, chief of staff. Stassen, youngest governor in the nation, will be 35 years old next Monday.

GERMAN BOMBERS OPEN BIG SCALE RAIDS ON MALTA

VALETTA, Malta, April 6 (AP).—German bombers started a large scale assault on Malta late today after a number of small raids earlier in the day. Some buildings were demolished and a number of streets are blocked by debris and craters, but public services are functioning normally. Five German planes were reported shot down on Sunday and 11 others probably destroyed.

Patrol Clashes in Libya.

CAIRO, Egypt, April 6 (AP).—British headquarters today told of patrol clashes in the Libyan desert and RAF attacks on axis airdromes and shipping. Bombs were dropped on the harbor at Bengazi and airdromes at Berka, Martuba, and Gialo.

Claim British Repulsed.

ROME, April 6 [from Italian broadcasts]—(AP).—Sharp patrol fighting in the Libyan desert was reported today by the Italian high command, which said axis forces had repulsed advance British units, supported by artillery, after an encounter southeast of El Mekili.

Evanston Council Votes Against New Bus Routes

The Evanston council last night voted its opposition to the proposal of the Evanston Bus company to operate service over four streets not now served by the company. The streets are Central Park avenue, Central street, McDaniel avenue, and Hartrey avenue. A hearing on the company's plea will be held Saturday before the Illinois Commerce commission.

JAPS BRING WAR TO INDIA; BOMB 2 PORTS FROM AIR

British Fleet Is Reported Seeking Carrier.

NEW DELHI, India, April 6 (AP).—Bombs fell among the people of India today when Japanese planes, attacking the Indian coast for the first time, raided two ports in Madras presidency.

A Japanese naval force is ranging the Bay of Bengal, a communique said. The force, which includes at least one aircraft carrier, already has attacked commerce both with ships and planes.

These first direct manifestations of war came to India as its people still were torn with hesitation on their political future.

The raiding force which attacked Vizagapatam, a city of more than 40,000 and site of a British naval base, and Cocanada, nearby provincial capital of 40,000, was officially described as small.

Ports Are Important.

Vizagapatam is one of the five most important ports of the Tinnevelly maritime district of northern Madras.

Slight damage to the Vizagapatam harbor area, which was attacked twice, was reported and only a few casualties occurred at Coeanada—possibly because the raiding force had been dealt with so severely when it attempted the surprise blow at Colombo, only to be ambushed by a waiting RAF, which asserted 27 of the 75 raiding planes were shot down and 30 damaged.

[A hint came from London naval quarters that the Japanese naval force included two aircraft carriers and that British warships already might be searching for the Japanese task force.]

War also was coming closer to India by land.

In Burma, Japanese patrols had pushed forward to Nyaungbinzeik, 15 miles north of Prome, on the Irrawaddy branch of the Japanese drive.

The Japanese were massing forces west of the Irrawaddy in a possible flanking move to threaten the British connections with the coast. The invader had the advantage of continued air superiority.

The Chinese who yielded Toungoo on the eastern end of the Burma line said the Japanese now were attacking lightly with about one battalion, since the foe had lost 3,700 dead in the 12 day battle for the town.

The enemy now has launched a small attack on the Mawchi-Toungoo highway with about one battalion of infantry, it said.

Mandalay Raid Kills 2,000.

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—The Daily Sketch's war correspondent in Burma wrote today that two-thirds of the center of Mandalay was destroyed by Japanese bombers Friday and that 2,000 to 3,000 persons were killed.

The correspondent, Alfred Wagg, added that 5,000 others were injured by the 35 bombers which swooped upon the city.

Assert Aerial Supremacy.

TOKIO, April 6 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—A Domei dispatch from the Burma front said today that "complete Japanese aerial supremacy over Burma was demonstrated yesterday when not a single enemy plane challenged Japanese planes which swept over a certain enemy air base to destroy one bomber and three fighters on the ground."

"Destruction of 103 enemy planes in a series of Japanese air raids in the period between March 21 and 31 is believed to have shattered the fighting spirit of the enemy air remnants," the dispatch added.

Imperial headquarters said heavy damage had been inflicted by Japanese naval air forces in the opening assault on Colombo yesterday.

Claim Landing in Burma.

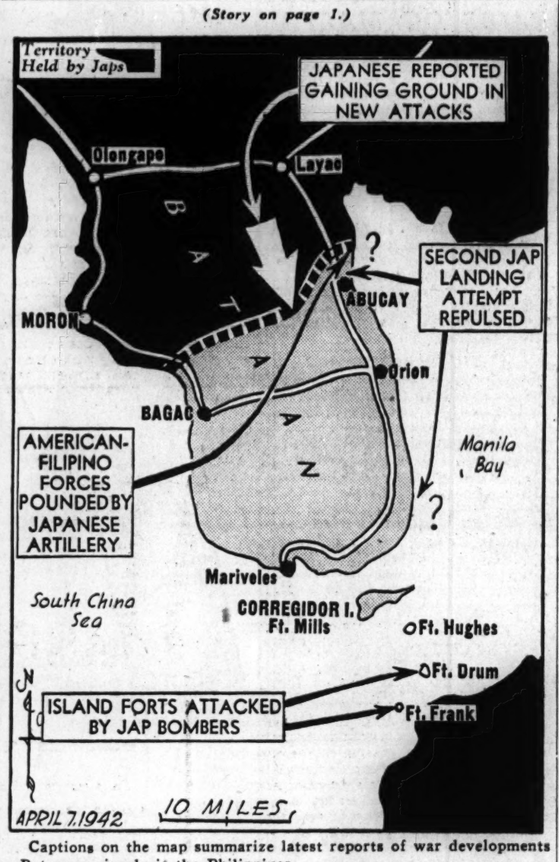

BERLIN, April 6 [from German broadcasts]—(AP).—The German radio said today it was officially announced in Tokio that Japanese troops had made a surprise landing at Akyab, west Burma port within 100 miles of the Indian frontier.

[A Chinese army spokesman announced in Chungking last week that the Japanese had landed at Akyab, but the British denied this and the Chungking spokesman said later his statement had been incorrect. Thus far Tokio has not reported directly any Akyab landing.]

The German broadcast said the Japanese started a thrust from Akyab toward the British rear.

SHRIEK OF BOMBS IS EASTER MUSIC AS YANKS KNEEL

Services Held Amid Din of War.

BY DEAN SCHEDLER.

WITH THE UNITED STATES FORCES IN THE PHILIPPINES, April 5 [Delayed]—(AP).—Easter Sunday in the Philippines found Filipinos and Americans alike kneeling side by side in prayer amid the roar of bombers and the scream of artillery shells.

Therein, one of the paramount purposes for which the united nations are fighting—freedom of religion—was personified in army observance of the occasion.

Thruout the day's pounding of the enemy, army chaplains of Catholic or Protestant faith conducted brief services, trying to reach as many men as possible. Under the trees the men huddled, always ready to duck into a fox hole at the whine of an approaching shell, the chatter of machine gun fire, or the roar of a bomber.

Artillery Pounds Positions.

For several days the enemy has been making hard, sharp thrusts at our lines, with heavy artillery pounding our positions into the night as he endeavors to advance during the moonlight. In the heavens his bombers have been active, harassed from the ground fire thrown up by our accurate gunners.

Last evening—Easter eve—the fighting was particularly heavy. Bombers hovered over the outer edge of Corregidor, ever careful of the anti-aircraft fire that has brought so many of them down. Late in the evening another of them felt the sting of our gunnery and crashed into the China sea.

No Letup on Easter.

A lightening of aerial activity was noticed thereafter, leading some to believe there might be a temporary peace and quiet Sunday.

But there was no letup. Not only our front lines but the rear areas on Bataan peninsula were strafed thruout the day. And high over Corregidor, mighty symbol of power, enemy observation planes droned back and forth.

Filipinos who rose to defend their country, however, joined with Americans to observe the day. In other places war lords and generals of the axis powers may have forced soldiers not only to fight but to worship according to predesigned dictates. Here, men worshiped according to their conscience.

FIRST CANADIAN ARMY FORMED IN GREAT BRITAIN

OTTAWA, Ont., April 6 [Special].—The formation of the Canadian forces overseas into the 1st Canadian army under Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton has been put into motion by the announcement today that headquarters has been established in England.

The Canadian army will consist of two army corps, and command of the first corps has been given to Lieut. Gen. H. D. G. Crerar. Each corps will have three infantry divisions, two army tank brigades, and two armored divisions.

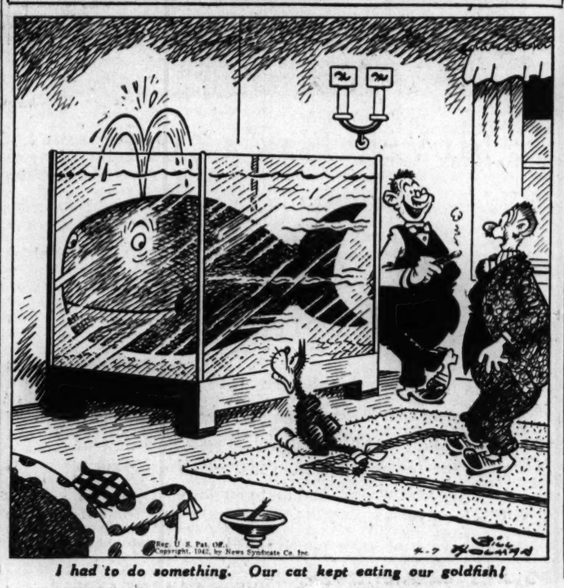

The aim in forming the Canadian troops into what Prime Minister W. L. Mackenzie King described as a "complete self-contained army" is to make possible its operations in any theater of war.

JAP PLANES AND SHIPS WRECKED IN NEW BRITAIN RAID

Aussies and Yanks Strike Heavy Blow.

BULLETIN.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 7 [Tuesday]—(AP)—Several Japanese bombers were damaged yesterday in attacking Port Moresby, New Guinea, and two Australian fighter planes were lost, a communique said today. One of the allied pilots was saved. The raid was decclared a failure.

U. S. ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 6 (AP).—Raids described as "among the heaviest yet made by the allies" were carried out today by flying Americans and Aussies striking at Rabaul and Gasmata in New Britain, where Japan was said to be reinforcing her air forces.

The Sydney Herald said direct hits were scored on large Japanese ships in Rabaul harbor, on the northeast New Britain coast, where the Japanese secured their first foothold. Both at Rabaul and at Gasmata, on the south coast of New Britain, aircraft were said to have been damaged.

Japan was reported strengthening her air forces in that area to bolster her faltering Australian offensive.

Warns of Overconfidence.

Official reports were awaited to tell whether the raid had been as successful as that of March 21 when the Japanese suffered 23 ships sunk, burned, beached, and damaged and the equivalent of two squadrons of planes knocked out.

The raid was in line with Army Minister Francis M. Forde's advice today to the defenders not to grow overconfident because of recent successes. This warning was emphasized by reports that the Japanese had taken up positions in four places in Bougainville and nearby islands at the northern end of the Solomon Islands. These places were given as Kieta, Kessa, Buka, and Faisi.

"Long Way to Go."

Forde spoke encouragingly after a visit to one of the American troop camps. But he warned:

"I am encouraging nobody to believe the tide has turned. The tide always returns. We must be vigilant and ready. There is a long way to go yet. The tide in which I am most interested is the floodtide whereon the full strength of the allies, with Australia among them, will flow toward Japan for the final battle."

Altho Australia's position was distinctly easier than two months ago, he said the country "must expect and prepare for attack."

Port Moresby Raided.

He ordered emergency regulations extended to Thursday Island and all the islands in Torres strait, within 100 miles of the mainland. Military authorities thus were enabled to act promptly in event the Japanese strike from the northeast.

Hostile action was limited to a Japanese raid, the 23d, on Port Moresby, Papua. Of seven Japanese bombers with fighter escort which attacked, the defenders reported they shot down one "zero" fighter, and damaged a second one and a bomber. Only one casualty and slight damage to a gasoline dump were reported.

2 DUTCH ARMIES IN JAVA BATTLE ON AGAINST JAPS

Guerrilla Forces May Include Yanks.

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 6.—Two armies of desperate men are hiding by day in the mountains and swooping down on the Japanese at night, still fighting on in Java, it was revealed here today.

Dr. Hubertus J. Van Mook, former lieutenant governor of the Netherlands East Indies and now acting as head of that government here, told Gen. Douglas MacArthur, supreme commander of the united nations forces in the western Pacific, how undetermined numbers of his countrymen, supported by scattered remnants of other allied forces which may include some Americans, refused to lay down their arms to the Japanese army of occupation.

Plan for Offensive.

Van Mook and MacArthur met to discuss the part the Dutch forces are to play in the defense of Australia and the eventual offens've to regain the fabulously wealthy East Indies.

A number of Dutch pilots, seamen, and soldiers who escaped from the islands have been seen here wearing Australian uniforms. These were issued to replace the light summer clothing in which many of the Dutch escaped. Dutch insignia are worn on the uniforms.

The guerrilla forces are headed by Maj. Gen. Willem Schilling and Maj. Gen. Hendrik Pressmen. Schilling is known as the "MacArthur of the Indies" and is said to have a formidable force in the mountains at the west end of Java, whence he operates against Bandoeng, Batavia, and Serang.

Two Forces Merged.

Pressmen is reported to have merged his forces with those of Maj. Gen. P. A. Cox for operations against Tjilatjap, port on the south shore of Java from which the last refugees made their getaway from the islands in the last days of the campaign. They are constantly raiding parties of Japanese who are combing the countryside seizing stores of rice and food for the troops.

Altho the guerrillas lack an air force, the story is told here of the Dutch pilot who arrived in Darwin, Australia, with a bomber which he said he found abandoned at Banjoewangi, at the eastern end of the island of Java. He was given gasoline and bombs and, having enrolled a crew of Dutch refugees, took off on the thousand mile return trip to Java. He has not been seen since.

Plan to Intern Dutch.

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—The German controled Netherlands radio broadcast today that the Japanese had declared the 30,000 Netherlanders in overrun Sumatra "enemy aliens" and ordered their internment in concentration camps.

AEF IN AUSTRALIA FACES PROBLEMS AS WINTER NEARS

Some of Troops Still Living in Open Shelters.

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 6 (AP).—Winter is in the offing in the southern part of this land below the equator, providing problems for those charged with keeping the American expeditionary force contented and comfortable.

Some of the troops still are living in open shelters, receiving their food from outdoor kitchens, eating in mess halls that are only partly enclosed, and bathing in water that is far from warm, Maj. Lynn Cowan, assistant morale officer, disclosed today in a formal report to Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

Act to Remedy Situation.

Cowan declared that steps to remedy this situation were being taken immediately.

"The boys realize that this is war and that they can't expect the comforts of home," Cowan said, "but they should have better conditions. Some are pretty miserable, but their spirit and discipline are swell."

Cowan's superior, Col. Alexander L. P. Johnson, also emphasized the high morale of the American troops in a report to MacArthur in which he outlined plans for an organized program of entertainment and recreation to keep the men occupied when off duty.

Sports a Principal Item.

The principal items on Johnson's program include organized sports, friendly athletic competition between Australians and Americans, nightly entertainments, and a free weekly newspaper similar to The Stars and Stripes published by the AEF in the last war.

Johnson, one time judge advocate in the Philippines under Gen. Leonard Wood, said the newspaper, The Kookaburra," named after Australia's distinctive laughing jackass bird, will be published in collaboration with the Australian army weekly Salt.

The families of C. B. Hubbard and Raymond Thompson were driven from a two story building at 1135 Massasoit avenue yesterday by fire which caused $1,000 damage.

QUEZON REGAINS SWAGGER AFTER BATAAN ORDEAL

Chuckles at Jap Report of His 'Murder.'

BY CLARK LEE.

MELBOURNE, Australia, April 6 (AP).—Manuel Quezon, the small, dynamic leader of the Philippine people, is working hard with military authorities somewhere in Australia on preparations for eventual reconquest of his island commonwealth.

Manuel Quezon.

Looking 20 years younger than when I last saw him in the Philippines, altho he is suffering from a bad cold, he is obviously healthier than when he was under constant bombings and shelling.

Regains His Swagger.

With his improvement in health, his confidence has been restored and he has regained his swagger and gusto. The president's wife, two daughters and son who made the arduous journey to Australia are also in good health.

Quezon so far has granted no interviews, but from sources close to the president it has been learned that he is still chuckling over the Tokio radio claims that "Gen. MacArthur had him murdered."

Details of Quezon's trip to Australia still cannot be published beyond saying that he had the opportunity of conferring personally with many of his people and assuring himself of their firm loyalty to the commonwealth and United States governments.

Hope for U. S. Victory.

Thruout the occupied areas in the Philippines the people are reported unanimous in their hatred of the Japanese and enduring their ordeal in the hope that the United States will come to the rescue before long.

On the island of Masbate the Japanese were reported to have captured a number of American mining engineers who tried to dynamite their property to prevent it from falling into the invaders' hands. They were removed from the island by boat and have been unreported since.

Gen. MacArthur's possessions at the Manila hotel, however, have been respected. The Filipino manager refused to give up the key to MacArthur's suite when Gen. Masaharu Homma asked for it. The Japanese commander, who was later reported to have killed himself as a result of MacArthur's continued resistance on Bataan, did not insist.

DEFENSE BONDS WILL GRADUATE TO WAR BONDS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The treasury officially announced today that hereafter "defense" savings bonds and stamps will be known as "war" savings bonds and stamps, in keeping with America's active participation in the war.

Present supplies of printed "defense" bonds and stamps will be sold, however, before the war financing obligations under the new name appear in public. So these securities will continue to bear the old name until the switch can be made. It will require between six and eight weeks to change the engraved plates from which the bonds and stamps are printed, officials said.

The only difference between the new and old forms will be in name. The reason for the change, which had been urged for some time, is the general public opinion that the word "defense" doesn't fit into the picture when the country is engaged in war, officials explained.

Seeks Aid for China

Cecilia Dare displays empty aerial bomb shell at headquarters of the United China Relief.

Unless the allied nations win the war quickly a seven years' war will result, and that for the United States will mean a national debt exceeding the national wealth, Paul G. Hoffman, national chairman of United China Relief, told the Chicago committee of that organization last night in opening a drive to raise $700,000 in the Chicago area within 60 days.

"Without China's help we can't win the war quickly," Hoffman continued, "and you members of this committee as business men must realize that a seven years' war will extend and intensify the control over business to the extent that free enterprise will no longer exist in America." Hoffman spoke at a dinner in the Chicago club. Dr. Chang Lok-Chan, Chinese consul in Chicago, also addressed the more than 140 Chicago committee members, headed by Silas H. Strawn.

Miss Cecilia Dare and several other pretty Chinese girls at the headquarters for the drive, 310 South Michigan avenue, displayed empty aerial bomb shells which will be used in appealing for contributions from the public.

CAN A WOMAN KEEP SECRET? U. S. THINKS SO

Confidence that women can keep secrets in an emergency has been indicated by the United States secret service with appointment here of two women stenographers for the first time in 77 years of masculine tradition, Capt. Thomas J. Callaghan, head of the Chicago office, disclosed yesterday.

The women, selected from the top of the civil service list, have taken the place of two men called into the armed forces. They are Miss Aileene C. Coldby, 943 Ainslie street, and Miss Mary Cooney, 7741 Normal boulevard.

"I have to be loyal to the masculine tradition of the service, but I must admit that the two women workers we have now are equally as good as the men before them and that they have an unusual feminine ability for keeping mum," Capt. Callaghan stated.

EVANSTON BISHOP LEADS 21 HOME FROM WAR AREAS

New York, April 6 (AP).—Twenty-two Methodist missionaries, evacuated from Malaya to Java and then on to Melbourne, have arrived in San Francisco, the board of missions and church extension announced today.

The group was headed by Bishop F. Lee, Evanston, Ill., who had been in charge of Methodist work in Singapore, the Malay peninsula, Sumatra, and the Philippines. No others were from the Chicago area.

GAS VICTIM IS REVIVED.

OTHERS TO WORK TRUCK FARMS OF EVACUATED JAPS

Avert Local Shortage in Vegetables.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., April 6.—Despite the forced evacuation of Japanese from the west coast areas, less than 10 per cent of the truck farm acreage on which they have raised two-thirds of the vegetables grown in Los Angeles county will be idle or used for other purposes this year.

This estimate was given today by the agricultural coördinator, an agency set up as part of the county defense council by a group of volunteer business men and farmers desirous of keeping at a minimum the dislocation of food supply resulting from the evacuation.

Many New Farmers.

American, Chinese, and Mexican farmers are taking over much of the land vacated by Japanese, W. S. Rosecranz, head of the office, said. There will be many new farmers also, altho the office is attempting to discourage persons without experience and equipment from embarking on commercial gardening ventures.

Rosecranz believes enough vegetables will be grown to supply the Los Angeles metropolitan area, but expects exports will be cut. In recent years the county has exported about one-third of the vegetable crop. There are about 35,000 acres in the county devoted to truck farming, some of this land producing two crops a year.

The office of agricultural coördinator is assisting Japanese landowners to transfer their property and is supplying information to persons desiring to acquire vacated lands. It acts as a clearing house to bring together Japanese land and leaseholders and persons qualified to enter or enlarge their activities in vegetable raising. The office has 19 experienced men in the field collecting information and negotiating deals.

Insist on Fair Prices.

Federal, state, and county agricultural agencies are insisting that fair prices be offered the Japanese for their property, and the Japanese are likewise being encouraged to accelerate the process by not asking exorbitant prices.

Persons without truck farming experience in this locality are being told by the agricultural coördinator that amateurs have little chance of making a commercial success in the business. They are warned that all the land must be irrigated, a highly technical operation, and that intricate problems of pest control and fertilization call for competent handling by experienced men.

Statistics gathered by the agricultural coördinator show that Japanese farmers have had almost a complete monopoly here on the commercial production of celery, radishes, turnips, broccoli, beets, peas, and peppers. They also grow most of the carrots and cabbage and a large proportion of tomatoes and squash.

Chinese Plant Mines and Wreck Two Jap Trains

CHUNGKING, April 7 [Tuesday] (AP).—Two Japanese supply trains were wrecked near Hankow in the past two weeks by land mines planted by Chinese guerrillas along the Peiping-Hankow railway, a communique said today. Casualties were heavy.

U.S. SEIZES HUGE COPPER SUPPLY IN PERU FACTORY

Acts After Refusal of Owner to Sell.

United States Marshal William H. McDonnell yesterday seized 51,090 pounds of copper sheeting in the plant of the National Sheet Metal company in Peru, La Salle county, for the government owned Metals Reserve corporation. Government agents also seized 27,000 pounds of copper in the company's Allentown, Pa., plant.

According to the requisition and inventory branch of the War Production board, the metal, estimated to be worth $27,000, was taken from National Sheet Metal because the owner, J. M. Katz of New York, refused to sell at the price offered by the government.

The WPB agency said the copper seized represented the amount which Katz, a manufacturer of bathroom supplies, would not need to fill priority orders.

ALUMINUM IS SEIZED.

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—The War Production board announced today that requisition papers had been served on J. Clem Kline & Son of Easton, Pa., for the seizure of 1,000 pounds of high grade commercial aluminum ingot which the firm had refused to sell to the government at prices fixed by WPB.

The requisitioning act was the first in the government's recently started round-up of idle aluminum stocks, but WPB said "other cases of refusal to sell are being studied" and that it is expected the requisitioning authority "would be invoked in a number of them."

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, premier of the Polish government-in-exile, returned to Britain today from the United States. He flew in a British bomber.

WPB PUTS CRIMP ON HEATING PADS AND CIGARET FOIL

New Orders Also Curb Idle Inventories.

Washington, D. C., April 6 [Special].—A series of new orders by the War Production board and the Office of Price Administration today imposed added restrictions on manufacture for civilian consumption. Steps taken were:

1. The WPB prohibited the use of lead foil on cigaret packages after May 1 regardless of stocks on hand.

2. Manufacture of electric heating pads for home use was limited by the WPB to one-half the 1940 total and for hospital use to not exceeding the 1940 total.

Idle Inventories Hit.

3. The WPB struck at hoarding of idle inventories by prescribing that stocks of builders' supplies and 18 other types of supplies may not exceed twice the sales value of shipments in the second preceding calendar month. This order applies in the eastern and central time zones and elsewhere dealers are permitted inventories three times the value of such shipments.

4. Restrictions were placed by WPB on the use of enamel coating for the tops of glass containers, forbidding its use entirely in some cases and limiting it to nine-tenths of the 1940 standard in others.

5. The OPA ruled that farm tractors equipped with rubber tired wheels are not eligible for tire replacements if they were originally fitted with steel wheels and if these wheels are still available.

Lead Foil Regulation.

Altho manufacture of lead foil for cigaret packages was halted several weeks ago, the WPB explained its ban on the use of such foil after May 1 as necessary so all manufacturers would cease the use of foil simultaneously. Some producers had built up large supplies, it was said.

The WPB also placed on the prohibited list the use of lead in costume jewelry, novelties, buttons, and trophies.

The limitation placed on manufacture of electric heating pads means that the output of approximately 30 manufacturers will be cut to approximately 675,000 home type pads and 150,000 hospital type pads in 1942.

Cord Lengths Limited.

The order prohibited the use of chromium in heating pads and curtailed the use of rubber, nickel, and electrical resisting materials. Length of cords on home pads was limited to 5 feet.

The WPB limitations on supply inventories was said to be effective immediately and to supersede a previous inventory restriction which said dealers could not maintain more than a "practical working minimum" of such goods.

The order was directed against stocks of builders' supplies and 18 other types of supplies which may be held by wholesalers, jobbers, retailers, and branch warehouses.

Small Inventories Exempt.

Included were stocks of supplies of the following types: Aviation, construction, dairy, electrical, farm, foundry, grain elevator, hardware, health, industrial, plumbing, and heating, railroad, refrigeration, restaurant, textile mill, transmission, and welding and cutting.

The WPB exempted from the order supplies whose total inventory at cost is less than $20,000, and less than $10,000 for any one of the listed types.

The WPB said its limitation order on enamel coating for the tops of glass containers is expected to save 1,500,000 pounds of tung oil, resins, and other solvents.

The order directs that the weight of the enamel coating on all closures for glass containers be not more than nine-tenths as heavy as the standard weight in 1940 and forbids entirely the use of enamel coating on the outside surfaces of tinplate or turnplate tops. Exceptions of this provision are made if the enamel is needed to protect lithograph printing where other means of designation are impracticable, or where the closures are heat sterilized for use with food products.

The OPA restriction on replacement of tractor tires was contained in a letter to state rationing administrators. New tires are to be refused if steel wheels are available locally and can be put back into service, it was said.

The order applies only to tractors which were originally fitted with steel wheels.

In another action today, the WPB notified packers that they might obtain quota exempt sugar in quantities sufficient for the first canning, preserving, or quick freezing of fruits and vegetables.

Under interpretation of the sugar quota plan, this exemption does not apply to sugar designed for secondary processing such as the removal of fruit from cans for reuse in jams, marmalades or combination packs.

The WPB also announced it will impose no restriction on the collection of waste paper inventories by manufacturers of paper, pasteboard and paper products. The board desires to encourage mills to stock up now with waste paper, it was said, while government sponsored agencies are gathering supplies in increasing quantities and while transportation is still available.

10,000 Acre Blaze Razes 20 Homes in Virginia

Richmond, Va., April 6 (AP).—Forest and field fires destroyed about 20 rural homes and blackened thousands of acres in Virginia today. The fires remained out of control at a number of points late tonight. State Forester Fred C. Pederson said that at a conservative estimate the blazes thruout the state had covered 10,000 acres.

U. S. TRANSPORT SAILS FROM PERU CARRYING 325 AXIS NATIONALS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LIMA, Peru, April 6.—The 9,728 ton United States transport Etolin, which arrived here Thursday, sailed yesterday with approximately 325 male axis subjects for repatriation via San Francisco, Cal.

It was reported that there were only 11 Italians aboard, with approximately 100 Japanese and 117 German sailors from German ships sabotaged in Peruvian ports a year ago, and about 100 German civilians.

The Etolin carries a huge American flag, has the word "diplomat" painted on her sides, and will navigate with all lights.

The steamer Acadia, of 6,185 tons, is scheduled to sail from Callao for New Orleans, La., April 14 with axis diplomats and families, totaling 50 persons, and will pick up additional diplomatic personnel from Bolivia, Ecuador and Colombia. It is reported that a third steamer is to be made available later for German families desiring repatriation.

TRANSFER FIRST RCAF YANK TO AMERICAN ARMY

LONDON, April 6 (AP).—Group Captain Harold Fowler, director of United States personnel in the royal Canadian air force, was transferred to the United States army today, the first officer of the RCAF to do so. He was sworn in with the rank of colonel at a ceremony in the United States embassy.

A former deputy police commissioner in New York City whose home is Far Hills, N. J., he has been in Britain since last autumn. He was born in Liverpool and as a sportsman he twice rode his own horses in the Grand National, steeplechase classic.

He served in the Royal Flying corps in the first World war and later transferred to the United States army air service. Today he was sworn in by Col. I. B. Summers, adjutant general.

FACTS about FIRST AID for BURNS

Do not confuse home treatment of minor burns, with hospital treatment of serious burns

Burns are classified according to the "degree" or depth to which the body tissues are injured—

First Degree—Skin reddened.
Second Degree—Skin blistered.
Third Degree—Damage or destruction of tissue (charring).

For First and Second Degree Burns

In the field of home treatment we stress the importance of familiarity, simplicity, convenience and stability in the treatment used. Apply soothing, pain-relieving, antiseptic UNGUENTINE.

For Third Degree Burns

Severe and extensive burns require special medical and hospital treatment. Call your doctor and follow his instructions.

Unguentine does 3 things needful

1. Unguentine relieves pain—It has local anesthetic effect.
2. Unguentine fights infection—It is antiseptic and germicidal.
3. Unguentine helps promote healing—It remains in prolonged contact.

Remember, UNGUENTINE is positively antiseptic, germicidal and pain-relieving

LONDON HEARS U. S. BACKS UP PLEDGE TO INDIA

Suggest Guarantee to Get Aid in War.

reasons Indians insist on full Indian control of defense.

An Indian defense minister could raise a huge militia that would fight for every yard of earth with the same fierceness the Russian peasants have shown, Nehru declared. First, however, they must know that the reward is their own independence, he said.

Technical matters, in operation, would be left in the hands of experienced British field officers, he said.

He asserted the people could not be expected to put the same spirit into their fight if they were merely part of a foreign army.

Danger in Jap Propaganda.

Nehru cited the danger in Japanese propaganda reiterated daily from Japan, that "an army of liberation is coming."

He said the Japanese apparently had scraped together a few thousand Indians from among residents abroad, war prisoners, perhaps some deserters, and with that would try to convince the Indian populace that this was an Indian army coming "to free them."

"The danger is not in its military strength," Nehru said. "It is that unless the Indians have independence and the power to defend themselves, they may really believe it is an army of liberation. If independent, they will say, 'we are free and do not need an army of liberation.'"

Would Die to a Man.

The first aim of an Indian defense minister, Nehru thinks, should be to create a huge militia. The men could be trained only sketchily, but he asserted, once they realized this was a really Indian army fighting for Indian independence, they would die to a man rather than give up.

Indian troops are among the best of the British imperial troops. They have distinguished themselves in this war, as in the past. Unless serving with the British army, however, Indians are not permitted to possess even sporting guns.

Nehru thinks a huge militia even with brief and rudimentary training could be a formidable obstacle.

"Without such a militia, there is danger," Nehru said. "If an invasion came and things went badly, the population might swing over. Look at Burma and Malaya, where large sections of the populace proved hostile. If we are allowed to defend our own country, nothing like that could happen."

Control in Indian Hands.

Nehru agreed that it would be impractical to put Indians in charge of operations. He emphasized that the important point is giving Indians actual control of military matters, as much as making it clear they had full independence in their own government, in "defense along with everything else."

"This is our country. If things go badly other people can talk of withdrawing and fighting elsewhere. We cannot do that and will not. We must fight here and win or die here. But we must be able to convince the ordinary people of India that they are fighting for their own country, not that they are fighting to keep it for the British. Otherwise, they will not fight."

Nehru, who is Cambridge educated, is a pleasant, suave, gray haired man with a mild manner, but intense sincerity in his pleas for independence makes him vehement at moments. He gave no sign of anti-British feeling, and never dropped his calm, reasonable tone.

"You see how the Russian peasants can fight to keep their freedom. Our people can do the same, but must know there is a reason to do it," he told me.

JAPAN'S PREMIER THREATENS INDIA WITH 'CALAMITY'

TOKIO, April 6 [from Japanese broadcasts]—(AP).—Premier Gen. Hideki Tojo told India's millions today that "great calamities" would be unavoidable "in the course of our subjugation of British forces" in India.

[The hint that Japan's course is set for an attack on India was made at several points in Tojo's statement, an exhortation to India to reject Britain's offer of postwar independence.]

Tojo recalled Japan's progress thru Malaya, Burma, and the Andaman Islands in the Bay of Bengal and said:

"The grim determination of our empire to crush the United States and Britain is thus being steadily translated into action. If India should remain, as before, under the military control of Britain, it would, I am afraid, be unavoidable in the course of our subjugation of British forces there that India suffer great calamities."

Illinois Court Foes

Justice Paul Farthing (left) of the state Supreme court and State Senator Charles H. Thompson.

West Frankfort, Ill., April 6 [Special].—Sen. Charles H. Thompson, Harrisburg Republican who never has lost a political race, and Justice Paul Farthing, Belleville Democrat who has served nine years on the Illinois Supreme court despite his blindness, were paired today as opponents in the judicial election of June 1.

Sen. Thompson was unopposed as the Republican nominee for the judgeship of the 1st judicial district in his party's nominating convention at Marion, and Justice Farthing likewise was accorded the unanimous vote of the district's Democratic convention at West Frankfort.

Republican delegates from 16 counties will meet at Decatur tomorrow and Democratic delegates will meet at the same time at Springfield to nominate judicial candidates for the election from the 3d district. The Republicans are expected to renominate Justice Walter T. Gunn of Danville and strong efforts are being made by Sangamon county Democrats to nominate Circuit Judge L. E. Stone of Springfield.

PARLEY TO STUDY FEDERAL WASTE OF WASTE PAPER

Burning of Salvage Material Charged.

BY HAL FOUST.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The government's waste of waste paper will be discussed at a conference tomorrow between the Public Buildings administration and the District of Columbia salvage committee. This committee handles locally an activity sponsored nationally by the War Production board to salvage critical armament materials, including paper, from scrap.

Government offices, prodigal users of paper [red tape literally is white paper], are charged with responding indifferently to an appeal to the public from the WPB not to burn waste paper that can be salvaged.

Trash Bins Piled High.

Ferdinand Kaufholzn, chief of services for the PBA, said inadequate janitor staffs in the vastly expanded federal offices were responsible for burning 30 per cent of the offices' usable waste paper.

In a preliminary investigation it was found that trash bins of the navy building were piled high with cardboard cartons and paper headed for incinerators. In the munitions building was a similar accumulation of material which the civilian population has been asked, in the name of patriotism, to conserve.

At the district's incinerators it was reported 50 tons of material a day from government offices are burned.

Collector Price Fixed.

The price that collectors can charge in selling to paper mills has been fixed by the Office of Price Administration at $15 a ton for mixed grades. The buyer also pays for freight to his mill. There have been complaints against this system.

In Chicago if the mill cannot obtain all it wants locally at $15 a ton the operator pays more—not to get more of the waste available in Chicago but to get more from distant places.

Under the OPA regulation the operator may pay $15 a ton plus $15 a ton freight [from California], but he can't pay $16 a ton to a Chicago collector.

NEGRO WAR JOB PLAN GIVEN WPB BY DICKERSON

Ald. Earl B. Dickerson [2d], a member of the President's Committee on Fair Employment Practice, returned from Washington yesterday where he conferred with Donald Nelson, War Production board chairman, on racial discrimination in war industry.

Dickerson said he offered Nelson a four point program to aid Negroes to procure defense employment. The program was:

1. That Nelson announce the WPB will take immediate steps to urge Negro labor be used thruout the nation in war production.
2. That the WPB train 50,000 Negro workers for war jobs and then allocate them thruout the country where labor shortages exist.
3. That a national conference on Negroes in war work be called within 30 days.
4. That Nelson recommend to President Roosevelt that Negroes be represented on the WPB.

Dickerson said Nelson told him the recommendations would be presented to the WPB at its next meeting.

BROOKS URGES WAR ROLES FOR OLDER CITIZENS

Seeks Places in Industry and Armed Forces.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.] urged in the senate today that higher age limits be established in the armed services and in industry to make room in the war effort for veterans of World War I. and other older citizens, He declared.

"The system of employment now pursued is bringing much concern to a very large percentage of our population, for it is depriving them of an opportunity to join in the war program. Not thousands, but millions of our people are kept in unemployment because of age limits, and hundreds of thousands are discriminated against because of race or color."

Fights Discrimination.

Brooks announced his support of an amendment by Sen. James M. Mead [D., N. Y.] to the pending 19 billion dollar war appropriation bill, which makes it a crime, punishable by a fine of $1,000 and six months in jail, for war contractors to discriminate against employés or applicants for employment because of race, color or creed.

Brooks reminded his colleagues that the measure of war production is labor and energy—man hours and kilowatt hours—rather than appropriations. He asserted that the war effort will tax to the extreme every ounce of man power available for the military and industrial services.

Points to 5 Million Men.

"We are practically eliminating the great army of men who gave their energies in the first great World war," Brooks said. "I speak now of the approximately 5 million men who were called into the service in 1917 and 1918. These men now are beyond the age of 45. They are subject to registration but are not acceptable for enlistment except in a few instances.

"The army established a low age limit in many classifications not exceeding 35 for both officers and men. The navy maximum is 50 for lieutenant commanders, and 44 for lieutenants. The merchant marine has done a little better with a maximum of 54 years.

"The United States civil service commission raised some of its age limits to 57.

Holds Plant Rules Stiff.

"In industry the limitations have been so great even for such simple positions as guards, that both older men and women have been deprived of an opportunity to obtain employment."

He related that the war department recently asked World War I. officers to submit questionnaires for commissions or administrative employment. He continued:

"An unusually large number of applicants responded, but, as yet, little has been done toward the commissioning or the appointment of these older men.

"These men could easily relieve younger men at desk positions, releasing the younger men for the more active service.

"When it is considered that persons must reach 65 before being eligible for old age assistance in many states, it will be understood how serious this situation is in regard to our old people, especially with the cost of living rising, while they are denied employment."

Test Inspection to Find Scrap Iron Begins Today

A two week test inspection of 250 near south side buildings will begin today, to open a campaign to find an estimated 200,000 tons of "hidden" waste and scrap material in Chicago basements and attics. The survey, ordered by Nathaniel Leverone, state salvage director for the War Production board, and William L. McFetridge, salvage director for the Chicago area, will be conducted by a six man crew, armed with letters of identification. They will talk with block captains and others and make daily reports on the amount and location of potential salvage material.

DEMOCRATS PICK 32 INCUMBENTS FOR RE-ELECTION

19 on County Slate, 11 Are City Judges.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Familiar names stand out on the Democratic County and Municipal court tickets, on which 32 incumbents are slated for renomination. Nineteen of them are on the county slate, 11 others are city judges, and the remaining two are officers of that court—Bailiff Albert J. Horan and Clerk Joseph L. Gill.

County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki is the dean of the ticket with 20 years' continuous service on that important bench behind him, as well as six years on the Municipal bench from 1914 to 1920. If he wins and serves another term he will have spent 30 years as a judge.

The judge is assured of renomination since no candidate filed against him. Four years ago the Nash-Kelly machine tried to beat him with Judge John Prystalski of the Circuit court, but got its fingers burned and left Jarecki alone this year.

Flynn Seeks Third Term.

County Clerk Michael J. Flynn, committeeman of the 13th ward, is running for a third term, having been elected in 1934 and reëlected in 1938. Flynn was city treasurer from 1913 to 1915, later becoming civil service commissioner for the south park district which was merged into the Chicago park district. Like Judge Jarecki he is without opposition in the primary.

Assessor John S. Clark came to the county building from the adjoining city hall where for 17 years prior to 1934 he represented the 30th ward—one of the banner Democratic strongholds—as its alderman. When chosen to run for tax assessor he was ending his seventh year as chairman of the important council finance committee. Elected in 1934, he was reelected in 1938, and thus is seeking a third term. He is unopposed in the primary.

Victor L. Schlaeger, tagged for the nomination for county treasurer, is in the middle of his second term as clerk of the Superior court, to which he was elected in 1936. Prior to that he had served as chief deputy coroner. Schlaeger has been prominent in 10th ward Democratic politics since leaving the navy after the war in 1919. He has no opponents for the nomination.

Carey Out for Sheriff.

For sheriff the Democrats picked a former president of the Chicago Board of Trade, Peter B. Carey, who headed the grain exchange for three years ending in 1934. Altho he was chairman of the Illinois racing commission under the late Gov. Horner and has been prominent in Boy Scout drives and other activities, Carey is making his initial try for elective office. He also is without primary opposition.

Probate Judge John F. O'Connell, elected in 1933 to fill out the term of Henry Horner when the latter became governor, was on the Municipal bench from 1922 to 1924, and was midway in another term—after election in 1930—when he was slated for the probate job. He was reëlected in 1938.

Back 4 for Sanitary Jobs.

For the three trusteeships on the sanitary district expiring this year, the Democrats reslated two oldtimers, former Ald. Tom Byrne, the Irish wit, and Paul V. Collanni, and selected Congressman Anton F. Maciejewski of the 6th district for the third place. Maciejewski's congressional seat will be sought by Sheriff Thomas J. O'Brien, whose troubles with the gamblers brought him an avalanche of unfavorable publicity. To run for the Denis A. Horan vacancy on the board of trustees, the party leaders picked James J. Polodna.

Also reslated are Thomas J. Bowler for clerk of the Criminal court and Frank Lyman for clerk of the Probate court. Bowler, former alderman and committeeman of the 41st ward, is an ex-president of the sanitary district. Lyman is committeeman of the 48th ward.

Toman for Tax Post.

John Toman, former sheriff and present county treasurer, was slated to run for the board of tax appeals along with Ald. James J. McDermott of the 14th ward. Also picked to succeed himself was Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools.

The same rule of reslating was followed in the cases of the 10 county commissioners elected from Chicago, including the president of the board, Clayton F. Smith, committeeman of the 33d ward. His city running mates are Commissioners Maurice F. Kavanagh, Elizabeth A. Conkey, Harry E. Perry, Edward M. Sneed, Daniel Ryan, Peter Fosco, Mary McEnerney, John E. Traeger, and Frank Bobrytzke.

As their standard bearers for commissioners from the country towns, the Democrats slated Walter P. Grubbe, Elmwood Park; Edmund J. Johnson, Lemont; Edward G. Arnold, Evanston; Arthur A. Nedwed, Cicero, and William Loeffler, Stickney.

Chief Justice Edward S. Scheffler of the Municipal court was picked for a full term—he is now filling out the remainder of the late John J. Sonsteby's term—along with 10 sitting associate judges.

They are Charles S. Dougherty, Leon Edelman, Erwin J. Hasten, Justin F. McCarthy, John V. McCormick, George L. Quilici, Jay A. Schiller, Michael Tremko, John T. Zuris, and Oscar S. Caplan.

Congressman Harry P. Beam of the 4th district was given a place, along with Wendell E. Green, prominent Negro lawyer. Only one nonorganization candidate filed. He is Walter A. Witowski, who got 10th place on the ballot.

BROOKS' COURAGE, WORK FOR UNITY LAUDED BY LYONS

Cites First World War Record of Senator.

Richard J. Lyons of the state tax commission praised the record of Sen. Wayland Brooks last night at a meeting attended by 300 Republicans in Jonas hall, 5510 West 25th street, Cicero.

Lyons explained that he was speaking in behalf of the Republican candidate for renomination because Sen. Brooks was in Washington attending to his work.

"Only Sen. Brooks has the courage to stand up and tell what is happening," Lyons said. "He is demanding that the people be told what is going on.

"Worked for National Unity."

"No man in Washington has worked harder for national unity than our senator.

"And in 1917, when some of those in high places were originating some of the schemes now in force thruout the land, Sen. Brooks was lying on the battlefields of France, wounded while fighting for his country.

"Illinois need have no fear as long as he is in Washington. He will fight as hard for his country there as he fought in France."

Committeeman in Charge.

Jerry Dolezal, Cicero township Republican committeeman, presided.

Warren Wright, Brooks' opponent for the nomination, addressed 52 persons in an Army day meeting at the Hotel Sherman.

He praised the nation's armament program and warned against pessimism in the war program.

Wright charged that an attempt is being made to form a Republican machine in the state.

Sees No Machine.

"There will never be a Republican machine in Illinois," he said. "Not because any man says so. And not because small minded men aren't trying, and won't try again to build a Republican machine.

"But because the people who make up the Republican party in Illinois—the plain men and women like you and me—won't stand for a machine. They won't give up their right to choose their Republican candidates in a free and open primary. The people won't be bossed."

FIGHTS CHILDREN BEING FORCED TO JOIN UNION

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—Rep. John Z. Anderson [R., Cal.] made public today correspondence with Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins in which he reiterated his demand that school children helping in harvesting and processing California's crop not be required to join labor unions.

The Californian also made public a reply to his first demand that children not be required to join unions in which Secretary Perkins said the American Federation of Labor had reduced the initiation fee to $2, which would include one month's dues. She added the dues were $1 a month and no worker would have to pay more than $3 for the season.

She inclosed a memo from one of her staff reviewing the situation in which he said Walter F. Dexter, California state superintendent of schools, had denied he had made statements that the children would have to join unions before working in processing plants. Anderson made public a telegram in which the assertion that children would have to join the unions was contained.

"I shall not be satisfied until every effort is made to enable students to assist in harvesting and processing our food crops," Anderson said, "without being obliged to join unions and pay union initiation fees and dues."

ASSERTS UNIONS FACE CONTROL BY GOVERNMENT

Trade unionism is growing so strong that it is inviting governmental control, Prof. Sumner H. Slichter, business economist of Harvard university, said last night before the Graduate Club of Economics at the University of Chicago.

"The power of trade unionism will make control inevitable," said Prof. Slichter. "A few thousand men should not have the power to dictate to several million men."

The Harvard economist asserted that the picket line "is an assumption of police power by private individuals and is not identified with freedom of speech." He also spoke against compulsory strikes, saying that employés who want to strike should do so, but that those who do not should be permitted to continue work.

STATE'S FACTORY HEADS TO LEARN STEPS IN ATTACK

A two day meeting to acquaint Illinois industrialists with the plant protection problems they face in case of sabotage or enemy attack will be held in the Stevens hotel starting Thursday. The meeting is sponsored by the Chicago Metropolitan Defense council, the Chicago Association of Commerce, and the Illinois Manufacturers' association.

More than 1,500 executives from warehouses and industrial plants are expected to attend.

THE QUESTION.

Have you ever overslept with serious consequences?

WHERE ASKED.

Wabash and South Water street.

THE ANSWERS.

Harry Bernstein, salesman, 1617 Trumbull avenue—The next day was filled with important business appointments in Chicago. I was sound asleep in a cottage in Michigan when the early morning alarm went off. I slept right on and missed the only train to Chicago and also the business involved in those appointments.

Jerry H. Rissman, salesman, 6642 Newgard avenue—I had been getting by with my little cat naps in law class. One day I relaxed into a deeper slumber. When the dismissal bell rang I slept on. The professor couldn't miss seeing me and I was suspended from the class for two weeks.

Lois Loren, student, 625 Stratford place—It might not have seemed serious to any one else, but it was to me. I think a boy friend had the idea that I was independent and when my little afternoon nap extended beyond the hour when he was supposed to call for me I never heard from him again.

Danny Berger, orchestra manager, 3007 Fillmore street—Because I overslept once I have always felt I missed one of my most important opportunities. I had a 15 minute appointment with a studio in Hollywood for a test performance. By the time my orchestra players called me it was too late and the studio wouldn't give us a later appointment.

Leo Agid, fur blender, 1060 Ainslee street—A party of four of us were leaving for Europe the next morning. I spent the day and night before at too many farewell parties. I didn't wake up until 10 hours after the boat had left with my three friends. I caught up with them two weeks later after a lonely ocean voyage.

Ray Lenobel, salesman, 2710 North Kedzie avenue—First I sent a corsage of flowers to a friend for a formal affair. Then I went to another friend's house. He suggested I catch a few winks of sleep while he went on an errand. I didn't waken until he came back and that was many hours too late to be forgiven.

MARTIN ABORTION TRIAL CLOSES; NO DEFENSE IS MADE

Trial of Mrs. Ada Martin, 44 years old, former head of a loop abortion syndicate, and her associate, Mrs. Josephine Kuder, 30, ended abruptly yesterday after their attorneys said no defense would be offered. Judge John F. Haas denied a motion to strike the evidence and discharge the women. He told their lawyers, W. W. Smith and Everett Jennings, that it would be useless to argue the case.

"In view of the evidence presented in this case," Judge Haas said, "there could not be a finding of not guilty."

The judge said he would review the evidence and give his decision April 16. If convicted, Mrs. Martin and Mrs. Kuder face possible maximum sentences of one to five years in prison and fines up to $2,000. Assistant State's Attorneys Gordon Nash and Abbey Blattberg said they will ask for the maximum penalty.

Defense counsel said they would ask for probation in the event of conviction and Judge Haas sent the defendants to the probation department to give statements which will be investigated in advance of the decision.

5 YEAR NEW CAR SUPPLY IS SEEN AT MARCH PACE

Enough new cars are in the hands of Cook county dealers to last more than five years at the pace new car rationing certificates were issued in March, Ben T. Wright, president of the Chicago Automobile Trade association, said yesterday.

He explained that only 317 such certificates were issued last month—slightly better than an average of one car for each of the county's 300 dealers. "With more than 20,000 new cars in the hands of our dealers, the supply would last more than five years, despite statements by Washington officials that our stocks will be liquidated this year," Wright said.

"The few certificates being issued in Chicago, as in all parts of the country, make clear the great need for sharply amending the regulations to provide a much more rapid flow of cars."

M'KEOUGH CALLS PARADE REBUKE 'TO F. D. R. HATERS'

Douglas Charges Machine Resorts to Violence.

Congressman Raymond S. [Small Potatoes] McKeough, Kelly-Nash machine candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States senator, last night told meetings in the 13th, 44th, 46th, and 48th wards that "Chicago's observance of Army day was more than a demonstration of our military strength."

"It was more even than a demonstration of our unmatched morale, our unity of purpose," he said. "It was a rebuke to the Roosevelt hating obstructionists whose program, if followed, would have withheld the sinews of war from our boys and left us at the mercy of the aggressors.

Tells His Voting Record.

"It was not hard for me to follow the leadership of the commander in chief in implementing the nation's war effort. That is why I voted for lend-lease, for revision of the neutrality act, for its fortification of Guam—for all the measures sponsored by the Roosevelt administration."

Earlier Ald. Paul H. Douglas [5th], who opposes McKeough, had castigated the Kelly-Nash machine before the City club in the La Salle hotel. Frank McAdams, Douglas' independent running mate for the Democratic nomination for congressman at large, also spoke.

Douglas said his opposition had resorted to violence and threatened to take Douglas workers "for a ride."

Charges Worker Slugged.

"The present senatorial contest has furnished excellent illustrations of Kelly-Nash tactics," Douglas said. "Last Saturday one of my workers was pulled from a sound truck and slugged. A week ago the windows in our 4th ward headquarters were smashed. One of my ward workers was seized by Kelly-Nash hoodlums and told he would be taken for a ride if he continued to aid me.

"As the machine gets more desperate things promise to get even rougher. Kelly-Nash men behave like Hitler storm troopers.

"The machine is entirely like Hitler in its methods. It wants to run the city and state and will not brook opposition. When I announced my candidacy the machine offered me the 2d district congressional nomination to lay off. I refused.

"Then the opposition is bullied and threatened and should it gather strength, physical violence, character assassination, and outright fraud are used."

22,000 CHRYSLER WORKERS DENIED JOBLESS BENEFIT

Lansing, Mich., April 6 [Special].—The Michigan Supreme court today again rejected claims of some 22,000 Chrysler workers for unemployment compensation benefits based on the protracted closing of Chrysler factories by labor trouble late in 1939.

The company had sought specific directions regarding interpretation of an earlier opinion based on a suit instituted by 40 "typical" employés who had claimed that, since their units were not directly involved in the labor controversy which halted production thruout the organization, they should get "insurance" payments for the period of enforced idleness. Counsel for the United Automobile Workers—CIO fought application of the opinion to all 22,000 workers, contending the Michigan unemployment compensation commissions appeal board had made a redetermination of the facts, based on alleged new evidence.

The high tribunal found the principles involved in the case were unchanged by the new developments and that the original opinion of Judge Leland W. Carr of Ingham county Circuit court, previously upheld, applied to all of the contesting employés. The amount of benefits involved in the case was estimated at $4,000,000.

Roosevelt Would Ban Private Use of Red Cross

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt asked congress today to forbid the use of the name or symbol of the Red Cross by private individuals or business concerns. He sent to Speaker Sam Rayburn a letter from Acting Secretary of State Sumner Welles asserting that "the protection of the words 'Red Cross' and 'Geneva Cross,' which was important in times of peace, is even more important now that we are at war."

VOGEL TO FACE CHARGES SOON, COURTNEY SAYS

State's Attorney Courtney said yesterday that he expects to ask indictments soon against Ed Vogel and others on charges of conspiracy to violate the gambling laws. He described Vogel as boss of the slot machine department of the Guzik gaming syndicate.

The prosecutor added that he will appear before the grand jury and sum up the investigations conducted by five grand juries since last October, when he was given Guzik gang records by THE TRIBUNE. Courtney's remarks were made as the April grand jury of 15 men and 8 women was sworn in with Stewart C. Parker, 6820 North Hamilton avenue, a gas company engineer, as foreman.

At about the same time police, headed by Assistant State's Attorney Sam Freedman, raided a large handbook on the second floor at 2624 Milwaukee avenue. Joseph Weiss was arrested as the alleged keeper. Ninety patrons were sent away.

"Our Country! In her intercourse with foreign nations may she always be in the right; but our country, right or wrong."
—Stephen Decatur.

AMONG THE IMMORTALS.

In the years to come, wherever old soldiers gather and wherever men pause to pay tribute to valor, the garrison on Bataan will be remembered. After four months of war, and almost three since the withdrawal into Bataan peninsula, the outnumbered American and Filipino defenders still stand like a rock in the path of the invader.

To the Japanese the battle has long since become something more than a fight for physical mastery of a tongue of land covered with mountains and jungle. Possession of Bataan and the forts guarding the mouth of Manila bay would have a tangible military value, but it is not for that that the Japanese send wave upon wave of troops to death before the defenders' guns. It is because Bataan has become a symbol of something far greater.

The easy triumphs over the white man and his Asiatic cohorts in a dozen other campaigns have fed the Japanese pride and fostered the legend of invincibility. Only the American freeman and his Philippine comrade in arms and in freedom have refused to bow. The prestige of Japan is at stake. Why else did Gen. Homma despatch himself with his ceremonial sword? And why else did Japan send its greatest military leader, Gen. Yamashita, the conqueror of Singapore, to crush the Bataan garrison?

A fog of doubt rolls out of Bataan and smothers the Japanese mind. The forces of the Mikado have thousands upon thousands of men. The defenders have only a few. The invader has so many planes that he can darken the sun. The defenders probably cannot send up a single plane. The Japanese have a great navy with which to assault from the sea. The defenders have not even one warship. The emperor's troops have food and supplies in abundance. The defenders are running low. And yet, with every superiority, the Japanese know only defeat and death in this small corner of the world. Sometimes they must wonder how it will be when the whole might of America's youth comes with its flags to the battle.

Americans must go a long way back in time to find an epic of similar heroism, and when they do, they will be struck by the similarity. When they think of Bataan, they will remember the Alamo. They will remember how 188 Texans here stood off the hordes of Santa Ana for almost two weeks. They will think of Col. James Bowie, and Davy Crockett, and the words of Col. William Barrett Travis:

"The enemy have demanded a surrender at discretion; otherwise the garrison is to be put to the sword if the fort is taken. I have answered the summons with a cannon shot, and our flag still waves proudly from the walls. I shall never surrender or retreat. Victory or death."

The Texans died to a man. The world will never forget the valedictory Sam Houston pronounced over the defenders of the Alamo: "Thermopylae had its messenger of defeat; the Alamo had none." The Americans of Bataan are in the same heroic tradition.

THE DISRUPTIVE FORCE IN LABOR.

Ray Edmundson, president of the United Mine Workers in Illinois, has resigned his job as state regional director of the CIO and his example has been followed by other loyal followers of John L. Lewis. Lewis, rather than the Illinois miners, gave Edmundson his job in the mine union. Edmundson's resignation, in the light of his patron's recent bitterness toward the CIO, is of more than local significance. It may presage the withdrawal of the mine workers from the CIO or it may indicate only that that is what Mr. Lewis wants the CIO to believe.

The American labor movement is not moving toward the unity which so many of its volunteer advisers have urged upon it. The typographers' union quit the AFL because it didn't like some of its practices. The AFL has done its best to coax the typographers back into the fold, but the members, at their last referendum, apparently felt that their union is strong and well established enough to stand by itself.

Even if Mr. Lewis pulls out of the CIO it is doubtful if he will follow the footsteps of his former associate, David Dubinsky of the ladies' garment workers, who left the CIO to return to the AFL. The AFL probably wouldn't want him back. He has too many enemies among its leaders, who have reason to fear that if he reënters their door he may soon be ruling the roost.

This disintegration of central labor organizations, of which the original separation of the CIO was, of course, the most important, is a natural and perhaps inevitable effect of the numerous laws which, while they pretend to place more power in the hands of labor have actually operated to place that power in the hands of labor leaders. The prizes for which they struggle have become immeasurably greater and it is accordingly more difficult to reach and maintain a general accord in the division of power. The cause of labor unity would be greatly enhanced by amendment of the existing labor laws to enforce on labor leaders a greater measure of accountability both to their own members and to the public. It has been remarked frequently that the rank and file in the unions are overwhelmingly in favor of an end to interunion wars. But they have, in too many cases, no more control over their leaders than has the public.

WHERE DO THEY GET THEM?

Lawrence Belles, leader of a reform group in local 11 of the roofers' union, carried his demand for an accounting of funds of the local and for an honest election of officers to the floor of the union's national convention. When he returned home somebody rang his doorbell. There were two men outside. While one spoke soothing words the other clubbed him over the head.

In the natural course of the police investigation Mr. Luke Ward, business agent of the local, was interrogated. He professed ignorance of the slugging. Mr. Ward has served three penitentiary sentences and a term in the county jail. He is in the tradition of Mr. Willie Bioff, Mr. George E. Browne, Mr. Nick Circella, and others whose social viewpoint has been matured by acquaintance with the criminal code.

We all are accustomed to hearing from Washington that the New Deal has brought the millennium for the laboring man. The subject is discussed in impersonal terms, such as "labor's rights" and "labor's gains." It is strange when labor should be so happy that the individual laboring man, like Mr. Belles, should so often wind up with such large lumps on his head.

VICE ADM. HART FOR COMMANDER IN CHIEF?

Vice Adm. Thomas Hart has returned to this country with an enhanced reputation. He fought his Asiatic fleet skillfully in Philippine waters until the force against it became overwhelming and then he succeeded in extricating his ships from danger. His ships were not surprised and sunk at anchor like those of Pearl Harbor. There were no catastrophes while he was in command, and he did succeed in destroying a number of Japanese vessels.

Many of the warships and men he had commanded were lost in the trap north of Java, which was sprung after his request to be relieved had been granted. It was said at the time that he was relieved because of ill health but upon his return to America only a few weeks later he appeared to be hale and hearty. He had left for home before the disastrous battle of Java. The circumstances all point to the conclusion that he was relieved because of his opposition to fighting at that point and at that moment.

Adm. Hart's record in previous wars shows that he can attack with skill and daring. His record in this war is that of a man possessed of sound naval judgment. He has not been beaten and that is a great point in his favor, for until we stop being beaten, we cannot begin to win.

In comparison with the men who have been running the navy, Adm. Hart stands out in bold relief. He has earned serious consideration for the post of commander in chief.

VERTICAL AND FROZEN CEILINGS.

The activities of the Office of Price Administration in Washington are producing some of the fanciest metaphor mixing of the century. From a recent article in THE TRIBUNE we learn of "proposals to freeze prices as a curb on inflation." That is probably as good a mixture as was concocted by Mr. John E. Hamm, the acting price administrator, who spoke of the need "to prevent runaway prices in view of the forthcoming halt in production." The prize goes to the reporter who wrote of a "proposal for a vertical price ceiling at both retail and wholesale levels," but a word must be said for "the sweeping price freezing plan to apply to all consumer goods not already under ceiling orders." Not to belabor the point but merely to make the record complete, we direct attention to "plans to sharpen the assault on inflation" and "proposals for a blanket ceiling."

The reporters are not inventing these phrases. They are repeating what they hear from official lips. The use of that kind of language is amusing, but it is also symptomatic of a state of mind. Men who talk that way aren't thinking straight and they probably aren't thinking at all in any useful sense. Their ideas and notions are as confused as their metaphors.

Probably it will be necessary to deprive the American people of some and perhaps a good many of their accustomed comforts and luxuries as long as the war lasts. The prospect isn't an agreeable one, but everybody is prepared to accept it in good part. The frozen blanket, vertical ceiling boys are using fancy words to conceal from themselves the fact that they haven't any clear idea of what must be dispensed with and why it must be dispensed with. They are pretending to themselves that their elaborate metaphors express a formula for curtailment which is both rational and fair, when in truth it is neither.

When money is plentiful and goods are relatively scarce prices tend to rise. It is well that some of them do so, because that discourages waste and also stimulates production. Insofar as increased production does not divert important quantities of scarce materials and labor from war industries it should be encouraged, for no good is served by imposing needless hardships and inconveniences upon a nation at war.

When the burocrats talk about frozen ceilings they are really recommending compulsion, a fact which they prefer to conceal. They want to use compulsion because they have no faith in the people's willingness to make voluntary sacrifices. Probably, too, they do not realize how much trouble they are making for themselves. Somebody ought to tell them that bootleggers are no respecters of ceilings, whether frozen or blanket, vertical or horizontal. A great deal more can be accomplished by appealing to patriotism than by threatening, as was proved by the great success of voluntary food conservation in the last war.

THE ARMY SAVES SOME RUBBER.

The army is considering methods of saving a large part of the rubber used in tanks, principally by substituting steel for rubber in the treads, which use nearly two-thirds of the rubber put into the vehicle.

The decision is influenced partly by the experience in the Libyan desert, where the sand eroded rubber treads in 8 to 10 hours, but the principal aim seems to be to conserve scarce materials even in vital military uses. This is commendable forethought on the part of the army. The tank announcement does much to still doubts, raised by earlier and minor incidents, that the army and navy saw no reason to economize even tho civilian economy is pinched.

It is to be hoped that this gospel spreads from the armed forces to the civilian branches of the government. Such affairs as that of the rubber cuspidor mats are recalled, and the steel windows in the new war department building, which will consume half of all the steel conserved by rationing the nation's razor blade users. The idea that the rest of the nation is pinching itself so that the burocrats may conduct business as usual is surely held by no one but the burocrats themselves.

ELIMINATION OF THE RELIGIOUS QUERY.
[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The United States Employment service will no longer ask applicants for work the question as to religious affiliation. Under an order issued by John Corson, director of the employment service, the space provided for religious affiliation on official blanks will be ignored and new cards will be printed without it.

This is not only a recognition of the need for full participation in the war program regardless of race, creed, color, or national origin. It recognizes that a man's faith is his own and not a proper concern for a federal employment service.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

FOOTNOTES TO A FILM.

Let us glance at the movie called "The Corsican Brothers," in which Douglas Fairbanks Jr. renews the tradition of his lively father, and try to find something beside Hollywood gossip behind the screen. There is a story here with which the filmgoing multitudes are not familiar.

* * *

The movie industry and its assiduous chroniclers seldom impart much information about the sources of the cinema's material, except when some best-selling novel, such as "Gone with the Wind," has been used. Even when Shakespeare is dressed up for the camera, the production is generally discussed only as a Hollywood spectacle.

* * *

The program of "The Corsican Brothers" attributes its origin to Alexandre Dumas, but you should not look for a Dumas novel of that title. [The typical movie-goer, of course, would never dream of undertaking such a bit of research.] Dumas gave the world one great plot about twins in "The Man with the Iron Mask," but he did not invent the plot of "The Corsican Brothers." He found it as a folk tale in Corsica, and recorded it in a volume of travel-talk called "Impressions de Voyage."

* * *

Two French playwrights, Grangé and de Montépin, seized the melodramatic story about twin brothers on vendetta bent as a pearl of great price; hence the original drama, "Les Frères Corses," first acted at the Théâtre Historique, Paris, on May 10, 1850. Charles Fechter, who won international renown, acted both brothers. For 50 years thereafter "The Corsican Brothers" was a favorite item in the repertories of romantic actors with a yearning for dual rôles.

* * *

Fechter became Anglicized and took the play to London; then he Americanized himself and acted the revengeful twins in New York. Among his famous rôles was Hamlet, which he played in a red wig.

* * *

Among the many other Corsican Brothers were Charles Kean, Henry Irving, Hermann Vézin, and Kyrle Bellew. The twins have been acted on the American stage by a woman, Charlotte Crampton, now almost forgotten. There have been more than a dozen versions of the play, among which Dion Boucicault's is the standard.

* * *

This film, therefore, is an end-product of almost 100 years of theatrical history.

By Their Hats Ye Shall Know Them.

Men's hats, seldom mentioned by the stylists, actually reveal a sharp cleavage in fashions, even in what we like to consider the highly citified community of Chicago.

Of course, high school lads and younger collegians attempt insouciance in shapeless corduroy knockabouts or equally shapeless felts. In the suburban areas, where the Little Abner influence is strong, the battered headgear should be worn well back on the knob, thus permitting an uncombed shock of hair to dangle over the left eyebrow.

La Salle streeters, on the other hand, use snap brim, medium width, conservatively colored hats merely as the correct complement of the business man's attire.

The near south side, however, finds the hat an end in itself. Size is vital; anything smaller than a leather chair bottom will not be countenanced. And here the hat is an all-weather affair—even when shirtsleeves and no necktie are de rigueur.

Then gravitate to the city hall, where the hat is like a fraternity badge. Spotless light gray, perfectly blocked, brim turned up all round—in thus wise do bookmakers, minor politicians, and racketeers know each other. And among these gentry the hat must be set square upon the head, as tho a degree or two deviation might wreck a lifelong reputation as "Honest John the Bookie" or "Squaredeal Tony."

EVENING AT HOME.

Firelight flickers on the dusky wall
And quiet floods the room. Your hand holds mine
As motionless we watch the embers fall.
The moonlight in a silver penciled line
Summons the spring, while yet the first faint stir
Of greening buds scarce hints at ecstasy
That swells unknown. Such moments never were Meant for the unbelievers. We two see
Life in the moon and comfort in the fire,
And sense some purpose hidden in the sigh
Of woodsmoke, that dim shadow of desire.
Reluctantly the flames fade out and die. . . .

Not even the swift pulsing of our hearts disturbs
The deep contentment of unspoken words.

WE CANNOT FUNCTION WITHOUT FLUIDS.

BY AND LARGE, our fluid intake is guided by thirst. The machinery which furnishes this information is rather accurately balanced. Some of us may quaff more than we can handle because we force ourselves to do so. We are likely to forget that every drop must pass thru the heart and the blood vessels before it can be discharged via the skin, the lungs, and the excretory apparatus.

On the other hand, so large a part of our makeup is water that we cannot get along without it. All digestive processes take place in solution. Lifting a pound weight off the floor calls for a series of chemical reactions within millions of cells, every one of which is figuratively afloat.

Because water is so plentiful and —under modern sanitary conditions —so wholesome, few of us know what it means to be deprived of an adequate quantity. One of the most graphic accounts of thirst was published by the Post Printer of Fort Davis, Tex. It details the experience of a detachment of the 10th United States cavalry, consisting of two officers [Capt. Nicholas Nolan and Lieut. Charles L. Cooper] and 26 soldiers who, in August, 1877, engaged in the pursuit of marauding Indians. They were without water for a period of 86 hours.

Because of the intense heat, the men emptied their canteens early on the march. By the end of the second day the tongues of men and animals alike were so enlarged that swallowing was exceedingly difficult. In consequence, food could not be eaten. The sense of taste disappeared and the parts were completely benumbed.

Every one suffered marked vertigo, dimness of vision, and deafness. The speaking voice was weak and strange. During the night, sleep was disturbed by dreams. Mental symptoms were exhibited by every member of the party and despair alternated with desperation.

Along toward noon of the third day, a few succeeded in reaching Double lakes, but relief was not immediate. The inclination to imbibe was irresistible, but the liquid was vomited promptly. It was only after hot coffee had been fed in teaspoonful doses that anything could be retained on the stomach. Regardless of the amount of fluid taken, symptoms persisted. Labored breathing continued for 48 hours. There was the usual number of cases of swollen feet, ankles, and legs, altho the skin on the balance of the body appeared shriveled and lifeless.

Invalids particularly require careful watching. Physicians and nurses find that many should drink more than they desire. This may be accounted for by the fact that fever, which means rapid evaporation, is in progress. Furthermore, the loss via the lungs is greater. A wrinkled skin and pinched features frequently point to dehydration [too little water].

The reason our soldiers complained of faulty vision, impaired hearing, and delirium was because the eyes, ears, and brain were receiving too little circulation. The blood was too thick.

NUTMEG LORE.

Mrs. H. writes: Please print this simple remedy for croup. Take a whole nutmeg, put a hole thru the center, draw a string thru, and tie around the child's neck. If it is kept on all the time for two weeks, croup will disappear. This plan was handed down to me from my grandfather.

REPLY.

Was your grandpa from Connecticut? The early natives of that state are reputed to have conducted quite a business in wooden nutmegs.

How these folk tales will persist.

CHANGING CONTOURS.

W. A. Y. writes: I have fat legs but skinny ankles. Can this be corrected?

REPLY.

More desirable than if the situation were reversed. Exercise and massage will assist you to acquire graceful lines.

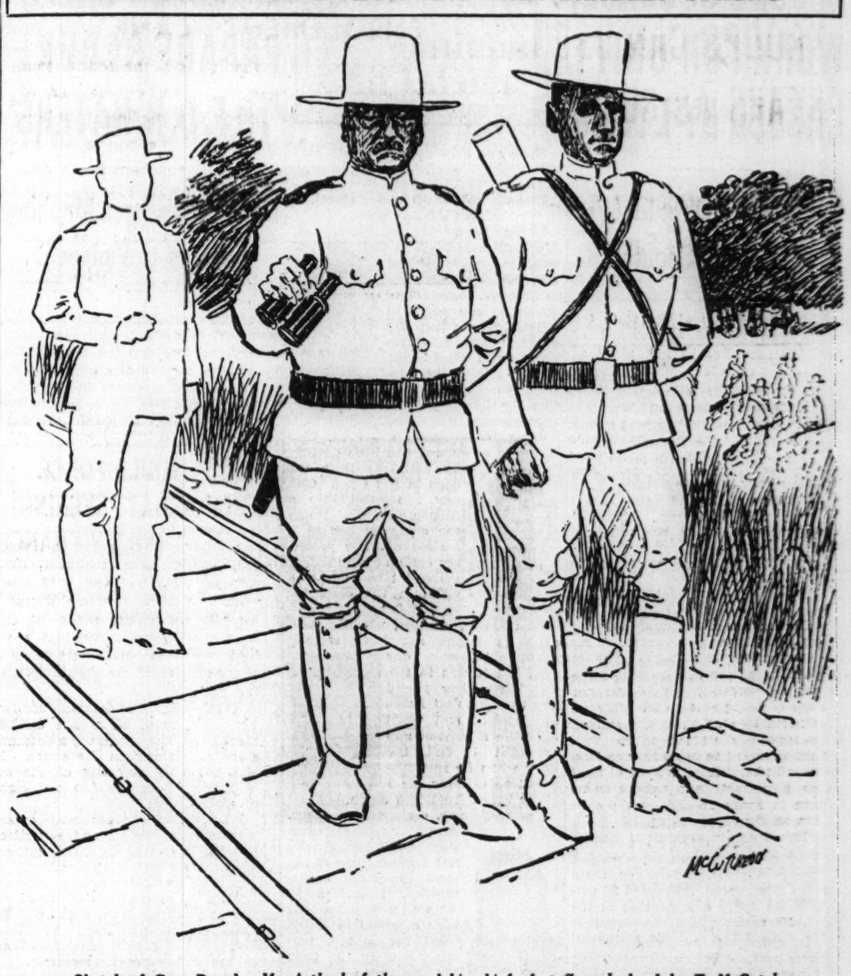

MILK IN TEA.

C. S. writes: Is milk in tea hard to digest?

REPLY.

Mildy so. The tannin of tea combines with the albumin of the milk.

GEN. ARTHUR MacARTHUR AND MAJ. BRADLEY STRONG

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Writers should confine themselves to 200 or 300 words. Give full names and addresses. No manuscripts can be returned. Space for letters is obviously limited. Incoming mail far exceeds it. If a letter is not printed, attribute it to lack of room. Address letters to Voice of the People, THE TRIBUNE.

SO YOU'RE SAILING TO EUROPE.

East Orange, N. J., March 27.—The department of commerce is circulating an official questionnaire, a most profound document which asks if we have done any foreign traveling lately; if by first class, cabin, etc.; what our expenditures were, and helpful comment we wish to make re such journeys. Also, they want to know about our future plans for travel abroad—if we have any, of course.

The most of us lost our taste for oceanic travel back in September, 1939, and there is no need to point out what has been happening to our former vacation spots across the Atlantic in the last two years.

Some one should turn the spotlight on this bureau which is devoted to stimulating travel abroad, and collecting data about it. Personally I don't see how even a New Dealer could do anything but frankly admit that the continued operation of this bureau at the expense of the taxpayers is needless—plus.

BLAMES OVERTIME FOR INFLATION.

Chicago, March 30.—With all this wrangling about the 40 hour week and with all the accusations that are being made by labor sympathizers that certain elements are trying to take away from labor the rightful gains it has made, the real effect of time and a half for overtime over 40 hours a week is lost sight of.

The actual percentage of workers drawing time and a half is relatively small compared to the total number of workers in the country. It is said there are perhaps 7 or 8 million defense workers out of some 40 or more million workers engaged in all types of industry. The payment of time and a half to these 7 or 8 million defense workers results in increased purchasing power for this group. Since the production of consumer goods is fast declining, this group bidding against one another for available goods is responsible for inflated prices.

Many millions of persons who are obliged to live on a fixed income [and that includes not only nondefense workers, but retired persons, those on relief and so on] find their standard of living lowered in direct proportion to the rise in prices. They stand by helpless to do anything about it while selfish labor leaders and apprehensive vote watching politicians indulge in name calling because this fixed income group is trying to avoid being drawn completely behind the eight ball.

FOR JUSTICE.

AIR MAIL LETTERS.

Chicago, April 1.—A lot of people are writing to boys in camps and using double postage with the intention that air mail service should be given. As a postal clerk, I feel that these people ought to know that air mail service is never given on the amount of postage itself. The face of the envelope must be boldly inscribed "Air Mail." Unless it is, the letter will only get usual train delivery. The rule is, sufficient postage and the written description "Air Mail." Both must be there. P. O. CLERK.

A TAX IS NEVER REPEALED.

Chicago, March 29.—A lot of us taxpayers are pretty well fed up on delinquent tax threats by the tax gatherers. In the first place they always imply that the taxpayers are "gyps." The opposite is the case. The political machines stay up nights to invent new taxes to "gyp" us.

When prohibition came in they had to have new taxes to replace the liquor tax. Now they have all the new ones and the liquor tax is back with bigger and better returns than formerly and still no old tax has been repealed. Repeal of any tax is not in the political religion. It's liable to throw some of the faithful out of soft jobs. As long as the taxpayers stand for them they'll get more and more new styles of taxes. How many political jobs did the sales tax create? Give a guess? It would make a good army division. Is that why it was created? How many new taxes have been created since 1910? We functioned then on a lot less taxes than now.

SAM SAYLOR.

CHANGE OUR PRIMARY LAW.

Chicago, April 2.—A change is needed in the primary election law to allow the voters of this state secret and complete freedom of choice at all elections. They should not be required to declare any party affiliation. Illinois should use the primary system used in Wisconsin, the first state to use the Australian ballot.

A voter on entering a Wisconsin polling place is given one ballot of each political party and told to vote only one, but to fold both. On leaving the booth he deposits the voted ballot in the ballot box and the unvoted ballot in another locked box. No person but himself knows what party ballot he voted.

MAURICE LAZARE.

WHEN THE LIE DETECTOR FAILED.

Rockford, Ill., April 2.—On April 2, under the caption "Criminologist Will Address Women's Press Association," Dr. Orlando F. Scott is quoted as saying that none guilty of misconduct, neither the hardened criminal nor the wandering husband, can beat the lie detector.

In this city, about five years ago a widow was suspected of shooting her husband. She was taken to Chicago by local officials, and willingly submitted to the "test." The result, as reported in the local papers, was that the "detector" had proved that she had not shot her husband. She was to be released. On Sunday afternoon, hearing a group of Salvation Army singers holding a gospel meeting in the jail, she broke down, asked to talk with the sheriff, and confessed that she had shot her husband. She is now in the woman's prison at Dwight.

GARAGE RENT.

Chicago, April 2.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—The man who rents my garage is very negligent. I have had to call him time and time again to come and pay the rent.

He now owes me for the months of January and February. I have called at the place where he works and have left a message that he should call me, but so far he has not done so.

I want him to move his car from the garage but do not want to do anything illegal. Will you give the correct procedure? How should I go about making him pay the rent and still have him move his car from my garage? K. L.

We suggest that you notify him that if he does not settle at once you will have the car taken into storage by a garage that will hold it for their charges. The procedure for collecting the rent will depend upon his assets and income and upon the amount involved. In general, it would be necessary to bring suit if you wish to force matters.

GUARDS: CAPABLE TROOPS CAN USE STARS AS GUIDES

Here's a Lesson for You! Big Dipper a Factor.

Hundreds Respond

Hundreds of young men in Chicago and suburbs have mailed their blanks for enrollment in the MacArthur Guards and will take the preinduction training which will be offered by this department. Altho most of the letters received in the first mail came from Chicago, many other youths between 16 and 19 years of age living in Wisconsin, Michigan, Iowa, and Indiana also filled out enrollment blanks, one of which may be found in an adjoining column.

BY BOB BECKER.

During the first World war an infantry unit was given orders to make a forced march at night. The commanding officer had no compass and was not versed in simple astronomy, such as being able to tell which way is north by looking at the stars. He consequently started to march his unit all over the country until one of his officers, who knew how to find the north star and take a bearing from it, spoke up and set the expedition on the right course.

This is a good example of the importance to a soldier of learning a few simple constellations, so that without a compass he still can steer a correct course if the night is clear.

North Star Most Important.

In the northern hemisphere the north star, or Polaris, is the most important directional guide. It has been the guide post in the Heavens for travelers both on land and the sea for centuries. There are three prominent guides to Polaris. If a soldier learns these he always can find the north star surely and quickly.

The first and most conspicuous constellation to learn is the big dipper. The two stars which form the outer side of the big dipper [opposite the handle] always point to the north star. The second way of finding the pole star is to locate the little dipper, another prominent constellation. The terminal star of the little dipper's handle is the north star.

The third constellation which aids the novice astronomer in finding the north star is Cassiopeia, a series of five stars which forms a sprawling "W" in the sky.

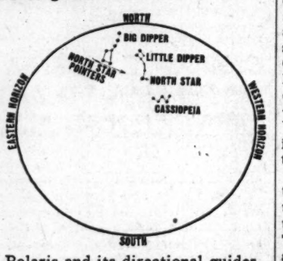

Find Big Dipper First.

Cassiopeia is about the same distance from the pole star as the big dipper. It may be seen by finding the big dipper and then following an imaginary line the same distance to the south.

Below the equator a soldier can turn to the southern cross as a directional guide. This brilliant constellation is made up of four visible stars. These four are in the shape of a cross and the staff of the cross points almost directly to the south pole.

The Southern Cross as a directional guide.

Polaris and its directional guides.

SUIT WOULD FORCE SATURDAY EVENING POST POLICY CHANGE

Philadelphia, Pa., April 6 [Special].—An injunction to force a change in the editorial policies of the Saturday Evening Post was sought in a suit filed in Federal court here today by a stockholder of the Curtis Publishing company.

George E. Wanderman of New York, owner of 50 of the 3,393,821 shares of the company's common stock, is plaintiff in the action. He said the only objective of the suit is protection of the financial rights of stockholders.

Wanderman charged that antagonism among readers and advertisers has been aroused by "the anti-government, isolationist policy" instituted three years ago by the management of the Curtis company and said a recent article entitled "The Case Against the Jews" by Milton Mayer was "highly censorious" and caused "widespread resentment."

SITDOWN ON SHIP IS MUTINY, HIGH COURT DECLARES

Voids Labor Board Order to Reinstate Strikers.

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—A sit-down strike aboard a ship is mutiny even tho the vessel is in port, the Supreme court ruled today.

In a 5 to 4 decision the court upset a labor board order directing the Southern Steamship company of Philadelphia, Pa., to reinstate five seamen who were discharged after a strike aboard the steamer City of Fort Worth in 1938 in Houston, Tex.

It upheld, however, the portion of the board's order directing the company to bargain with the CIO national maritime union. The company's alleged refusal to do so, after the union had been certified as bargaining representative, caused the strike.

Steam Supply Halted.

The strikers refused to provide steam to operate machinery for loading cargo and the board and the union contended their sit-down, which was accompanied by no violence, did not endanger the vessel and that the ship was safe while tied up at the dock.

The majority opinion, written by Justice James F. Byrnes, recalled the recent disaster to the former French luxury liner Normandie, which burned in New York in the course of its conversion to naval use, as "grim enough proof that the hazard of fire is ever present."

"It is by no means clear that a ship moored to a dock is safe if the crew refuses to tend it, as the strikers did at Houston," Byrnes wrote. "At the very least, steam must be maintained to provide light and fire protection."

Factors Termed Complex.

Moreover, the opinion observed, "the strategy of discipline is not simple" and "the maintenance of authority hinges upon a delicate complex of human factors."

Thus, it added, in enacting the mutiny laws, "congress may very sensibly have concluded that a master whose orders are subject to the crew's veto in port cannot enforce them at sea."

"Ever since men have gone to sea," the decision continued, "the relationship of master to seaman has been entirely different from that of employer on land. The lives of passengers and crew, as well as the safety of ship and cargo, are entrusted to the master's care.

Captain Held Supreme.

"Every one and every thing depend on him. He must command and the crew must obey. Authority cannot be divided."

The mutiny statute covers acts not only on the high seas but in "any other waters within the admiralty and maritime jurisdiction of the United States" and the court viewed this language as a "plain congressional mandate" that the act applied to vessels in port.

The majority held that the labor board, in performing its mandate to "effectuate the purposes" of the Wagner act, could not "wholly ignore other and equally important congressional objectives."

The dissenting opinion, by Justice Stanley F. Reed, held that the board did have discretion to order the seamen reinstated and noted that the board had found that they were discharged "not for disobeying orders but for striking, for peacefully, albeit unlawfully, resorting to self-help in retaliation against denial of their rights." Justices Hugh L. Black, William O. Douglas, and Frank Murphy joined in the dissent.

Nervous Bandits Lose Part of $1,000 Loot in Flight

Two nervous bandits, pressing handkerchiefs to their faces for masks, yesterday obtained $1,000 in jewelry and $50 cash from the 15th floor offices of Massover Brothers, jewelers, 30 West Washington street. In their flight when Sam Massover, owner, sounded the burglary alarm, the bandits dropped some of the jewelry.

17 TONS OF SUGAR! WHAT TO DO WITH IT PUZZLES THEM

Du Page county authorities yesterday were still wrestling with the problem of what to do with 17 tons of sugar. The sugar was found and seized early in December by Sheriff Elmer Hoffman in a barn on the farm of Frank Hamelitz, in Bartlett township, six miles northwest of Wheaton.

Anthony Catalano, 33 years old, 1840 Huron street, who rented the barn, claimed the sugar. The state's attorney's office refused to surrender it until satisfied as to proof of ownership and as to the intended use of the sugar.

Thru his attorney, Charles Hadley, Catalano filed a complaint against the holding of the sugar. Yesterday, George Bunge, an assistant state's attorney of Du Page county, petitioned to dismiss the complaint. Judge Win G. Knoch in the Du Page county Circuit court at Wheaton, hearing arguments, said he'd take the question under advisement.

ASSESSOR FINDS 85% OF PERSONAL TAX COLLECTIBLE

Bases Figure on Recheck of 1939 Levy.

County Assessor John S. Clark yesterday announced the results of a survey which he said shows that personal property taxes in Cook county are 85 per cent collectible if collection officials want to force payment. Collections in recent years have averaged about 60 per cent on the annual levy of approximately 55 million dollars.

The survey just completed by Clark's staff covered the 1939 personalty assessments against 190 businesses on Washington street from the river to Halsted street. It was directed by John Battle, head of the personal property section.

Says Recheck Shows Accuracy.

It was found that on total 1939 taxes billed at $72,021, the 190 concerns have paid only $26,084, or 36.2 per cent. A comprehensive recheck of each showed, however, Clark said, that the original assessments were accurate for 179 of the companies owing 85 per cent of the taxes. The recheck was made thru actual observation, thru 1939 income tax returns which are now available, and in some instances thru schedules filed by the companies themselves.

"I believe this is a good index of the situation thruout the county," Clark said. "If all the unpaid personal property taxes that are based on sound assessments for 1939 alone were collected, 15 million dollars more would be available for the local governments. The same holds true for the 1940 levy, which is less than 60 per cent collected."

Treasurer to Get Names.

Clark said he would turn the results of the survey, with the names of the delinquents, over to Treasurer John Toman, in the event Toman may want to send deputies to make collections.

Of the 190 concerns surveyed, 87 paid the full amount of taxes billed, amounting to $21,855. Eleven firms which were taxed $10,161 were erroneously assessed, having moved away or gone out of business.

In the cases of 20 companies, billed for $13,957, part payments were made amounting to $4,186 or 30 per cent. Three of the 20 were granted reductions by the Municipal court. Clark charges the reductions of assessments by the courts is illegal.

72 Paid Nothing.

The remaining 72 firms were billed for $26,049 in taxes, but have paid nothing. Clark said the recheck showed all of these assessments were sound except for eight instances where the taxes were slightly high, but not enough to make the assessments illegal. Nineteen of the 72 were taxed on the basis of their own schedules filed with the assessor and sworn to under oath.

Clark said further surveys of the collectibility of personal property taxes are in progress.

TRAINING SCHOOL PAROLEE SEIZED FOR AUTO THEFT

Harold Jack Helton, who stole a car and three guns a few hours after he was paroled from the Illinois State Training School for Boys near St. Charles last Saturday, was captured yesterday in Kankakee.

Helton, who is 17 years old, has been seeking permission to join the navy. Since he was originally sent to the school from Coles county as an orphan and not as a law breaker, school officials said they would consent if he could make good on a parole. They paroled him Saturday to Theodore Ilseman, president of an Aurora trucking firm. Ilseman gave him a home on the Ilseman farm near Oswego in Kendall county.

Saturday night, Helton stole a farm hand's car and three of Ilseman's guns and fled. Helton told deputy sheriffs who arrested him at Kankakee that he had been sent to a farm once before, but that he ran away and stole a car that time. He will be returned to the school.

STATE GRANTED CONTINUANCE IN O'CONNELL CASE

A continuance to April 29 was granted yesterday by Judge John T. Zuris in Felony court when Lawrence J. C. O'Connell, former chief security supervisor for the Illinois Industrial commission, was arraigned on a warrant charging embezzlement of $54,000 of the commission's funds.

James A. Brown, assistant state's attorney, told Judge Zuris the state required more time to prepare its case. He also said that Alfred J. Borah, chairman of the industrial commission, has been subpenaed before the April grand jury this morning.

O'Connell is at liberty under $10,000 bond. He has denied any knowledge of a shortage in the state's security accounts.

A Widow's Plea

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. MARY FULLER.

Mrs. Mary Fuller, 31 years old, 1371 East 63d street, a widow, pleaded guilty of larceny yesterday before Judge John T. Zuris in Felony court and won a probation hearing which was set for April 22.

Mrs. Fuller, who has resumed her maiden name—Arlington—was arrested last Saturday by Burnside police in William Trautvetter's drug store at 635 East 79th street, where for two years she had been considered a model employé at the soda fountain. Her pockets were filled with cigarets, perfumes, razor blades, and toothpaste.

Mrs. Fuller told Judge Zuris she worked 78 hours a week to support her son, William, 10, who is in school in Hobart, Ind., and also contributed to the support of a sister who has eight children. She said she worked as a candy taster by day and in the drug store at night. The $28 she earned weekly, Mrs. Fuller said, did not meet her expenses, so she looted the drug store in the hope that she could sell the stolen items.

CHOOSE 7 WOMEN AND 5 MEN TO TRY M'NEAR AND AIDS

Peoria, Ill., April 6 (AP).—George P. McNear Jr., president, and two other officials of the now federally operated Toledo, Peoria and Western railroad went on trial today on criminal charges of violation of the national railway labor act. Defendants with McNear are H. H. Best, superintendent of the road, and Bruce Gifford, trainmaster.

A jury of seven women and five men was chosen in federal court today and opening statements before Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle will be made at 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The case, based on a 24 count information filed by U. S. District Attorney Howard L. Doyle on Jan. 5, is the first criminal action taken under the 1926 railway labor act, prosecutors said.

The defendants were charged with violating a section of the act which forbids road officials influencing or coercing employés in connection with union activity or collective bargaining.

Doyle said he would attempt to prove the defendants violated the act by threatening employés with loss of seniority rights and dismissal from their jobs if they continued to support the stand of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen in a dispute with the railroad.

He said conviction would subject the defendants to fines ranging from $1,000 to $20,000 and jail sentences of up to six months on each count.

WEEKLY LABOR RADIO PROGRAM STARTS APRIL 18

An opportunity for organized American wage earners to express their viewpoints on the war is to be provided thru a new series of programs, Labor for Victory, to be aired over NBC Saturdays, starting April 18. The programs will run for 15 minutes, beginning at 9:15 p. m.

Plans for the broadcasts were announced yesterday by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

The program will feature comment on current news, interviews with labor leaders and workers from the war production front.

Green said that thru the program labor expects to have a fireside chat with the people of America each week and to explain what the workers of America are doing to bring victory.

Murray said the major purpose of the program was to promote the war effort. He said the CIO was happy to coöperate with the AFL and that "we most assuredly will not allow any narrow or partisan consideration to interfere with this presentation of American labor's united and joint efforts for victory."

W-G-N OPERETTA NAME CONTEST CLOSES TONIGHT

$1,000 Grand Prize Will Be Given for Title.

Midnight tonight is the deadline for receipt of entries in the $2,500 contest to pick the grand prize winning operetta in W-G-N's $10,500 Great American Operetta quest and to give it a name. All letters from listeners to be considered for the grand prize of $1,000 and more than 70 other awards must be delivered to W-G-N by midnight.

Entries, besides designating first choice among the three operettas, presented on March 14, 21, and 28, and suggesting a name, must be accompanied by statements of 50 words or less, giving reasons for the choice.

Winner to Be Kept Secret.

The grand prize winner, which will bring its author an additional $5,000, will be kept a secret until the curtain goes up next Saturday evening in the Chicago Civic Opera house auditorium on the final Theater of the Air broadcast of the season. The production will be presented from 7:30 to 8:30 p. m. over W-G-N, W59C, and the coast to coast Mutual network.

Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, will speak during the program. Marion Claire and Allan Jones will be the singing stars.

32,000 Ticket Requests.

More than 3,500 Theater of the Air enthusiasts, picked thru a public drawing at W-G N last Saturday, will be special guests.

Albums of Miss Claire's latest recordings were sent to the first 10 names drawn last Saturday.

Thousands of entries have been received in the contest to help select the winning operetta. A flood of last minute letters is expected today. To aid last minute entrants, here is a brief review of the three prize winning operettas that are in the running:

Winners Are Reviewed.

The first, presented under the working title, "The Gandy Dancer," was a story woven about the completion of the first transcontinental railroad; the second, "The Lead Soldier," was a Civil war story, centered around the lead mines of Galena, Ill., and the third, a Broadway story, telling of the birth of a popular song.

Entries in the $2,500 contest should be addressed: Operetta Contest, W-G-N, Inc., Chicago, Ill.

SENATE IS READY FOR SHOWDOWN ON WAR PROFITS

19 Billion More Voted for Armaments.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—The senate today approved all provisions of a 19 billion dollar war appropriation bill except a committee amendment to limit profits on war contracts, which may bring a showdown on this highly controversial issue tomorrow.

Sen. Robert A. Taft.

The administration is opposing any rigid statutory limitation on war profits, such as a provision adopted by the house restricting earnings to 6 per cent of the cost of each contract. Such a provision, it is argued, would cause severe hardships in some cases and permit excessive profits in others, while a horde of auditors and accountants would be required to enforce it.

Profits Board Suggested.

To meet these objections and still keep war profits within reasonable limits Sen. Robert A. Taft [R., O.] today offered an amendment to create an administrative profits board, which would determine the proper percentage of profit—within a range of 2 to 10 per cent—to be allowed for each type of contract. The board would be directed to fix such percentage of total cost for each type of contract which, in its opinion, would result in an annual return to the contractors of approximately 5 per cent of their invested capital.

The Taft amendment was offered as a substitute for the committee amendment, which would establish a sliding scale of profit limitations ranging from 10 per cent of the first $100,000 of war contracts down to 2 per cent on all above $50,000,000.

Congressional hearings have demonstrated that flat percentage limitations based on the cost of each contract are not always effective, since costs can be inflated and the volume of turnover determines the annual rate of return. A contractor limited to 6 or even 3 per cent of the cost of each contract might make 50 per cent on his invested capital in one year. For this reason, Senators Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] have advocated a profit limitation system based on invested capital rather than the cost of each contract.

Would Suspend Rules.

A two-thirds vote will be required to suspend the senate rule against adding legislative matter to an appropriation bill before a profit limitation can be adopted in connection with the pending measure.

Sen. Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] served notice today of a motion to suspend the rules for one amendment outlawing the closed shop and another authorizing the President to freeze all prices, wages, rentals, and other rates of compensation for goods and services at the levels existing on any day within the last two years.

At the same time Sen. Joseph O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.] introduced legislation which would provide for federal chartering of interstate corporations, trade associations, and labor unions, limit union initiation fees to $10, require unions to hold annual elections, and provide for independent biennial accountings of union funds.

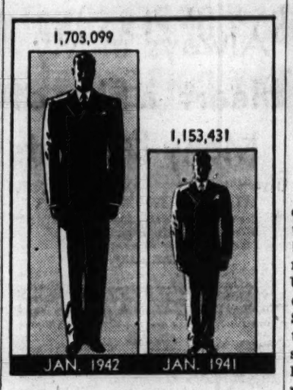

100 Billions Unspent.

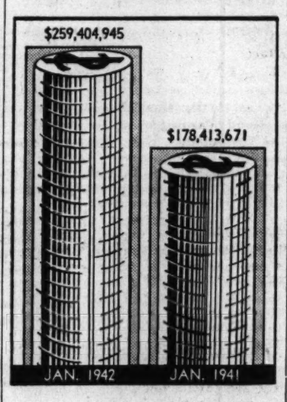

The pending bill, which contains funds for 31,070 additional airplanes and for expanding the army to 3,600,000 men by Dec. 31, will raise the total of appropriations and authorizations for war purposes to more than 160 billion dollars.

Sen. Byrd in a speech, later seconded by Sen. Wayland Brooks [R., Ill.], reminded the senate that the war will not be won by appropriating money. Byrd submitted a statement showing that the pending bill will result in an unexpended backlog of appropriations voted by congress of approximately 100 billion dollars.

"It seems to me that the time must soon come when the congress should ask the agencies in charge of our war program to give some specification as to when these huge sums will be expended," said Sen. Byrd.

U. S. Pay Roll Rises

Civilian employe and pay roll totals in the government's executive branch in January, compared with corresponding figures for January, 1941.

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—Civilian employment in the government's executive branch climbed by another 32,177 persons during January to a record total of 1,703,099, as compared with 1,153,431 in January, 1941.

The increase, the Civil Service commission reported today, occurred despite the postoffice department's drop of 53,564 seasonal employés "and therefore shows a definite expansion due to the war program."

The commission showed that employment in 10 "principal war agencies," such as the war and navy departments, Maritime commission, Panama canal and Tennessee Valley authority, totaled 1,015,981 in January, as compared with 497,354 a year earlier.

The government's regular January pay roll for civilian workers in the executive branch was $259,404,945, compared with $178,413,671 in January, 1941.

MERCURY TAKES A QUICK DIP AND CHICAGO SHIVERS

Chicago's see-saw spring weather brought balmy temperature, then sudden chills yesterday, just as it had done over the Easter week-end. Yesterday at 1 p. m. the official temperature was 69 degrees. But in a few minutes the wind veered from southwest to northeast, where it was cooled by the lake. By 2 p. m. the mercury had dropped to 49 degrees—a decline of 20 degrees. By 3 p. m., it had sunk to 40. Forecaster Gordon Dunn forecast occasional rain today.

CIO AUTO UNION MEETS TO WEIGH DOUBLE PAY BAN

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., April 6.—Two hundred International representatives of the United Automobile Workers [CIO], meeting in closed session tonight, were given an outline of the UAW executive board's proposal that double pay for union members for Sundays and holidays be suspended thru the war's duration. The representatives met amid rumors that adherents of John L. Lewis in the union ranks may try to disrupt the plan.

The representatives are expected to pass along the board's policy to more than a thousand delegates from UAW locals who will attend an open conference tomorrow and Wednesday. The delegates' vote will be the ultimate determination on the proposal and the UAW board, altho looking forward to heated debate, expects to be upheld.

Nelson Opposes Double Time.

Donald M. Nelson, director of the War Production board, has demanded, that double pay be abolished within the limits of the 40 hour week—meaning that a man should not receive the premium wage if his hours on Sunday and holidays are included in the 40 hours he works that week. Time and a half for hours worked over 40 is not affected.

At a meeting in Cleveland, O., on March 28, the UAW executive board stood in favor of Nelson's request but decided that its 530,000 members, thru delegates, should have the final word. At that time it was charged that Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers and former head of the CIO, was using the double time issue in an effort to cause discord in the union.

Confident of Approval.

R. J. Thomas, president of the UAW, said today he was confident the double pay suspension would be approved but added he expected opposition. It was indicated some of the opposition might come from delegates representing 35,000 members of Flint, Mich., locals where the Lewis influence is strong.

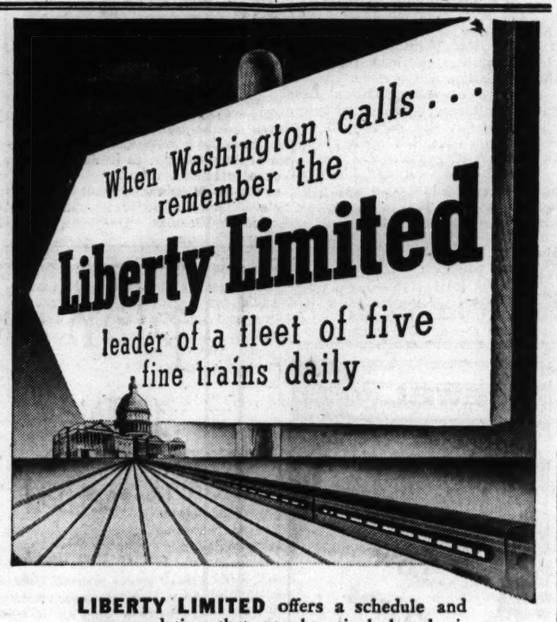

Officials of the Dodge local, with 22,000 members, also announced they were opposed to suspending double pay.

SIX MINE UNION OFFICIALS QUIT POSTS WITH CIO

Denver, Colo., April 6 (AP).—Six officials of the United Mine Workers' union resigned today as regional directors of the CIO because of attacks they said national CIO executive board members and other CIO officials had made on President John L. Lewis of the UMW and on the UMW itself.

In a resolution adopted at a conference, they said attacks on Lewis for a suggestion that the CIO and AFL join forces for the duration of the war were "unfair and warranted."

The regional directors who submitted their resignations to Phillip Murray, president of the CIO, were: Richard Francis, Seattle, who also resigned as subregional SWOC director; William Dalrymple, Portland, Ore.; W. A. Boyle, Billings, Mont.; Frank Hefferly, Denver, Colo.; who also resigned as Colorado SWOC directors; Henry Allai, Pittsburg, Kas., and David Fowler, Muskogee, Okla.

MORAN, PARKER LOSE APPEAL TO BEAT JAIL TERMS

George [Bugs] Moran, prohibition era gang leader, and Frankie Parker, one time airplane bootlegger, yesterday lost their last hope to escape serving a year in the Cook county jail and paying $2,000 fines for conspiracy to forge and pass $62,000 worth of counterfeit express money orders.

The United States Supreme court refused to review their appeal which was based on a contention that they had been placed in double jeopardy. They were acquitted of an indictment charging a substantive offense, and convicted on a second indictment charging conspiracy.

A jury in the Criminal court of Juge James F. Fardy found the pair guilty April 30, 1939, and Judge Fardy pronounced sentence May 11, 1939. The case was carried thru the Appellate court and the State Supreme court, both of which upheld the jury's finding.

Friend of the Yanks

BY CLAY GOWRAN.

[The Friend of the Yanks department will answer questions about the draft and military service, both in the daily columns and personally if stamped, self-addressed envelopes are sent with the queries. Persons are asked to keep their letters short because of the volume of mail.]

ALIMONY FROM MEN IN SERVICE.

In the last few weeks this department has received more than 20 letters from estranged or divorced wives of men about to enter military service. These wives all ask the same questions: "What happens to my alimony when my husband joins up? Will the government force him to pay me?"

Court Orders Not Recognized.

The armed forces say they have no legal means of serving as a collection agency in such matters, nor can they legally force their men to continue such payments.

"Court orders or forms of other civil debt statements are not recognized," it was stated. "The armed forces expect their members to pay just debts, but will not act as the collection agency."

Arrangement May Be Sought.

A spokesman declared that, in justifiable cases, men refusing to continue payments are called in by their superior officers for a conference with a view to making some arrangement fair to both the wife and husband. However, these conferences are unofficial; the man cannot be forced to pay.

It was pointed out that it obviously is impossible for most men entering service at $21 a month to maintain their old rate of payments, even if they wished.

[Tomorrow: Army Personnel Placement Agency.]

QUESTIONS.

Mrs. E. Z. K. writes: "My husband is in 3-A. He applied for admittance to an aircraft night school and the representatives from the school were given permission by my husband's local board to enroll him. Would he be inducted before he finished his course and, if so, would he be given a higher ranking because of his aircraft training?"

ANSWER: As your husband's draft board has approved this schooling, he very likely will be permitted to complete the training. However, if he should be inducted he would enter service as a private.

G. M. P. writes: "I have been placed in 1-A, but have been deferred for six months because my wife is going to have a baby. If my board will not defer me further at the end of that time may I still appeal my case?"

ANSWER: If your board has placed you in 1-A and then given you a six months' deferment this is an improper procedure. Once a man is in 1-A his board may give him at the most only 120 days' deferment and this only in cases of extreme hardship. Regarding your appeal rights you must appeal within 10 days after receiving notice of your 1-A classification. You will not be permitted to appeal at the end of the six months.

E. W. C. asks: "Is a single man 39 years old, who would be classed 1-A otherwise, entitled to deferment because he is a civilian radio instructor at an army base?"

ANSWER: He is not entitled to automatic deferment because of his occupation. If his employer considers him a necessary, irreplaceable man the employer may ask his local draft board to grant an occupational deferment.

SERVICE MEN'S PICTURES.

Don't forget to send in the pictures of your son or husband who is serving in the armed forces. Chicago and suburban families are requested to send recent photographs of their fighting men, preferably in uniform, to the Friend of the Yanks department, Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower. Also send along with the photographs information about them—their age, home address, civilian occupation, marital status, military unit and rank, and their last known military station. Pictures and data will not be returned but will be kept in Tribune files.

VANDALISM CASE CONTINUED; 6TH SUSPECT SOUGHT

Burglary charges against Leonard Kozak, 18 years old, 4739 South Keeler avenue, arrested with four other young men in connection with vandalism in the Edwards elementary school, 4815 South Karlov avenue, were continued to Friday by Judge Charles Dougherty in Boys' court yesterday.

The continuance was asked by Police Lieut. William Husar, who said he was trying to connect a sixth person with the case.

Illinois Federation to Sponsor Army and Navy Officers Club

BY IRENE STEYSKAL.

The Illinois Federation of Woman's Clubs has accepted the invitation of the amusements and recreation division of the Chicago Commission on National Defense to be the sponsor organization for a new army and navy officers' club, which is to be housed in the Steuben building at 188 West Randolph street.

This was disclosed yesterday by Mrs. Thomas Clyne, president of the 1st district of the federation, at the annual meeting of her organization in the Hotel Sherman. Mrs. Clyne's announcement was the first public statement concerning either the club or the federation's sponsorship.

That the federation was highly pleased with its new rôle was revealed, unofficially, by one of the state leaders, several other women's organizations, she confided, had been eager to take the new officers' club under their wing, but the federation was chosen because of its solid reputation for being "safe and sane" in all its undertakings.

As president of the state federation, Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw of Eldorado will be honorary chairman of the new venture, Mrs. Clyne told the 1st district women, and Mrs. Richard M. McClure, state program chairman, has accepted the active chairmanship. Mrs. McClure will have as her assistants Mrs. William T. Bruckner, Illinois director of the general federation, and state national defense chairman; Mrs. Arthur W. Nelson, and Mrs. Roy A. Winser, Mrs. Clyne stated.

The first 10 districts of the federation, the districts of Chicago and the immediate vicinity, will supply hostesses for the new club, Mrs. Clyne said, and the 1st district has agreed to alternate with the 9th in doing hostess duty at the club on Tuesday nights. The presidents of the 10 districts will act as an advisory committee to Mrs. McClure and her group, Mrs. Clyne explained.

Three women were elected at the meeting yesterday to fill vacancies in office occurring in the district organization at the close of the season: First vice president, Mrs. John R. Lend, formerly defense chairman; recording secretary, Mrs. George Thompson, former chairman on international relations, and treasurer, Mrs. George S. Mandeville, former motion pictures chairman.

Mrs. Elsie McDonnell, past president of the Half Century Civic club, and Mrs. James Johnson, past president of the Women's Progressive club, were elected directors to serve two years.

Women in War Work . . . . By India Moffett

[The Women in War Work department reports on women's activities in war and defense work and will answer questions of women wishing to take part in these activities.]

Workers and friends of the army division of Bundles for America celebrated Army day, after watching the parade, by attending a tea that formally opened the offices of the division at 424 South Michigan avenue. The chief hostess, Mrs. Millard F. Kennedy, was not on hand to welcome the guests until after 4 o'clock, for she was at the Union station supervising the distribution of 2,000 kits to boys in khaki. Mrs. Kennedy is chairman of the army division. Mrs. John P. Cohane, president of the "mother" organization, arrived shortly after the opening hour—3 o'clock—but dashed away in a rush, when she learned where Mrs. Kennedy was, to offer her services in the emergency.

Mrs. Millard F. Kennedy.

The offices, which used to be the Findlay galleries, still have pictures on the walls, upstairs and down, but downstairs one sees maps and generals' faces. Upstairs in the workroom there is an exhibition of paintings lent by the United American Artists' union. The generals are those who have served as commandants of the 6th corps area since World War I., plus Gen. George C. Marshall, chief of staff, and Gen. Douglas MacArthur, commander in chief of the united nations' armies in the western Pacific. Mrs. William H. Hubbard, who collected the pictures and maps, was given Gen. MacArthur's picture by the public service bureau of THE TRIBUNE.

Among those who poured at the tea party were Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Frank J. Loesch, Mrs. Frederic Burnham, Mrs. William G. Morgan, Mrs. Morgan Jr., and Mrs. William J. Wagner, all workers for the organization. The army division of Bundles for America has a three fold purpose: To provide kits for soldiers, and to supply old and new clothes and layettes for their families. Bundles for Bluejackets is the navy division of Bundles for America and does a similar work to the army division but with sailors and their families as its beneficiaries.

Mrs. Cohane reports that there are 50 units in this area producing knitted garments and raising money for kits. Business women members of the Downers Grove unit, of which Mrs. Sam Jacobs is chairman, has made miniature comfort kits in which to collect donations at their various offices.

Mrs. James Cook, chairman of the Lake Forest unit, reports that some of her members knit garments every day in the Little Wool shop in Lake Forest. The Grand Rapids, Mich., unit has opened booths in three leading department stores where members collect money for wool and comfort kits.

The Fox River Valley unit lists 180 members from Geneva, St. Charles, and Batavia. Mrs. Arthur Farwell, chairman, reports that the unit meets from 10 to 4 o'clock every day on the lower floor of Robin's Book store.

The Evanston group, which has 397 members, is busy raising funds to buy material for layettes which are distributed at the request of army and navy chaplains. Miss Marjorie Hair is chairman of the naval division and Mrs. J. T. Montgomery the army division.

The Central Eleanor club group, headed by Miss Nell V. Field, chairman, and Miss Marcia Loomis, co-chairman, meets every Tuesday night to knit. Money for the yarn is collected in coin boxes distributed in offices and clubs.

A ball for the benefit of Bundles for Bluejackets [the naval division of Bundles for America] will be held in the Crystal ballroom of the Edgewater Beach hotel on Saturday, April 18. The affair is sponsored by the Delta Gamma unit of Northwestern university, and Mrs. Edwin C. Lennox, vice president of the unit, is in charge.

The entertainment program will include special dancing by a chorus of Delta Gammas, plus several games. Tickets are available at Bundles for Bluejackets' headquarters, 333 North Michigan avenue.

"Women's War Work for Victory" is the title of a leaflet issued by the Woman's league of the University of Illinois which summarizes women's war activities on the campus. In a brief glance any undergraduate could get several ideas for participation in the nation's war effort. Perhaps others can profit from it, too.

The first paragraph stresses one of this department's favorite war topics, "salvage and conservation." It reads: "Each student house has been asked to appoint a salvage for victory chairman. Every individual student should be a committee of one to salvage waste materials. Save fats, metals, rubber, waste paper, collapsible tubes, tinfoil, woolen goods. Your salvage chairman should arrange for materials to be collected by authorized agencies. Get in the scrap!"

Among possible channels for contributions of money or service the leaflet lists savings stamps and bonds, the Red Cross, blood plasma bank, cookies for rookies, and the Victory Book campaign.

Particularly for students are the paragraphs on vocational placement, training for wartime activities, and new classes for credit. The office of the dean of women provides information on the placement of college women in defense industries and in government service. Groups are studying fire fighting, air raid protection, the handling of rifles, care and repair of motor vehicles, emergency and canteen feeding, nutrition, the conservation of food and clothing.

Wartime subjects listed for credit include first aid, nurses' aides, home nursing, background and problems of the war, economic problems of the defense program, Chinese culture, Latin American civilization, wartime communications and censorship, and home economics in community programs for the emergency.

Since Chanute field is located near the university, women students are urged to coöperate in soldier entertainment.

As one of its wartime contributions in behalf of better health among Negroes, the Tuberculosis institute of Chicago and Cook county is sponsoring a series of classes in first aid, home nursing and care of the sick, and foods and nutrition in various communities. Teachers from the Red Cross and WPA groups are in charge of the classes organized by Mrs. Florence C. Williams, institute director of health education for Negroes.

Classes in foods are being held in the Baptist Missionary Training school, 30th street and Vernon avenue; the Metropolitan Community church, 41st street and South Park way; the Garden Community center, 3723 Giles avenue; South Side Settlement house, 3201 South Wabash avenue, and the Wayman church, Cleveland avenue and Elm street. The first aid classes are under way in the Metropolitan Community church, the YMCA, 38th street and Wabash avenue, and the Coppins chapel, 5633 Michigan avenue. A home nursing class will begin April 15 at Madden park, 38th street and Rhodes avenue, and others are being held in the Metropolitan Community church, the Washington park fieldhouse, 56th street and South Park way, and the Good Shepherd Community center, 51st street and South Park way.

Good Morning!

"Co-starring Kay Francis and Walter Huston."

How nice to see that phrase on a screen and to watch Kay Francis play a rôle that's worthy of her!

"Always in My Heart" is a charming little picture, which, besides doing right by Miss Francis, introduces a new and most pleasing young singing star, Gloria Warren, who comes to solace us for the lack of attention we've been getting lately from those young marrieds, Judy Garland, Kathryn Grayson, and Deanna Durbin.

Gloria is 15, with a voice which Mr. Barry and not I should be writing about. Anyhow, she has a rich, lovely soprano and most astonishing poise. . . . Voice culture does that for a child, I guess. . . . Gloria Jean—youngest of all the girl singers—is remarkable for the same thing.

This Gloria and Frankie Thomas are seen as the children of divorced parents. . . . Their father—a fine musician—they believe to be dead. . . . Really he's in the penitentiary for a crime he didn't commit. . . . The divorce—and the death story—were at his insistence, for he loved his children too well to shadow their lives. . . .

And now—Mrs. Scott is about to marry Philip Ames, a wealthy man who she knows will send her boy to college and provide amply for her daughter's musical education. . . .

Scott, about to be paroled, learns of this and doesn't tell her of his prospective freedom. . . . Unknown to her, however, he locates in the neighborhood, and, under another name, meets his children and unobtrusively gains their confidence. . . . Everything works out as I think you'd like to have it. . . .

The film, while not great, is interesting and excellently acted and directed. . . . It has quite a bit of surprise and suspense to offer, too.

For her debut rôle in the piece Gloria sings four songs—the aria, "Uno Voce Poco Fa" from "The Barber of Seville"; "Carnival of Venice," "Vieni Sul Mar," and the theme song—"Always in My Heart."

See you tomorrow.

Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, Cal., April 6.—Walt Disney, under a new RKO contract, will step up his production of shorts to one every two weeks—and this means that the Silly Symphonies are coming back. The Symphonies have been mourned by all us Disney nuts ever since they were dropped. . . . Many of Walt's new comedies will have familiar characters in South American backgrounds. . . . "Life with Father" has contributed a lot to to the movies, even if Oscar Serlin won't sell the play. Two of Oscar's young actors, Theresa Wright and Richard Ney, figure prominently in Metro's "Mrs. Miniver," and now a third, Raymond Roe, becomes the cadet in Ginger Rogers' "The Major and the Minor." Raymond, 16, bestows a puppyish peck on Miss Rogers, who's masquerading as a child.

Walt Disney.

Kissing Ginger seems to be darn near fatal in this picture. The first boy who did the scene broke his leg shortly after, and couldn't continue with the rest of the rôle. A second one was engaged, and soon after the smack he fetched a case of measles and had to quit. Roe has reshot the scene, and so far nothing has happened to him.

Albert Dekker, long a heavy, gets his first heroic rôle in Paramount's "Wake Island." The credit card on this movie, incidentally, will say, "Original story by the U. S. Marines." . . . "Funniest case of coals to Newcastle I ever heard of, this shipping Orson Welles and company to Rio de Janeiro," gagged a cynic the other night. "Imagine sending nuts to Brazil!"

On the set of "The Pied Piper" the other day Monty Wooley, justifiably proud of having created the rôle of the "Man Who Came to Dinner," said he didn't mind some others playing it, Clifton Webb particularly—but he had always resented Alexander Woollcott doing it. Resented it ever since Woollcott caught an early performance and wired friends, "Have just seen 'Hamlet' without Hamlet."

Betty Grable's never been married in a movie. She became the bride of Ty Power in "A Yank in the RAF," but the scene was left in the cutting room. Now she's to wed John Payne in "Footlight Serenade"—which, last time I heard of the thing, was called "Strictly Dynamite." . . . Julius Tannen, like Harry Rosenthal, has appeared in all Preston Sturges' films—and gets a part in "Triumph Over Pain." . . . Pat O'Brien wants to spend a couple of weeks between pictures entertaining colored troops in Montana, Wyoming, and Idaho camps.

Ever since Hollywood began to quit thinking things up out of its own pretty head in favor of trying to be accurate, there have been technical advisers on pictures. Today there are more than ever before.

Brod Crawford had a retired safe-and-loft cop teach him how to blow a safe in "Butch Minds the Baby."

One of the most imposing of Hollywood's chartered experts is Jamiel Hasson, a big Arabian. Hasson has been adviser on such flickers as "Under Two Flags" and "Ali Baba Goes to Town" and he's currently master minding the Crosby-Lamour-Hope "Road to Morocco." As I reported recently, Frank Butler and Don Hartman, authors of the "Road" series, don't care a hoot about accuracy. Their yarns are all dream stuff and are kept that way. But the studio makes costumes and decor as real as it can—and that's where Hasson comes in. . . . Hasson and five brothers were drafted in the Turkish cavalry in the model T war, and Jamiel deserted to the British and became an intelligence officer.

Many of Hollywood's technical men have life stories that would make scenarios. Hasson, for instance. Or John Reasin, leader of several scientific expeditions to the South seas and up the Amazon. He has worked recently on "The Tuttles of Tahiti" and "Son for Fury." His wife, Purea Vehiatua, is a Polynesian princess.

Catholic Educators Open 39th Annual Convention Today

Archbishop Samuel A. Stritch will officially open the 39th annual convention of the National Catholic Educational association at 10:30 o'clock this morning at the Stevens hotel. The Most Rev. John B. Peterson of New Hampshire, president general of the association, will preside.

A letter of congratulation from President Roosevelt to be read before the 5,000 Catholic educators, cites freedom of education as a parallel to freedom of conscience.

"We must defend this birthright against every totalitarian and pagan assault and to that end we have pledged every resource of man power, money, and materiel, and will fight shoulder to shoulder with lovers of freedom wherever freedom is assailed," the latter reads.

Educational exhibits opened yesterday in Exhibition hall, and will be continued thruout the convention.

plan for PAINLESS REDUCING!

1. This simple method

Every day, eat less than usual.

(Don't starve yourself. Just cut down enough to cause your body gradually to "burn up" its excess fat. Your scales will tell you when this is happening.)

Plus:

2. Drinking KNOX GELATINE

Drink 1 envelope Knox in water or unsweetened fruit juice, 1 hour before lunch; again 1 hour before dinner.

(This helps stave off hunger pangs. You come to the table without that "all-gone," starved feeling. It also helps supply part of your daily protein requirement.)

Directions for drinking Knox in every package

Stop feeling "washed out" from reducing. Tide yourself over those empty hours between meals...keep from wanting to load up at the table by following the plan above. You see, Knox is all protein...has no sugar and only 28 calories an envelope. It contains 7 of the 10 essential protein parts...an easy way to help get the liberal protein intake that aids in keeping up stamina! Tuck Knox in your purse or pocket. Order it from your grocer in the 4-envelope package or extra-economical 32-envelope size.

More help for dieters! Low-calorie, delicious desserts and salads. Write for "Be Fit—Not Fat" recipe booklet. FREE! Knox Gelatine Co., Johnstown, N. Y., Dept. 4.

SMITTY—HAPPY DAZE?

Smelt Carnival to Be Attraction Next Week-End

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALMOST any method of catching fish except with rod and reel is used during the smelt run every April in Michigan and Wisconsin. During the two weeks that these small, silvery fish go up river to spawn, tons of them are hauled out of streams every night. The eighth annual smelt carnival will be in progress in Marinette, Wis., and Menominee, Mich., considered the smelt center of the nation, from Friday thru Sunday. The Escanaba carnival will be held on Saturday.

It's the smelt run at Boyne City, Mich., that provided consolation to Mrs. L. Edward Hart Jr. for moving to her summer home in Harbor Point, Mich., last week. It's too early for other Chicagoans who have homes there to be going north, but Mrs. Hart expects Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Otis Jr. of South Bend, Ind., to come and stay with her during the smelt run. Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Pierce Jr. and Edgar Hill will go up for the run, too, leaving on Saturday. They will spend a week at "The Point."

Fishing is done at night, with huge bonfires along the streams for warmth and conviviality. The fishermen carry lanterns to aid them in hauling in their catches, and usually they get enough fish to take care of all their friends and the entire neighborhood in just a few minutes. Lieut. Hart will not be present to join in the sport—which is more like a jamboree—as he has departed for the south to serve with the army.

Virginia Melody Becomes Bride in Arizona Today.

These are days of surprises, but when a man in the navy receives his orders a wedding is very apt to occur. From Phoenix, Ariz., comes word that altho Virginia Melody and George Carey have been engaged for some time it wasn't until yesterday afternoon that they decided to be married today.

It will be a small afternoon wedding in the garden of Mme. Jessie Benton at Jokake Inn, followed by a reception for a few intimate friends given by Mr. and Mrs. Wirt Morton at their home in Arcadia. The bride doubtless will follow the old adage of "something old, something new, something borrowed, something blue," but at the present moment clothes are of least importance. The friends and neighbors are in packing and arranging the details of the wedding, for Mr. Carey will leave with his bride tomorrow for New York, where he will await his orders.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Ruth Melody, formerly of Highland Park and recently of Jokake, Ariz. She attended Mrs. Faulkner's school in Chicago and later was graduated from Pine Manor. She is a member of the Chicago Junior league. Mr. Carey is from New York and is the son of Mrs. Frederick Foster Carey and the late Mr. Carey of Tuxedo Park. He is a graduate of Harvard, the class of '24, and a member of the Fly club.

Jane Haskins Engaged to Lieut. John A. Adair

An interesting engagement announcement is one that Mrs. Paul R. Haskins of Highland Park is making. It concerns her daughter, Jane, and Lieut. John A. Adair, son of Mrs. Douglass G. Adair of Mobile, Ala. Miss Haskins attended Miss Madiera's school and was graduated from the Finch school in New York. Her fiancé, who is in the navy and stationed in Chicago, lives with a group of young bachelors at the Log House in Highland Park. He came to Chicago to work in 1937 after he had been graduated from the Harvard business school. He attended the University of the South at Sewanee, Tenn.

Since Mrs. Fuller Mitchell's recent visits to Chicago have been brief ones, her friends here are delighted that she is planning to spend the summer in her former home. Mrs. Mitchell and her four children, Marjorie, Nancy, Ann, and Peter, arrived yesterday from their home in Santa Barbara, Cal. With the exception of Marjorie, who is leaving today for Miss Porter's school in Farmington, Conn., they will be at the Ambassador for 10 days. Later in the month they'll go out to Libertyville to be with Mrs. Mitchell's sister, Mrs. King Mitchell, on her farm.

Both Army and Navy Claim Children of Leeds Mitchell.

The Leeds Mitchells' personal interest, in the war will be divided from now on between the army and navy, for Mr. Mitchell's children have been claimed by the two services. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Leeds Mitchell Jr., will leave for California, where young Mr. Mitchell expects to re-

At Rehearsal for Annual South Shore Follies

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Miss Barbara Grubb and her brother, Joel F. Grubb Jr., were photographed at a rehearsal for the annual South Shore Follies in which she will take part. This will be the first year in some time that young Mr. Grubb has not been in the Follies, but he is a cadet in the aviation corps now and has no time for anything so frivolous as the Follies. He recently spent a day with his family. The Follies will be given on next Friday and Saturday.

Thru the Looking Glass

A new powder probably is the answer to that feeling women have at this time of year that something is amiss with their springtime faces. The shade that was fine all winter doesn't flatter as it did, and it's a bright woman who gets busy selecting a new one.

A firm whose products are well established with women has introduced a new face powder especially suited for springtime needs. Complexions are quite likely to be rough and uneven after the months of harsh winter weather and require a powder that will not flake and stand out against the skin. The new product is treated with a special emollient agent that takes away the drying tendency of untreated powder. This treatment gives it a wonderfully soft and silky feeling that makes the powder a pleasure to wear.

A pasty or masklike look has no place in the present complexion picture. The effect to strive for is one of complete naturalness, with a healthful and radiant skin tone the predominant note. This new powder achieves lightness but maintains a maximum adherence. It's a powder that lets you forget about a shiny nose and whether you ought to slap a little more on every five minutes.

The fragrance of the powder is as appealing as the pretty nosegay of flowers that decorates its container, and there are six perfectly blended shades from which to make your selection. One of them is a special blend that is suitable for a good many complexions, especially for those in the medium class.

Air Hero to Close Lecture Program for Canadian Club

The Canadian Club of Chicago has announced that it will present Wing Comm. E. A. McNab, royal Canadian air force liaison officer with the United States army air corps in Seattle, Wash., as the speaker in the closing program of its "World's Intrepid Adventurers" series at the Medinah club Thursday night.

A color film, "Canada, Bowstring of Victory," will be shown in conjunction with the lecture. The film, produced by Canfield Cook, a member of the club, in coöperation with the National Film board at Ottawa, presents the dominion's plan of fighter pilot training.

McNab's exploits as commanding officer of fighter squadron No. 1 in the battle of Britain won him the distinguished flying cross. He was sent back to Canada so that the air schools might have the benefit of his combat experience.

Alumnae Club Meeting.

The Chicago alumnae club of the University of Chicago will hold its annual meeting at a luncheon on April 18 at the Arts club.

Engagements

At a tea recently in their home in Kenilworth, Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Jordan announced the engagement of their daughter, Mary Lois, to Corp. Thomas B. Sweenie, son of Mrs. Margaret Sweenie of Chicago. Miss Jordan was graduated from the Roycemore School for Girls and St. Mary-of-the-Woods college. Corp. Sweenie, who attended De Paul university, is stationed with the army at a southern post.

Mrs. Joseph H. Jones of Kimbark avenue announces the engagement of her daughter, Mary Grace, to Hugh M. Middleton, son of Mrs. J. Burke Middleton of Chicago. Miss Jones, a graduate of the National College of Education and the University of Chicago, is teaching in Manitowoc, Wis. Her fiancé is a graduate of Earlham college and is in business in New York City.

Public Welfare Meeting.

Solomon Gives Beethoven Bill Unusual Beauty

BY EDWARD BARRY.

They may all be down with the croup this morning, those people who defied last night's atrocious weather and flocked to the Eighth Street theater for the all-Beethoven program, but they have the memory of a fine performance of the fourth symphony to cheer them up. Izler Solomon and the Illinois Symphony orchestra quite outdid themselves.

That the Beethoven revealed in the fourth symphony is not the heaven storming Beethoven of the third and the fifth does not mean that the work is easy to play. On the contrary, this resposeful, infinitely refined music demands a purity and transparency of tone and a serenity of contour which are inordinately hard to achieve.

It demands, also, if it is not to die on its feet, flexibility of movement and variety of tone [all within strict bounds]. This difficult effect of diversity in unity was, like the two mentioned above, ably achieved by Mr. Solomon and the orchestra.

The violin concerto was presented with Fritz Siegal as soloist. Altho the performance was highly praiseworthy in many respects, one may doubt whether Mr. Siegal has yet arrived at a fully correct conception of the work. It seemed to this listener that he did not have quite the tranquil, contemplative attitude necessary to the projection of music so self-contained and undramatic. Often there was something a little theatrical in his phrasing, a little lush in his tone quality.

The program held also the "Prometheus" overture and the 12 country dances. These latter, which are very seldom heard, were set forth gaily and effectively.

Nicolai Malko, Russian born conductor now teaching in Chicago, will be the director of the Woman's Symphony orchestra next season, it was announced yesterday by Mrs. James G. Shakman, president of the orchestra's governing board. It was also revealed that the orchestra closed its last season with a deficit of $2.31.

$100 Is Bequeathed to Camp Algonquin by Miss Sue Prickett

Several additional underprivileged children and mothers will get out into the fresh air in the open country this summer because a little old lady, who died March 28, thought of them. She was Miss Sue D. Prickett, 86 years old, of Kenwood.

Yesterday the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., received a check for $100 from her nephew, Attorney Stanley Rich, 231 South La Salle street, in accordance with her will. In the will, Miss Prickett made a specific bequest in that amount to the Camp Algonquin fund. This fund helps maintain the United Charities' summer camp for the underprivileged at Algonquin.

Miss Prickett was born in Chicago, a daughter of George W. Prickett, first white child born in Edwardsville, Ill., and an early Chicago manufacturer. She was long interested in charity, and in her will also left sums for the Cathedral Shelter and the Country Home for Convalescent Children.

Front VIEWS and PROFILES

BY MARCIA WINN

An Afternoon with Miss Sally.

Little Rock, Ark., April 6.—"Well," Miss Sally began, crossing her hands in her capacious lap and gazing out across her wide porch to the cypress dotted bayou across the highway, "a nice Easter. Not like the one a few years ago when I went to my last Easter sunrise service. It was very cold and the wind roared thru that stadium, or whatever they call it. They served coffee and doughnuts free on the side, and a lot of people came. They dropped bouquets from airplanes, and the governor spoke, and the chief of police spoke, and a lot of other people that had nothing to do with religion spoke, and when all the speeches was over, the head man said, 'We have taken up so much time now that we won't have time for the religious ceremony.' So they didn't."

"Now," with a glint of cunning in her old eyes, "I can reminisce or I can be just as funny up to date. There was an old lady here once, and she was prissy, prim, and precise. She had a son named Tom. He married twice. First time he married his cousin. They all married kinfolks. Once I said to her, 'Why didn't you save Tommy for me?' She looked at me and said, very slow, 'Why, nobody would have had Tommy that knew him.'

". . . He was the nicest gentleman, but just the poorest doctor. He brought more sickly babies into the world than any one in town. Once his wife said to me, 'I wouldn't talk gossip. There's nothing in the world would make me, but, O, how I do love to hear it.'

"I hear the Episcopal minister worked MacArthur into the service again. Seems people'd get tired of it, but somehow it affords us a powerful lot of amusement. . . . strange. They found MacArthur's baptismal certificate, you know, and he had more sponsors than most people. He had three women and two men. Maybe that's why he turned up so well.

"Some people swear he wasn't born in the arsenal. He was born behind it. I used to drive by that arsenal with my father when I was a child on the way to the farm. I used to hide in the back seat for fear the soldiers would shoot me. There's one person could tell you for sure because she was born right there, right across the street, and in all her life she has never left that one block. She says she remembers seeing an army wife drive by in a phaeton with two little boys. Possibly the MacArthurs.

"The 21st Iowa were a terrible lot. Old Uncle John—he was the Winston's grandfather—took his colored folks to Texas. My mother said he looked older during the Civil war than he did 20 years later. He let his beard grow so long. He had one peculiarity. He could never stand the sight of blood. He said to his colored folks, 'Now you go peaceably and quietly, and I'll bring you back after the war.' And he did. . . . So Uncle John came home, and the 21st Iowa was here.

"One day they came to him and said, 'Old man, you've been slippin' your colored people off to Texas, and we're going to hang you.' But they didn't. . . . Well, long after the war he kept running into the man who was head of the 21st Iowa, and this man one day stopped him and said, 'Why is it you always look just straight thru me?' And Uncle John said, 'If I had come to your house and put a rope around your neck, you wouldn't like me, either.' So they sat down and said, 'The war's over. Let's go out and have a drink.' And they did."

"Well," and Miss Sally leaned back in gurgles of merriment. "I've given you enough stories for a month, but did I ever tell you about the time old Mrs. Straight decided to meet her neighbors? . . . Most of the people that came out here wasn't rich, but they was. They had gold goblets and gold cutlery and a cook called Aunt Chastine that they brought all the way here with them. They'd lived right there for years, married to everybody, and didn't know anybody to speak to. So she gave a big dinner, 12 o'clock sharp, and every woman in the county came, and every woman had on a black silk dress. My cousin told me never was the White House more formal, and they just sat and asked about each other's health. Finally they sat down to eat, and one woman got so agitated she spilled a glass of water, and it was very humiliating to her, but every one else was mighty grateful."

SYNOPSIS.

Dave Wallace, investigating the death of Tip Macy, runs into trouble. Ed Seegrist, Chevron cattle hand, and Arnie Chance, Chevron foreman, claim Tip died in a blizzard. When Dave first asked Ed about Tip's death, Ed directed him to waterless tanks in the dessert where he almost perished before a stage picked him up and took him into Vermillion. Arriving in Vermillion, on the same stage with Beth Hilliard, part owner of Chevron, Dave beats Ed up and is ordered out of town by Sheriff Sam Kinsley. Dave goes to Hilliard, where he beats Ed up again. Learning that Martha, Tip's widow, is at Chevron, Dave goes there and gets into a shooting scrape with Arnie and Ed. Jess Gove, Beth's partner, admits Tip was murdered, but Jess claims it was by cattle thieves at the Boundary Line camp and that a note found with Tip's body proved he was in with the thieves. Jess refuses to let Dave talk to Martha, saying he hushed up the murder to save her humiliation. Beth trusts Jess and believes him when he tells her the hard winter killed most of their cattle and to save her from poverty he will buy her share in Chevron with borrowed money. But Dave, old Ives, friend of Beth's father, Con Buckley, saloon keeper, and Pete Framm, new Chevron cattle hand, all distrust Jess. Ives borrows money from Buckley, gives it to Dave, and promises to arrange a meeting with Dave and Martha if Dave will outbid Jess for Beth's property. Dave learns from Martha that Tip had started out for Seco camp the day he was murdered instead of the Boundary Line camp. Jess and Arnie, determined to get rid of Dave, frame him by having Arnie shoot Ed's horse out from under him and seriously injuring him, laying the blame on Dave. When Dave arrives to outbid Jess for Beth's property, Kinsley arrests him for attempted murder. Tom Hyam witnessed the frameup, but he testifies falsely, then blackmails Jess. Jess and Arnie again frame Dave by slipping a gun to him with a message that Ed has died. Dave escapes and after his escape Arnie kills Ed, making it appear that Dave was the murderer. Martha, threatened by Arnie for what she told Dave, takes refuge with Pete and old Ives. Dave is still determined to buy Beth's property for Ives, as Beth talked to him while he was in jail and promised to accept his offer.

INSTALMENT XXXII.

DARING FETE.

Dave rammed the gun back in his waistband and then looked at the three of them. "If they're after me, we'd better haul out of this camp. Martha, you spoke of the shack where you and Tip lived. Where is it?"

"Over by the reservation, southeast of Vermillion."

"That's our meeting place," Dave said. "Pete, you and Martha better line for it tonight. I'll pick up Ives tomorrow and meet you, and then we'll have a look at Seco camp."

To Ives he said, "Where does Con sleep?"

"Over his saloon. There's a back stairs."

Pete said soberly, "I'm pretty good at holdin' a horse in the dark, Dave."

"Not tonight."

Dave raised a hand and went out into the darkness.

Ives watched him go, and when he was gone, Ives tried to recall what Dave had said that made him believe the plan was possible. He couldn't recall one concrete fact; there was nothing, except a kind of calm, dogged insistence that he could dodge a bunch of angry men under an implacable sheriff to talk with a girl who had every reason in the world to despise him.

Pete, watching Ives' expression, said gently, "He makes pretty big tracks, old timer."

"That big?" Ives asked seriously. Pete just nodded.

• • •

Dave had his look from the canyon rim above Hilliard, and what he saw below puzzled him. The Olympus was dark, and there were only a few windows lighted in the hotel. The tie-rails were empty, and Rollins' store was dark. From seventy feet above town, he could barely make out the lone street below him. This wasn't the fever of preparation that Ives had implied. Had the posse left already?

A deep hardbought knowledge of trouble told him to go slowly, and look the town over carefully again. He was going down; that he knew. For if Gove had timed this all so well, then he would not stop now. What he wanted was Chevron, and quickly, and he would try to get it quickly. If Beth Hilliard believed Dave guilty of Seegrist's murder, her revulsion against him would put her in the frame of mind to sell Chevron to Gove. Dave didn't believe she would, and he wondered at the faith he had in this girl. He had to make sure, tho.

He circled back to the wagon road and put his horse down the grade into town. Even the stable was dark, the usual night hostler's lantern absent. He put his horse across the road and down into the Little Dun, and slowly walked him up stream until he was behind the Olympus.

He dismounted on the bank, and led the horse up it and haltered him on the ashstrewn shelf of earth between the stream and the saloon's back door. The outside stairway to the half-story above the barroom lay beyond the door, and he mounted it slowly, putting his weight down gently on each step.

At the door at the head of the stairs, he hesitated, hand on knob. Then he stepped inside quickly.

"Who's that?" Buckley asked.

"Wallace."

A match wiped across the floor and flared up and Dave saw Con Buckley, reared up on one elbow, holding the match above his head. Con's great bulk was turned sideways in his sagging bed. He was lying atop the blankets, his shirt off and his massive arms almost splitting the seams of his underwear shirt.

When he saw it was really Dave, alarm leaped into his face. He heaved himself to a sitting position and plucked the chimney off the lamp on the table by his bedside. When he'd lighted the lamp, he said in a low voice, "How quick can you get out of here?"

"I'm here to see Beth Hilliard."

Con said dryly, "The hotel's jammed to the roof with the gang beatin' the brush up from Vermillion. My barroom is sleepin' fifteen on the floor. Kinsley's at the hotel, and the town's so mad he had to close my saloon to keep away from the booze."

"Gove in town?"

Con nodded.

"Then I've got to see Beth Hilliard."

Con said, half in anger, "Are you deaf? You can't do it. She's in the hotel."

"What room?"

Con swore blisteringly, and Dave waited him out with a deep patience. Con ended bitterly, "You're crowdin' your luck, even bein' in the country."

"Ives said you'd help me," Dave prodded.

"Help you," Con said in a low tone, "Hell, does Ives think I can raise the dead? I can kill you, all right, if I let you go near the hotel."

Dave said in a faintly hostile voice, "You backed your play with fifteen thousand dollars, Buckley. And I'm liable to queer it for you unless I know if Beth Hilliard believes I killed Seegrist. If she does, she'll sell out tomorrow to Gove."

Buckley regarded him in silence, seeing the truth in what he said. He said morosely, "I talked to her and tried to pin her down. But I couldn't without making her and Gove suspicious."

"You see, I've got to find out."

Con rubbed his bald head fretfully, and stared at the lamp, a deep pessimism in his face. He glanced at Dave then and sighed. "All right."

"Where's her room?"

"The first one off the head of the stairs. What can I do to help you?"

"Nothing."

"Yeah, nothing," Con said softly, bitterly. He looked at Dave now, his eyes sad. "I'm an old man, Wallace, and I'm fat and afraid. I'm lettin' you do what I ought to be doin', and then I tell you you can't do it." He shook his head slowly, and his great jowls swung back and forth. "There was a time," he said bleakly, "when I'd have stood up to Gove and fought him. But I'm too fat, too old." He looked up at Dave. "I won't hold you to it, Dave. Ives won't either. But you're going, aren't you?"

Dave nodded.

"Well, good luck, son," Con sighed.

Dave stepped out into the night and descended the stairs. He left his horse where it was, afraid now that in moving him he might rouse the curiosity of some light sleeping posseman in the Olympus. Following the shelf of the river bank around to the bend and the street, he paused in the shadow of the warehouse. The dark hotel was directly opposite.

In there, so Con said, were the men who would start the hunt for him tomorrow. One mismove, and the powder keg would blow up in his face.

Standing there in the dark, he recalled Con's last words to him. Neither Con nor Ives held him to his bargain, and he still was going on. He could, as he had half pretended he was doing, make it a point of honor, but it wasn't that. Neither was it stubborness, nor an obsession. Part of it was hating Chance and Gove, but the most of it was Beth Hilliard. At first her loyalty to Gove had seemed to him only a fool's blindness, but now it was something else again. He was seeing a woman whose character was breaking her, whose loyalty was betraying her, and he could not desert her now.

He had a moment of cold doubt, and then crossed the deserted street and paused at the foot of the steps. The thing to do was go in boldly, altho not noisily, and trust to the darkness to cover his identity.

He mounted the steps carefully and paused at the lobby door and peered into the darkness. As his sight became accustomed to the darkness, he could make out the dark figures of men sleeping on the lobby floor.

GASOLINE ALLEY—WITH TIMES AS THEY ARE

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Fire Escape

Is Marriage Wise on Eve of Induction?

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

We asked an army chaplain, whose opinion we hold in high esteem, about the advisability of marriage on the eve of the departure of the man in uniform. This, as you may guess, is one of the problems with which we are daily confronted.

His answer was: "Yes, marry it you've known each other a year or more. Don't marry if it has been an acquaintance of only a few months." Fatalistically, the chaplain added: "They'd better take their happiness while they may."

We are asked today, by a certain young woman who has been engaged more than a year, the question of whether to marry her young man about to depart for training camp. They want to marry, but he says he cannot support her. Suppose there's a baby? She says: "But he'll be gone and I'd have to live on alone, perhaps having to face motherhood alone. The responsibility frightens me to death."

Well, the boy is facing a responsibility. He'll have to live alone as far as love is concerned. The girl, at least, can remain on living as she has been doing, a course advised by our best authorities, keeping her job and standing loyally behind the youth whose life he is willing to lay down for his country, if need be.

Suppose a child is born. At least, the particular young woman in mind, will have that to live for, to work for, to sustain her own character for, in case the loved one never returns. Of course it's a responsibility, a frightening one, but isn't life under any circumstances one long responsibility, frightening only if that's what you bring to its facing.

We are addressing now girls of reasonable maturity, girls say of 22, 23, 24 who have been postponing marriage for a better salary day, perhaps, or for other reason. Girls who are self-sustaining, who are equipped to take over the two parent job in the event of misfortune. We are not addressing the very young emotionalists swayed more by a uniform than by mature reasoning and a twelve month at least tested devotion.

"Sugar rationing" was a scare-phrase to many homemakers at first. Women wondered what they'd do without the customary cakes and cookies, grew alarmed, and a few of them considered such un-American moves as making up jars of sugar sirup [which won't keep long, anyway] and stores of rich, sweet preserves.

Now they've come to the realization that, with good menu planning, the sugar ration will fill the needs of the average family. They agree that this nation, as a whole, consumes far too much sugar [sugar consumption has increased over 100 per cent in the last 50 years].

A cake and cookie loving people would undoubtedly protest were they asked to give up these delicacies entirely. Fortunately, there are many cakes and cookies which require only a small amount of sugar, or sugar in combination with one of the sweet sirups.

No frosting is needed for quick spice cake, which may be baked as a loaf or as cup cakes. Served with fruit, it's a grand dessert. If you have to have frosting, try the jelly frosting recipe which follows that for the cake. Frostings which require a cup or two of sugar are out, and may well be dispensed with, for they make the cake too sweet to be healthful.

Quick Spice Cake.

[8 inch loaf, or 15 large cup cakes.]

2 cups sifted cake flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
½ cup sugar
6 tablespoons soft butter or margarine.
¾ cup molasses
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup milk

Siff flour with baking powder, salt, spices, and sugar three or four times. Add butter and molasses. Combine eggs and milk. Add to flour mixture, stirring until all flour is dampened. Then beat vigorously for 1 minute. Bake in greased loaf or cup cake pans. Use oven temperature of 350 degrees for loaf cake, and bake about 40 minutes, or until done. For cup cakes, use 375 degrees and bake 20 to 25 minutes.

Half a cup of raisins, chopped dates, or prunes may be added to the recipe.

Jelly Frosting.

½ cup tart jelly
1 unbeaten egg white
⅛ teaspoon salt

Place jelly in a bowl over hot water. Add egg white and salt, and beat with a rotary beater until jelly is free from lumps. Remove from heat and continue beating until mixture will stand in peaks. Spread on cakes. This kind of frosting is like a meringue. It won't keep well, so make it only a short time before serving.

Hermits.

[5 dozen]

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon nutmeg
½ teaspoon cinnamon
½ cup chopped nuts
1 cup raisins
1 cup currants
Grated rind of 1 orange
½ cup butter or other shortening
½ cup firmly packed brown sugar
3 tablespoons sour milk
2 eggs, well beaten

Sift flour with soda and spices. Sift half the mixture over the nuts and fruit, mixing well. Cream shortening thoroly, add sugar gradually, and cream until light and fluffy. Add milk and eggs, beating well. Add remainder of flour, a small amount at a time. Beat until smooth. Add nuts and fruits. Mix well. Drop batter from a spoon onto a greased baking sheet and bake at 375 degrees for about 15 minutes.

TODAY'S PRIZE RECIPE

Here's just the cookie for hungry children. The sweetener is good-for-you honey, and there's not too much of that to cloy young appetites. Made entirely with graham flour and containing peanut butter, the cookies are unusually rich in vitamin B. They're the invention of Mrs. Evaline Swiders, 2744 Seminary avenue, Chicago, and she wins today's $5 prize for them.

Send your favorite recipe, written with ingredients listed in the order of use, to Recipe Contest, CHICAGO TRIBUNE. You may win the $5 prize given daily for the best recipe submitted.

Graham Honey Peanut Butter Cookies.

[3 dozen medium cookies.]

1 cup shortening
2 cups honey
1 cup peanut butter
2 eggs
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon baking soda
½ teaspoon salt
3 cups graham flour

Cream shortening until soft, add honey, and beat until well blended. Add peanut butter, blending well. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Add vanilla. Stir soda into flour, mixing well, and add to first mixture. Mix until blended and drop from spoon onto greased baking sheet. Bake in moderate [350 degree] oven for 12 to 15 minutes, or until lightly browned.

The spring pattern book costs 15 cents, 10 cents if ordered with a pattern.

According to Culbertson

[Copyright: 1942: By Ely Culbertson.]

The opinion often is expressed that preëmptive bids fatally interfere with slam bidding. This, like every other sweeping generality, is greatly exaggerated. I grant that preëmptives do not help a partnership reach a slam, but it is going too far to say that they are "fatal." Note today's deal.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
3 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's vulnerable three heart bid announced a heart suit either solid or within one trick of solid, and a hand as a whole containing seven to seven and one-half winners [under the safety rule of having within two tricks of your bid, when vulnerable].

North, with four and one-half honor tricks, control of three suits, and a reasonable fit for a preëmptive bid, correctly announced his strong holding and slam aspirations via the four-five no trump convention. It should be observed that this bid, in response to a preëmptive opening, implies more than the bare, conventional requirements. It simultaneously announces that the responder, having added the opener's marked winners to his own, feels reasonably sure that at least an 11 trick contract will be safe, and it urges the opener to bid a slam if his first bid was fully up to "par." South, because his opening bid had not been shaded, and because his distribution was flexible [with the singleton spade], accepted the invitation and bid a small slam.

West opened the diamond queen. It immediately was apparent to declarer that success depended on one of two possible finesses. There was a losing club in the South hand and, if the heart finesse lost, provision would have to be made for it. The diamond ace won the first trick, and the heart nine was allowed to ride. West won and continued diamonds. Declarer won, drew trumps, and then made the logical play of finessing for the spade king. When the finesse held, the small slam could be claimed.

Obviously, a contract that depends on winning one of two finesses is well worth bidding.

DAR to Hold Opening Ceremonies Here in Medinah Temple

Hundreds of women, who would have been unable to gain admittance to the formal opening night ceremonies of the 51st Continental Congress of the Daughters of the American Revolution will see the colorful spectacle on Monday, May 4, because of a proposal made by the Illinois society, which was approved yesterday by the officials of the National society in Washington, D. C.

When it was decided, because of congested conditions in the national capital, to remove the congress for the first time in DAR history from Washington to Chicago, it was planned to hold all of the important sessions in the Stevens hotel.

It was then found that, after the large platform required for the ceremonies should be installed, less than 3,000 persons could be seated in the hotel's grand ballroom. Mrs. Otto H. Crist, state regent and the arrangements committee suggested that the opening be held in Medinah temple at 14 East Ohio street, where some 5,000 persons could be accommodated. As the hostess organization, the Illinois DAR would defray the rental. Yesterday the group received a message of acceptance from Mrs. William H. Pouch, the president general.

To Know the Child Helps Guide Him

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

[Copyright: 1942: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Know thyself" is an old command. "Know thy child" is not such an old one, but it is fully as important. If women would spend as much energy and thought on that as on some nonessentials, home would be a happier place.

For it is a fact that, to make a success of your own life, you must know yourself. To make a success of marriage, you must know your husband, too. Which means understand him. To make a success of motherhood, you must know your child. With understanding comes wisdom.

You must know your child in two ways. You must know him as a part of that universal state called childhood, with all that it holds of the universal experiences that are part of growth and development; with all that it holds of the changes that boys and girls go thru from babyhood to and thru adolescence. But you must also know your child as an individual, like no other individual in the world; not like a neighbor's child; not even like another child in the family, and least of all like the ideal son or daughter you may have built up for your own gratification. This individual kind of "knowing" is quite as important as the first.

This becoming increasingly aware of your own child's individual nature is vital for him and you. And it is quite logical. You must certainly know what your own child is like in order to guide him wisely and well, in order to bring happiness to him as a child, in order to help him to achieve later fulfillment as a mature person.

You must understand your son or daughter, and then accept each pretty much as he or she is. You will then manage him accordingly. The sensitive child is not treated like the impervious one; the highly keyed, ebullient child needs different management from the easy going or stolid one; the overly serious girl needs a different technique from the frivolous, happy-go-lucky one, and the extremely conscientious child should be handled differently from the one who takes duties, responsibilities, and his "given word" too lightly. Often failure hinges upon parents' misunderstanding of a child or their insistent efforts to change him, while success attends the opposite approach.

This regard for the individual must carry over into the time when he needs to choose a life work. Then it is vital that, instead of making an arbitrary decision for your son or daughter as to what that work shall be, you let the choice be determined by your child's individual talent or capacity, or his strong desire.

How can you amuse the convalescent Child? What is the most difficult age? How may stubbornness be prevented? These and other problems are discussed in "You and Your Young Child," Mrs. Gladys Bevans' latest booklet, on sale at the Tribune Public Service Offices, 1 South Dearborn street and Tribune Tower. Price 15 cents; postpaid, 18 cents.

38 Salvation Army Bands to Take Part in Congress

Thirty-eight bands and other music groups from Salvation army corps in the middle west will participate next week end in the organization's second annual territorial congress. Lieut. Commissioner John J. Allan and his wife will conduct the program. Brigadier Henry Otway will have charge of music arrangements. Special concerts are scheduled for 2:30 p. m. Saturday in Thorne hall, Lake Shore drive and Superior street, and at 7:30 p. m. Saturday in Orchestra hall. Another musical program will be given in Orchestra hall at 2:30 p. m. Sunday.

Advertising Managers Having Dinner Meeting

The Advertising Managers' club will meet for dinner at 6:16 o'clock tonight in Henrici's Oak room in the Merchandise Mart. Graham Hutton, director of the British Press Service office here, and James A. Shanahan, managing director of the Art center, will speak. Hutton will discuss "British Advertising Under War Conditions," and Shanahan will talk on "Advertising in the War Years."

Nylon Threads Knitted Into New Sweaters

BY REA SEEGER.

After all the sensational success stories with nylon used for smooth flawless hosiery, as yardage for dresses and for neckwear, it isn't so much of surprise now to have sweaters and cardigans knitted of nylon thread. But the welcome is enthusiastic, especially among the swiftly moving set that rushes from duty to duty and from outfit to outfit.

Unquestionably the best news about the nylon knitted items is the knowledge that each piece can be dunked in soapsuds, hung up to dry and be ready for wear as soon as you've swallowed the morning coffee, toast, and orange juice.

There are both short sleeved slipons and cardigans with long sleeves in this new collection, plus seven delectable new colors including an oyster white. These spring colors are exceptionally flattering for all the newest suits, whether of solid dark shades, or pastels, or the vivid plaids and checks. Price marks on the tags attached to these nylon knits are easy on any budget.

In addition to boasting the colors, the modest price mark, and the breezy manner in which they can be kept spotless, the nylons don't sag, bulge, or change the original shape, and they will wear as good as forever. There'll be a sell out of the first arrivals so do your shopping early.

Slip-ons are the regulation sweater model with simple high round necklines, and the ribbed knitting around the belt. Cardigans likewise are of the usual type and style.

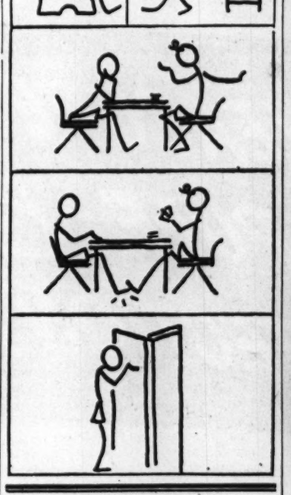

The seven-shade color range provides all the wanted ideas for quick mix matching, and contrast juggling, too. And the nylon thread is that greatly to be desired dull textured stuff that guarantees a slender silhouette.

Office Salvage.

Diane Horton decided, during a lull in office activity, to give her supply cabinet a thoro housecleaning. At first she tossed empty bottles, boxes, and cartons into the waste basket when suddenly she realized those empty bottles had metal caps and empty typewriter ribbon boxes were entirely made of metal and needed for defense. So she delved into the waste basket and pulled out the following: One empty lead container; six typewriter ribbon boxes; one Scotch tape can; two ink bottle lids; one old ash tray; one metal penholder stand; one paper weight [relegated to the shelf because of sharp edges]; two ends of mailing tube; one typewriter eraser worn to the metal disc; one metal tip for pencil. The total weight was 1 pound 4 ounces.

"Mine," she says, "is a one-girl office and if I could salvage that much, what could larger offices do?"

Vocabulary Answers.

In yesterday's vocabulary test the incorrectly used words, in the early editions, were: Lain [in place of lane]; sea [for see]; peddling [pedalling]; there [for their]; waist [for waste]; bear [for bare; knot [for not]; grate [for great]; in [for inn]; teas [for tease]; biers [for beers]; jamb [for jam]; sum [for some]; bale [for bail]; isle [for aisle]; yolks [for yokes]; wholly [for holy]; not [for knot].

In the final edition the word "there" was inadvertently corrected to read "their."

A Pet Peeve.

Our Own Numbers Game: The No. 3 Girl writes that it is her pet peeve to bolt her lunch in order to shop on a noon hour . . . and then stand 15 or 20 minutes at a counter before being waited on by the sales clerk.

And Rich, the No. 1 Man, writes: "I think it would be a great help for a new employé to have a small card made up by some person in the office stating the nicknames and first names of the employés and employers." He cites the case of the bewildered new girl—with everybody out to lunch except the big bosses—when a call comes in for "Hank" or "Jerry."

Tell It All.

Do most applicants write too much when filling out application blanks? Apparently not, in the opinion of a man in the government employment service. It is not enough to say "I worked for John Jones. I was a stenographer." Instead you must show your special fitness for that special job. What you did. How you did it.

ON TOP OF THE WORLD Tomorrow

TAKE PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA Tonight

WANT to wake up in the A. M. feeling "all set"—instead of "all in"? Then don't let your stomach go sour during the night because of over-indulgence. Give that excessive acidity the one-two action of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia does more than merely neutralize the excess acids—it finishes the job. It acts as a very gentle laxative—promotes a mild yet thorough elimination. An ideal laxative-antacid!

The next time you eat too rich food or smoke and drink more than usual take Phillips' Milk of Magnesia at bedtime and wake up feeling on top of the world. Read the directions on the Milk of Magnesia package and take only as directed thereon or as prescribed by your physician.

ONE-TWO ACTION

1 NEUTRALIZES EXCESS STOMACH ACIDS—and does it almost quicker than it takes to tell. Rated among the most effective neutralizers of excess stomach acids known. Relieves that uneasy feeling of discomfort almost immediately.

2 ACTS AS MILD LAXATIVE. So gentle that it does not upset the system and leave you feeling "all wrung out." Take it any time of the day because it does not act with embarrassing urgency. Many physicians recommend it for young children. There is no better mild laxative.

CUBS POUND HUMPHRIES; BEAT WHITE SOX, 6-3

YANKS BUILD UP BIG LEAD; WHIP DODGERS, 6 TO 5

Victory Champs' 1st Over '41 Series Foe.

Charlotte, N. C., April 6 (AP).—For the first time since the final game of the 1941 world series, the New York Yankees today defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers, 6 to 5. Spud Chandler was on the mound for the world champions at the start and had the better of a 1 to 0 pitching duel with Johnny Allen of Brooklyn for six innings.

Bill Dickey.

Then the National leaguers saw the advantage go to 2 to 0 in the seventh against Al Sherer, rookie from Montreal, and zoom to 6 to 0 in the eighth when Tommy Henrich and Bill Dickey hit doubles and Ed Levy a single.

The Dodgers got five of those runs back in the eighth on singles by Johnny Rizzo, Frenchy Bordagaray, Joe Medwick, Alex Kampouris, and Pee Wee Reese, plus a walk and an error by Joe Gordon.

Coach Art Fletcher was in charge of the Yankees while Manager Joe McCarthy attended the funeral of his brother in Philadelphia. It was New York's first victory in three starts against Brooklyn this spring. Score:

New York	000	001	140	6	12	1
Brooklyn	000	000	050	5	7	1

Batteries—Chandler, Branch and Dickey; Allen, Sherer and Owen.

MIZE GETS 4 HITS.

Greenville, Miss., April 6 (AP).—Johnny Mize snapped out of his spring-long batting slump today with four straight hits but the New York Giants lost their seventh game in nine attempts to the Cleveland Indians, 6 to 5.

The Giants battered Jim Bagby, nine inning hurler for the Indians, for 12 hits but couldn't get them at the right time. Cleveland was able to collect only six but two were homers by Manager Lou Boudreau and Jim Hegan.

All the Indian tallies came in the fourth. With one away, Ken Keltner doubled, Jeff Heath walked and Oscar Grimes singled Keltner home. Then Boudreau hit his homer and after Roy Mack walked Hegan deposited a ball in almost the same spot.

Mize's single, Willard Marshall's triple and an error by Grimes produced two Giant runs in the sixth and the big first baseman's double in the eighth meant another run. Hank Leiber made an appearance as a pinchhitter and fanned to end a six game hitting streak. Score:

New York [N.]	000	002	111	5	12	0
Cleveland [A.]	000	600	00*	6	6	1

Batteries—East and Danning; Bagby and Hegan.

RED SOX, 9; REDS, 6.

Bowling Green, Ky., April 6 (AP).—The Boston Red Sox today set off a 13 hit barrage, including homers by Lou Finney and Ted Williams, to gain a 9 to 6 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds and deadlock their spring training series at five games all.

Most of the slugging came in the sixth inning, which the Reds opened by scoring five runs on three singles, a double and Eddie Joost's homer to go into a 6 to 4 lead. Williams then tied the count by hitting a circuit drive with a mate on base. Score:

Cincinnati	000	105	000	6	13	2

Batteries—Thompson, Berry, and Lamanno; Terry, Ryba and Peacock.

BREWERS WHIP BRAVES.

Sanford, Fla., April 6 (AP).—The Boston Braves today lost, 8 to 3, to the Milwaukee Brewers for their fourth setback in five games against minor league opposition. The Brewers battered Al Javery for five runs after he had retired two batters in the fourth inning. Score:

Milwaukee	000	500	201	8	16	1

Batteries—Lawson and George; Javery, Donovan, Spahn and Lombardi, Masi.

MOON MULLINS—RECIPE FOR A TOMATO PASTE

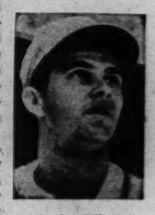

GILBERT HITS 3 RUN HOMER; DIETRICH HURT

Weather Calls Halt in Albuquerque.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albuquerque, N. Mex., April 6.—The Cubs effected a four run fifth inning this afternoon just in time to accomplish a 6 to 3 victory over the White Sox before weather conditions made further competition impossible.

Charley Gilbert.

The Cubs' opportune victory blast featured a three run homer inside the park by Charley Gilbert off Johnny Humphries. Claude Passeau had retired after five innings of so-so pitching, but was the winner, a successor not even having the chance to warm up. Claude, in gaining credit for the Cubs' third victory in eight spring games with the Sox, yielded seven hits, including two long doubles by the Sox pitchers, Bill Dietrich and Humphries.

Definitely He's Out Indefinitely.

Dietrich pitched only two innings. The poor fellow, who gets hurt almost every time he does anything, pulled a muscle in running to second base on his hit and had to be replaced. It will not be known for some time how many hours, days, weeks or months unfortunate William will be out of action.

Taft Wright opened the second inning with a single off Phil Cavarretta's glove and went to third on Myril Hoag's single to right. Wright got home while Hoag and Bob Kennedy were sinking in a double play.

The Cubs tied the score in their end of the second. Cavarretta singled past Don Kolloway and stopped at third on Clyde McCullough's double to right. After Stringer tapped out Cavarretta stole home on Dietrich's windup while the latter was pitching to Bob Sturgeon. Sturgeon then grounded to Kolloway.

So Dietrich Goes Away.

Dietrich opened the third inning with a liner to right center and Manager Jim Dykes could be seen to shudder at the prospect of Dietrich having to run out a triple. Dietrich was limping when he stopped at second. Thurman Tucker was sent in to run for the suffering pitcher and Kolloway flied to Dom Dallessandro. Wally Moses tapped to Passeau and Tucker was trapped and run down, Moses reaching second during the maneuver. Murrell Jones then flied to Gilbert. Humphries replaced Dietrich at the start of the third and retired Passeau, Hack, and Gilbert in order.

The Sox went out in order in the fourth, but in the Cubs' half Humphries' wildness got him into trouble. He walked Bill Nicholson, who went to second on a wild pitch. Dallessandro also walked, but Cavarretta grounded into a double play started by Kolloway. McCullough walked and Stringer singled to center, scoring Nicholson for a 2 to 1 Cub lead.

Humphries Hits One.

Dallessandro went to the fence to pull down Kennedy's drive at the start of the fifth, after which Mike Tresh singled and got home with the tying run on Humphries' enormous double over Gilbert's head. Kolloway then banged a single to left, scoring Humphries, and took second on the throw to the plate. Moses walked, but Jones hit into a double play.

Peanuts Lowrey batted for Passeau at the start of the Cub fifth and lined a single to left. Hack singled to right, putting Lowrey on third. Then Gilbert knocked his homer to the fence in left center, scoring behind Lowrey and Hack and putting the Cubs ahead, 5 to 3. Nicholson fouled to Tresh, but Dallessandro doubled to left. Cavarretta walked and, after McCullough had flied to Dave Philley, Stringer singled to center, scoring Dallessandro.

War Conditions Alter Golf Setup

The executive board of the Women's Western Golf association, which, at a meeting in the Chicago Athletic association yesterday, voted to cancel two important tournaments, the Junior Open and the Derby. WWGA CANCELS JUNIOR OPEN AND 72 HOLE DERBY

Two major golf tournaments sponsored by the Women's Western Golf association were canceled at a special meeting of the executive board held at the Chicago Athletic association yesterday.

The events removed from the association's tournament calendar were the Junior Open scheduled for the Town and Country club of St. Paul, July 14-17 and the Derby, a 72 hole medal event, set for the Sunset Ridge Country club of Chicago, Aug. 10-13.

Both events were called off because of uncertain conditions resulting from the war and the attendant difficulties in attracting entries. In place of the junior tournament the board suggested that each member club hold a special two day event for juniors.

Transfer Amateur.

The Women's Western Amateur tourney scheduled for the San Antonio [Tex.] Country club, Oct. 26-31, was transferred to the Sunset Ridge club in Chicago on Aug. 10-13. The change was made at the request of the southern club which doubted that a representative field could be attracted because of the long distances many players would be forced to travel.

The only championship event not affected at yesterday's meeting was the Open tournament which will be held as scheduled at the Elmhurst Country club in Chicago, June 22-27.

Puts Up Marion Miley Trophy.

Mrs. Howard D. Raymond, former president of the association, has provided the Marion Miley Memorial trophy to be awarded each year to the winner of the Derby. Miss Miley, who was killed in a holdup at the Lexington, Ky., Country club last October, was a three time winner of the Derby.

The executive board adopted a tribute to the late Joe Davis, former golf editor of the CHICAGO TRIBUNE and for many years secretary of the Chicago District Golf association, who died last Friday after a long illness.

Members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association, meeting in the Morrison hotel, learned that war conditions also would change their program by limiting the amount of balls available. Left to right are: Matt Matteson, secretary; Alex Cunningham, president, and Bill Gordon, tournament chairman, all of the PGA's state section.

Warning: No New Golf Balls After July 1

If steps are taken to prevent hoarding, the supply of new golf balls will last until July 1. After that only rebuilt balls will be available.

That was the message delivered last night by manufacturers to members of the Illinois section of the Professional Golfers' association at their annual spring meeting in the Morrison hotel.

Speakers emphasized the supply of new balls would last until midsummer only thru rationing. Several manufacturers urged professionals to limit the sale of balls to less than a dozen per player.

A Five Weeks' Process.

The future of the game during the war emergency depends upon the success of reclaiming used balls. It was estimated that there are approximately one and a half million dozen used golf balls in the hands of the public. These must be turned in for reconditioning if the supply of balls is to continue thruout the season.

"I do not know of a better way to keep the game going than to salvage all the used balls possible," one speaker said. "Since it takes from four to five weeks to rebuild a ball, it is important that the old balls be turned in at once so that they will be available when the present supply of new balls is exhausted."

Everybody's Doing It.

The speakers said that all manufacturers plan to go into the rebuilding business. Shortly after the outbreak of war the manufacture of new balls was banned. Even before that time a large portion of the 1942 supply had been sold.

The reconditioned ball will be 90 per cent as efficient as a new ball.

W. S. Gordon, chairman of the tournament committee, released the following dates:

May 4—Illinois PGA qualifying tournament at Glen Oaks or Brookwood.
May 18—Pro-amateur at Shore Acres.
May 25—Hale America Open qualifying tournament at Olympia Fields.
June 17 to 20—Hale America Open at Ridgemoor.
June 21—Pro-amateur at St. Charles.
June 22—Pro-amateur at Brookwood.
June 29—CDGA pro-amateur at Tam o' Shanter.
July 12—Pro-amateur at Glen Flora.
July 22 to 26—Tam o' Shanter Open.
Aug. 2—Pro-senior at La Grange.
Aug. 10—Pro-presidents at Hinsdale.
Aug. 17—Pro-ladies at Midlothian.
Aug. 24—Illinois-Wisconsin team match either at Racine or Kenosha.
Aug. 31—Pro-amateur at Techny field.

Billy Davis Rallies to Gain 10 Round Draw with Shans

New York, April 6 (AP).—A last round rally tonight earned a draw for Billy Davis, Minersville, Pa., lightweight, against Cleo Shans of Los Angeles in St. Nicholas palace. It was a 10 round bout. Johnny Caruso, Jersey City, welterweight, rallied in the last round to earn a draw with John Brown of New York in the six round semi-windup.

Maroons Go to Jail Today to Play Joliet Nine

The entire University of Chicago baseball squad will enter the state penitentiary in Joliet today.

Do not be alarmed, tho, fans. The Maroons have been invited by the management and will be within the walls only long enough to play a game with what is justifiably called "the strong local nine" by the inmates.

Speed Rumishek, who has scored 31 consecutive victories before being stopped by Teddy Lyons and a team of all-stars last fall, will be on the mound for Joliet. He will be opposed by either Bob Meyer or Rodney Briggs.

TROUBLES PILE UP FOR MAPLE LEAFS; COACH IS SICK

Meet Red Wings Tonight in 2d of Cup Series.

Sellouts Assured

DETROIT, Mich., April 6 (AP).—Capacity crowds of more than 13,000 fans will see the third and fourth games of the Stanley Cup hockey playoffs here Thursday and Sunday, Olympia Stadium officials announced tonight.

Long lines formed in front of the ticket windows today and the few remaining tickets were snapped up. A record crowd of 13,525 saw the Red Wings defeat Boston here last week to qualify for the final round in the National Hockey league playoffs.

TORONTO, Ont., April 6 (AP).—A sick coach only added to the troubles of the Toronto Maple Leafs today—troubles that started when they lost the first game of the Stanley cup hockey finals to Detroit's Red Wings.

Clarence [Hap] Day, fighting off an attack of influenza for the last few days, finally yielded to his doctor's orders and went to bed. Whether he will be able to carry on from the bench for the second game of the best of seven series tomorrow night is not known.

Both teams worked out today, shaking off the effects of one of the roughest contests witnessed this season. The Leafs went thru their paces under the direction of Maj. Conn Smythe and Eddie Powers.

Smythe Rejoins Unit.

Smythe left Toronto tonight to rejoin his unit and it is just possible Powers may be in charge of the team tomorrow if Day is unable to leave his bed.

Powers, former coach of the Syracuse Stars in the American league, has held an advisory position in the Toronto organization for years.

Talking about the mistakes the Leafs made in the first game, he said: "We'll just have to beat them to the puck tomorrow night and try to avoid the rough stuff."

Bingo Kampman was the only Leaf with a limp today. The defense man has been bothered with a knee injury for some time.

Grosso Performs Well.

Buoyed up by getting the jump on their more highly rated rivals, the Red Wings skipped thru a 40 minute workout today. Don Grosso, who scored twice and assisted in the third goal in his team's 3 to 2 victory last Saturday set a withering pace for his teammates.

The rookie line of Jerry Brown, Adam Brown, and Joe Carveth showed up well in the attacks and Carveth caught the far corner of the net with a regularity that brought praise from Goalie Johnny Mowers. Carveth, with three goals to his credit, took a prominent part in the Detroit victories over Montreal and Boston.

YIELDS NO HITS, WRENCHES ELBOW, LOSES GAME, 2 TO 1

Philadelphia, Pa., April 6 (AP).—A Villanova sophomore pitcher and his relief pitched that dream game today—a no-hitter—but their team lost, 2 to 1.

The University of Vermont capitalized on Henry Donahue's wildness and his teammates' fielding errors to score its runs. One of Donahue's five walks went to Ziggy Sysko in the third. Sysko stole second and scored on an error. In the fourth, Donahue walked Bill Benoit, who went to third when the catcher erred on a bunt, and came home on a long fly.

Donahue left the game with one out in the ninth because of a dislocated elbow. Bon McDonnell fanned the next two batters.

In the Wake of the News

BY ARCH WARD.

YOUNG Kenneth Sears, Yankee rookie catcher, is, as every one knows by this time, the son of Umpire Ziggy Sears of the National league, but maybe you haven't heard this yarn about the lad. . . . It seems that last year in the International league Ziggy Jr. had a run-in with an umpire and was invited to leave the park. . . . When newspaper men in Florida asked Ziggy Sr. if he had heard of the episode this spring, he replied: "Yes, and I think it was just terrible. Mother and I aren't even speaking to the young pup." . . . Stan Hack of the Cubs must be about the most consistent workman in the majors. . . . Hack had identical years in the field and at bat in 1940 and '41. . . . He hit .317 and fielded .954 both seasons. . . . Jeff Heath, who is about to start his fifth year with the Indians, went thru the first three without being hit by a pitched ball. . . . Last year, however, he made up for it by being plunked four times. . . . Mickey Rottner, the red-headed Loyola university guard, was the only player to receive the unanimous vote of the Bradley Tech squad in choosing an all-opponents lineup. . . . The latest golf marathon stunt is a one-man driving contest by Tom Hudgins, proprietor of a stop and sock range in Richmond, Va. . . . Tom wagered a friend he could get off 4,000 drives in a day and did it, collecting $165 for laboring from 8:20 a. m. to 11:50 p. m. with a caddy teeing up the balls for him. . . . Roger Cramer, now of the Tigers, will this season, barring injury, enter the select group of major leaguers who have collected 2,000 hits. . . . He already has 1,937, representing the work of 15 seasons, in his ledger. . . .

Ernie Lombardi, now a Brave, is out to make the Reds sorry they let him go. . . . The veteran receiver has dropped 24 pounds this spring and now is down to a sylphlike 218. . . . Myron [Mush] Esler, former trainer of the Milwaukee baseball club and the Cleveland football Rams, now a coxswain at Great Lakes, says the physical conditioning program used on the thousands of bluejackets there is vastly superior to the regimens at professional football and baseball camps. . . . The 5,000 limit on baseball crowds in the Pacific coast area has forced the clubowners to abolish ladies' nights. . . . Councilman Billy Rogell of Detroit, the former Tiger shortstop, is fathering a system of instruction for young ball players on the city's sandlots this summer. . . . Rogell, who has just been voted $8,500 to carry out the scheme, will form a team of old-time players, each of whom will instruct groups of boys in his own specialty. . . . Billy, for example, will have charge of the budding shortstops.

O, Goody!

Married men, sing songs of praise,
Husbands, glad hosannas raise,
For soon priorities will ban
Much of the goods that comes in a can.
No more bridge till 5 or after,

To pick up a dab of salad greens
And a can of good old pork and beans.
No more movie afternoons
Of adulating rapturous swoons,
Gazing on "Her Only Sin"
As portrayed by Errol Flynn.
Watch that waistline, O, you man,
Since soon you can't dine from a can.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Fireglas, $23.70 straight, $11.60 place, $8.70 show; Little Bud, $8.30 place, $11.80 show; Bell Soma, $11.80 show.

FIREGLAS forged to front in opening furlong, drew clear approaching stretch but weakened and barely lasted. LITTLE BUD was in first flight from break, came to inside in stretch run and closed resolutely under strong urging. BELL SOMA, first away, could not stay with pacemaker but showed good effort. VEE went evenly and could not threaten seriously. BILL'S ANNE closed willingly. HAPPY LYNN had good early speed then weakened.

SECOND RACE—Purse $1,200. Three year old fillies. Six furlongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:05. Off at once. Winner, ch. f., 3, by Hard Tack-Teco, by Golden Guinea. Owner, J. L. Collins. Trainer, M. M. Harrison. Time, 1:15.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Teco Tack, $9.90 straight, $4.90 place, $4.50 show; Castleridge, $3.90 place, $3.00 show; Bonny Liberty, $4.60 show.

TECO TACK, off in first flight, raced SWEET ZACA into defeat to draw clear, withstood bid of BONNY LIBERTY and just lasted to stave off closing rush of CASTLERIDGE. The latter raced forwardly on outside and closed with good energy. BONNY LIBERTY was forced to race on inside in slowest going and weakened. MYRTLE M., had no excuses. SWEET ZACA had early speed.

THIRD RACE—Purse $1,200. Four year olds and up. One mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won easily, place driving. Went to post at 3:30. Off at 3:30½. Winner, br. c., 4, by Whichone-Polly Reigh, by Reigh Count. Owner, I. Bieber. Trainer, H. Jacobs. Time, 1:50.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Who Reigh, $9.30 straight, $4.10 place, $2.90 show; Nilon, $3.40 place, $2.70 show; Rough Going, $3.60 show.

WHO REIGH, off slowly and allowed to settle into best stride, improved position gradually along rail, obtained racing room thruout, responded to pressure in midstretch and won going away. NILON was hustled to front, opened wide lead and held on gamely but was no match for winner. ROUGH GOING, bumped in first furlong, was rushed to contention and held on with good courage in final drive. BOSTON PAL was rated while closest to pace but flattened out when placed to pressure. PREDICATE tired. BROOKIE BOY had some early speed. DOLLAR SIGN held forward position under hustling tactics then tired. ORINOCO was thru early.

FOURTH RACE—Purse $1,500. Three year olds. Six furlongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 3:59½. Off at once. Winner, b. c., 3, by Infinite-Careful, by Wrack. Owner, J. H. Louchheim. Trainer, J. Loftus. Time, 1:14 1-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Carmus, $4.50 straight, $3.00 place, $2.50 show; Firebroom, $3.70 place, $2.80 show; Bola Mowlee, $3.30 show.

CARMUS was in thick of contention from start, disposed of FREE DOUBLE and INDIAN SUN to take command and was put to extreme pressure in final sixteenth to hold FIREBROOM safe. The latter, within striking distance from start, responded when shaken up and was wearing down winner at end. BOLA MOWLEE raced on outside, lost much ground turning for home but closed willingly. INDIAN SUN was rated while setting and forcing pace then tired in closing stages. PAGE II. was outrun. FREE DOUBLE stopped.

FIFTH RACE—Purse $2,000 added. Three year olds and up. Six furlongs. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 4:29½. Off at once. Winner, b. c., 4, by Espino-Glority, by Sun Flag. Owner, John L. Sullivan. Trainer, J. L. Roberts. Time, 1:12 1-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Transfigure, $24.70 straight, $9.90 place, $6.10 show; Johnnie J., $8.10 place, $5.30 show; Maechance, $5.10 show.

TRANSFIGURE, keen forward factor from break, disposed of MADIGAMA to take command and drew out in final stages. JOHNNIE J., off alertly, was taken under restraint while saving ground and closed with good energy. MAECHANCE showed an even effort. RIDING LIGHT, within striking distance, closed willingly. MADIGAMA was used up setting pace under hustling tactics. CLYDE TOLSON dropped out of it in opening furlong and showed a dull effort.

SIXTH RACE—Purse $1,500. Four year olds and up. Six furlongs. Start good. Won handily, place driving. Went to post at 5:01. Off at once. Winner, br. h., 6, by Eternal-Venice, by Marcovil. Owner, I. Bieber. Trainer, H. Jacobs. Time, 1:13 1-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Shadows Pass, $5.20 straight, $3.70 place, $3.00 show; Bill's Sister, $5.10 place, $4.20 show; Neutrality, $6.00 show.

SHADOWS PASS, not hurried in early stages while saving ground, came thru on inside to reach contention with bold move and disposed of BILL'S SISTER to draw out handily. BILL'S SISTER took command at once, opened long lead and held on gamely. NEUTRALITY showed good forward effort. RING STAR closed with good energy from sluggish beginning. BLUE LILY was well placed early then faltered. LITTLE BOLO had early speed. THRIFT SHOP stopped.

SEVENTH RACE—Purse $1,500. Four year olds and up. One mile and a sixteenth. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 5:27½. Off at 5:28. Winner, br. f., 4, by St. Germans or Black Servant-Far Star, by North Star III. Owner, A. V. Galotta. Trainer, V. Arthur. Time, 1:50 1-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Saran, $9.40 straight, $5.30 place, $5.00 show; Yannie Sid, $6.50 place, $4.90 show; Guerrilla, $15.70 show.

SARAN, taken under restraint while saving ground and well placed early, drifted out for racing room approaching stretch and responded to vigorous handling to wear down YANNIE SID. The latter took lead with a rush at first turn, set a good pace and fought it out with good courage. GUERRILLA was always close up to midstretch and weakened suddenly. JANEGRI went evenly. ABMERES lost much ground at first turn. JUSTICE NAP had speed for a half then faltered.

EIGHTH RACE—Purse $1,200. Four year olds and up [foaled in Maryland]. One mile and a furlong. Start good. Won driving, place same. Went to post at 5:56. Off at 5:56½. Winner, b. g., 7, by Challenger II.-Briar Bunny, by Mint Briar. Owner, W. W. Crenshaw. Trainer, F. J. Baker. Time, 1:57 3-5.

Two dollar mutuels paid: Dare Bunny, $5.40 straight, $3.80 place, $3.00 show; Gendarme, $6.60 place, $4.70 show; Clapair, $5.40 show.

DARE BUNNY, allowed to settled into best stride, was taken out for racing room on backstretch, improved position steadily and drew out under good handling. CLAPAIR went well. GENDARME was forward factor from start and showed good effort. BROILER went to leaders on backstretch, shook off BROILER but weakened right at end. LEGAL LIGHT rated after getting to front, flattened out when placed to pressure. LOOKFORME had no excuse. forced pace early then tired.

Budweisers Win Title in Windy City

BY C. H. BEUKEMA.

The city champion Budweiser team captained by Joe Wilman, currently leading the American Bowling congress tournament, last night clinched the Windy City Major Bowling league championship. The Buds won three games from the Bireleys to increase their lead over the Joseph L. Gills to four games. Only one week of competition remains.

The new champions shot a 3,186 series, led by Wilman, who fired a 700 total. The big series ran their average to 1,009 pins per game. Wilman's count gave him an average of 207-plus and the lead over Adolph Carlson of the Gills.

Gills Capture Two.

The Gills dropped one of three games to American Transportation last night. The Nonebetter Ice Creams clinched third place by winning three games from the Mineralites. Scores:

Jewelers Defend 2d Place.

The battle for second place in the Gold Coast Major Bowling league—the Joseph L. Gills already have clinched the title—is expected to become closer tonight when the Art J. Williams Jewelers, now second with 54 won and 36 lost, meet the fourth place Budweisers. The Budweisers have won 50 and lost 40. The third place Ballantine Restaurants, with a 51-39 record, meet the Gold Coasts, a second division five. Other matches: De Luxe recreation vs. Gills; Detloff's Park View Flowers vs. Acme Furnace Fittings; Pogue's Old Times vs. Louis Glunz Liquors; International Sportsmen's show vs. Triangle Shirts.

Internationals Regain Lead.

Internationals bounced back into the South End Traveling league lead by sweeping a series with the Fuka Hatters, while Chicago recreation was dropping one of three to Cheltenham recreation.

Girls employed by the Whiting corporation of Harvey shot well in the women's city tournament, five of the eight teams in the company's league finishing in the money. Five of nine girls who participated in the singles, placed in the money and three of the five doubles teams entered likewise cashed. Bessie Butler scored in the singles, doubles, all-events, and took one of the tournament's silver anniversary dollars by shooting a 193 game. Women's scores:

STEVENSON'S [Friday]—Flo Waterman, 218, 203, 603; Josephine Dusky, 207, 203, 568; Margaret Torkelson, 203, 560; Grace Cavallini, 212, 554; Evalin Ogden, 205, 550; Dorothy Saunders, 539; Ann Hylander, 526; Elsie Sieben, 212; Rose Jurgens, 222. His Derby Winner, He Hopes

Owner-Trainer T. D. Grimes examining With Regards yesterday after the colt's trip from Oaklawn Park to Churchill Downs. With Regards, which is being supported heavily by Kentucky Derby bettors, recently won the Arkansas Derby. [Associated Press Wirephoto.]

Owner's Convinced

Louisville, Ky., April 6 (AP).—"He's done just about everything possible to convince me he's a Derby horse."

That was the way T. D. Grimes today appraised his With Regards, Arkansas Derby winner and Kentucky Derby nominee who was on display at Churchill Downs.

Now backed down to 15 to 1 in the winter books, the son of Jack High-Loose Foot reached here yesterday from Oaklawn park.

Grimes, owner and trainer of With Regards, admitted the colt surprised him mildly in the Arkansas Derby but added that "any time a three year old steps a mile and an eighth in 1:50, he is traveling."

He plans to start With Regards in one race here before Derby day. Johnny Longdon, who rode the colt to victory in the Arkansas Derby, will ride him in the race for the roses.

PURDUE MEETS NOTRE DAME NINE IN OPENER TODAY

Lafayette, Ind., April 6 [Special].—Edward C. Elliott, Purdue president, will pitch the first ball when the Boilermakers open their regular season against a veteran Notre Dame nine here at 4 p. m. tomorrow. Others taking part in the opening ceremony will be Prof. Frank C. Hockema, assistant to the president, who will be the catcher, and Guy Mackey, athletic director, who will try to hit Hochema's pitch.

Despite weakness at the plate, the Boilermakers broke even in four practice games last week. The Boilermakers won two games from Notre Dame in 1940 and tied the Irish in a 10 inning battle last season.

Walter Leifheit, only veteran on the pitching staff, probably will start tomorrow, with Walter Cook and Paul Petrick in reserve. Purdue's probable batting order:

W. Burghardt, ss; Martin or Young, 3b; Kersey, cf; Walton or Smith, c; Friend, lf; Swantz, 1b; Burger, 2b; Carson, rf; Leifheit, p.

SCHURZ DEFEATS AUSTIN, 1 TO 0, IN FIVE INNINGS

Schurz defeated Austin, 1 to 0, yesterday in a five inning practice game in Kilbourne park.

The winning run came in the fourth inning when Ed Nolan, Schurz left fielder, doubled and scored on a single by Catcher Lenny Basak. Bob Gastorf, Schurz pitcher, yielded two hits and struck out 10. Austin used three hurlers, Karsons, Keeler, and Manders. The trio allowed Schurz five hits.

Pro Net Tour Hits Snag; Ends a Month Early

Los Angeles, Cal., April 6 (AP).—The all-star tennis tour featuring Donald Budge, Bobby Riggs, Frank Kovacs, and Fred Perry came to an end today. Business Manager Harry M. Thayer said that all future bookings had been canceled.

The decision to discontinue the tour came after a telephone conversation between Alexis Thompson of New York, sponsor of the tour, and Thayer.

The tour, which started out auspiciously from New York last Dec. 26, has encountered difficulties it cannot conquer, Thayer said in a formal statement today. The tour was to have ended in the east early next month after a swing thru the south and mid-west.

Columbus, O., April 6 (AP).—That perfect 300 game—12 strikes in a row—is about to pop up at the American Bowling Congress tourney.

ABC observers agreed today as bowlers edged closer to the charmed figure that a 300 game would be rolled and that it probably would be by some unknown. For the men who haven't been heard of outside their local communities are the ones taking the "play" in the ABC.

Russ Gersonde, Milwaukee carpenter who was 33d in the singles in 1941, knows how it feels to be close yet far from 300. Sunday he got 11 strikes, but between the eighth and ninth was a split he couldn't convert. He finished with 266.

The Jackpot for Ray?

Last year Raymond Hultquist, Chicago pay phone collector, finished No. 2580 on the list of singles prize winners, getting $7. This year he got only nine pins in the opening frame of his last game, then shot 11 strikes for a 279 total that put him in first place in the singles with 735 and a good chance to win $300.

Edward Copenhagen, an unknown from Rochester, N. Y., knows why only nine perfect games have been rolled in ABC competition. He got 10 strikes in a row a week ago, but three pins stood up on his 11th try. He hit 285.

Ned Day of West Allis, Wis., world champion match bowler, is the latest example of how experts can flop in the ABC. Holding a 10 year ABC average of 204 plus 23 pins, Day shot a dismal 1,664 compared with the 1,944 he tallied last year.

"It was just an off day," he told friends. "Every one has one once in a while."

Day's average dropped to 203.12, leaving Walter Ward of Cleveland the nation's No. 1 bowler with the highest ABC average—203.50.

Young Shoots 1,945.

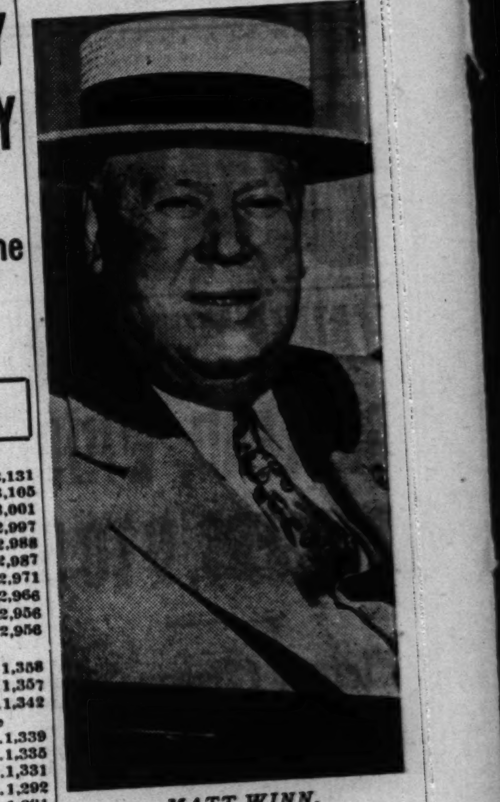

Evidence that the tournament is apt to see some higher scores was seen in today's shooting when three important changes appeared in the standings.

Marty Cassio, Rahway, N. J., tailor who finished fifth in the Chicago Tribune's All-Star tournament last fall, teamed up with George Young of Long Island City, N. Y., to take fourth in the doubles with a 1,339 count. Cassio got 645, while Young, a bowling proprietor, shot 694.

Bill Borslund of New York shot 731 on games of 254, 167, and 210 to tie Bob Tritchler of Norwood, O., for second in the singles—four pins behind Hultquist.

The 694, combined with a 594 in the team event Sunday and a 657 singles gave Young 1,945 and third place in the all-events.

CONN AND LOUIS BOUT HEADED FOR NEW YORK IN JUNE

Meanwhile Others Battle to Be Next in Line.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

All that is needed to make official the well founded report that Joe Louis will make the 22d defense of his heavyweight title against Billy Conn is announcement of the date and the place. Unless Promoter Mike Jacobs tells you different, and soon, the place will be Yankee stadium and the time will be June.

Champion and challenger are in the army and assigned to units in the 2d corps area. Details probably can be arranged easily, barring military complications, and Conn's surprisingly excellent fight against Louis last June has insured him a second chance. Conn actually outfought Louis for 12 rounds but he was knocked out in the 13th round.

The Big Buildup Is On.

With a Louis-Conn match seemingly assured, pugilism now is concerned with the order in which later challengers will be drawn. Most of the recent activity in the heavyweight ranks is calculated to furnish future opponents. This is the principal incentive bringing Melio Bettina to Chicago to meet Booker Beckwith Friday night. It also accounts largely for Bob Pastor fighting Jimmy Bivins in Cleveland April 17.

Bettina or Pastor may be the next foe for Louis. Lou Nova removed himself, at least temporarily, by his poor performance against the Bomber.

Since Pastor has fought Louis twice, Bettina would be a fresh face in the heavyweight picture. Melio has not met the champion, altho he was original choice for the indoor engagement last month in Madison Square Garden but was supplanted by Simon. Jimmy Grippo, Bettina's manager, thus has one more account to settle with Jimmy Johnston, manager of Pastor and Simon.

Johnston Knows How.

Johnston has set the pace for all managers who have sought the lucrative purses for challengers against the champion. He has sent Pastor and Simon against Louis twice each and if he obtains a third bout for Pastor few can deny that Johnston's at the top of his profession.

Johnston definitely has been willing to take chances against other heavyweights. Pastor was stopped by Billy Conn but he came out of that one yelling foul and the result has been largely forgotten. Johnston sent Pastor against young Beckwith when the Gary lad was stringing together a long list of knockouts. But Pastor whipped Beckwith and perhaps by this victory encouraged Grippo to bring Bettina to Chicago.

Pastor Eliminates Lem.

More recently Johnston sent Pastor against Lem Franklin in Cleveland before a record indoor crowd for the Ohio city. This move also seemed dangerous but Pastor won by a knockout and added to his claim to face Louis. Now Pastor will return to Cleveland to take on Bivins, another local son who may or may not win, but who certainly will make the match financially worth while.

Bettina has reached the current engagement with Beckwith by another route. In his last stop he disposed of Gus Dorazio and now he seeks to equal Pastor's record against Beckwith.

Johnston is toying with the idea of a Pastor-Nova fight in Chicago.

$1,200 TROPICAL HANDICAP WON BY PORTER'S CAP

Miami, Fla., April 6 (AP).—Charles S. Howard's Porter's Cap finally won a Florida race today, earning a close victory in a $1,200 six furlong handicap at Tropical Park.

The horse, a disappointment all winter, was the favorite in a field of nine and paid $4.90 for $2 to win, $3.30 to place, and $2.50 to show.

W. Reid's Hour Al barely was beaten in a photo finish.

Former Bradley Star Killed in Plane Crash

Galesburg, Ill., April 6 [Special].—Ensign Willard E. Norval of Galesburg, former star athlete at Bradley college, was killed this afternoon in a navy plane crash near San Diego, Cal., according to information received by his mother, Mrs. Grace Morgan. Norval won letters in football and basketball and later coached the Bradley freshman grid team.

Nate Bolden Stops Paulie Mahoney in Seventh Round

Nate Bolden, middleweight product of Chicago Golden Gloves, was awarded a seventh round technical knockout over Paulie Mahoney of Buffalo, N. Y. in Marigold Gardens last night. Referee Johnny Behr halted the bout after only eight seconds of the round because of a cut eye and gashed lip suffered by Mahoney.

Paulie sustained the eye injury when his stocky opponent butted him in the second round. The cut on his mouth was the result of a series of left jabs in the fourth.

Mahoney's sharp left gave him a lead on points going into the fourth. In the fifth Bolden crashed a left hook off Paulie's cheek which made him fall into a clinch.

The victory was Bolden's third straight and earned him an outdoor headline match against Ken Overlin, former New York 160 pound champion, on the north side next month.

Mahoney weighed in at 164½ pounds, and Bolden 162. A crowd of 1,323 saw the card. Gross receipts were $1,965.

HONOR WARMERDAM.

New York, April 6 (AP).—Cornelius Warmerdam, who raised the world pole vault mark to 15 feet 7½ inches, today was voted the outstanding track and field athlete of the indoor season by the New York track writers.

THE GUMPS—THIS WAY OUT!

TWO NEW STARS BUCK PRECEDENT IN THE MASTERS

Augusta, Ga., April 6 (AP).—Never has a newcomer won the nine year old Masters golf tournament — but then, Chandler Harper of Portsmouth, Va., and Chick Harbert of Battle Creek, Mich., never have competed in the big four day show which starts Thursday.

Both got their bids to the tournament for being the two professionals previously unqualified who compiled the best record on the winter Professional Golfers' association tour. They rank among the first seven money winners for the season.

Harbert startled the headliners in Beaumont, Tex., by taking first money and followed up by winning the Texas open in San Antonio in a playoff with Ben Hogan. The skinny Michigan lad tied with Lawson Little for third in the Los Angeles Open and finished out of the money only three times in 13 starts.

Harper Impresses Horton Smith.

Harper, member of a wealthy Portsmouth family, turned pro in 1935 after spectacular amateur play. Horton Smith calls his game among the best in professional golf.

The Virginian withdrew from the $10,000 Miami Open after a disappointing start and skipped the Beaumont and Harlingen, Tex., Opens. Then he placed sixth at Los Angeles and has since finished in the money in every tourney.

At short odds in the Masters tourney will be Ben Hogan, who won at San Francisco, Los Angeles, Pinehurst, and Asheville; Sam Snead, second to Hogan in money winnings, and top money winner at St. Petersburg and at St. Augustine, and Craig Wood, defending champion.

Hogan, Little Drill Together.

Hogan and Little practiced on the course today, but no official score was kept. Little said he and Hogan shot about 34 for nine holes. Ben merely said it was too early to start keeping score, explaining, "I was just hacking around."

Bobby Jones, the retired amateur champion, who started this tournament for his lone annual return to competition, played in a foursome, but mentioned no score.

Most of the 50 topnotch golfers arranged for warmups tomorrow and Wednesday. Tournament play will be 18 holes daily.

Bettina Seen as Winner of Beckwith Bout

"Melio Bettina looks like a sure bet to beat Booker Beckwith in Chicago Stadium Friday."

That was the consensus of fans attending Bettina's first Chicago boxing drill in CYO center gymnasium yesterday. Melio sparred four rounds, two each with Hubert Hood, 1942 Chicagoland Golden Gloves heavyweight champion, and Isaiah Wells, 1940 Catholic Youth organization middleweight title holder.

Beckwith Falls to Box.

Bettina will be trying for his 11th consecutive victory and, according to reports from Booker's training quarters in Trafton's gymnasium, on the other side of the loop, the Beacon, N. Y., boxer probably will achieve his ambition.

Beckwith failed to box yesterday for the second time in three days, an unusual procedure, and this fact has worried the lanky Gary youngster's backers.

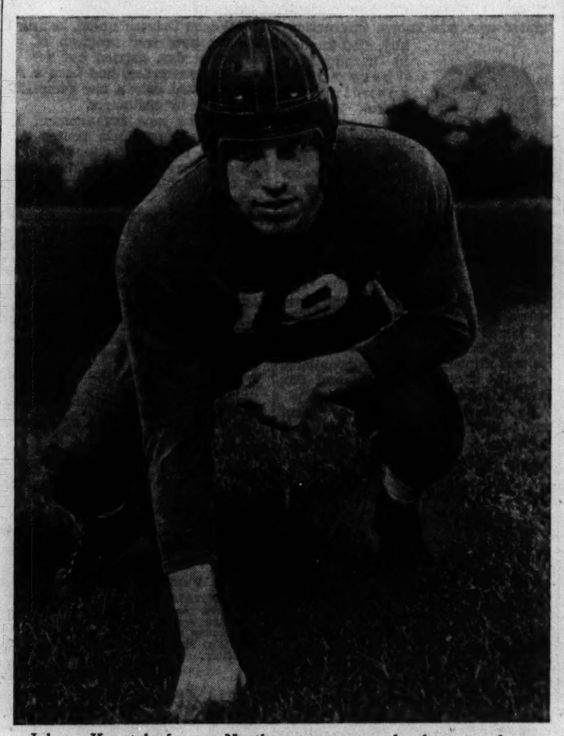

Beckwith's setback at the hands of Bob Pastor in the Stadium last Nov. 7 was the only mark against Booker in 19 fights. In his last appearance he was awarded a close decision over Jos Maxin in the Coliseum on Jan. 16.

Seeks Reiss to Box Allen.

Matchmaker John Strachan is seeking Al Reiss, Detroit heavyweight, for a six round supporting match against Altus Allen. Additional events at this distance will bring together Billy Murray, Bellaire, O., lightweight, and Robert Earl, and Joey Pirrone, Cleveland, also a 135 pounder, and Annunzio Ferraro. Tony Motisi, Catholic Youth organization welterweight, and Harry Tearfey, Cleveland lightweight, will meet in a 10 round secondary feature.

Sergt. Joe Muscato, Buffalo heavyweight, who conquered Al Boris in Buffalo last Saturday, will seek his 12th straight triumph in a 10 round encounter against Jim Robinson in Rochester, N. Y., Friday. . . . Nine boxing matches and two wrestling bouts will be held tonight in the Chicago Service Men's center, 176 West Washington street. Phil Collins, Johnny Behr, Tommy Gilmore, and Leo Ranieri will referee. The announcer will be Dick Mastro. . . . Willie Joyce, 1937 intercity Golden Gloves featherweight champion, has opened workouts in Trafton's gymnasium for a 10 round headliner against Sammy Secreet in Marigold Gardens next Monday.

Ex-Wildcat Joins Indiana Staff

Johnny Kovatch, former Northwestern star end, who yesterday was named varsity end coach at Indiana university. Kovatch played in the 1938 All-Star game sponsored by the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., and was a professional with the Cleveland Rams.

Name Kovatch End Coach on Indiana Staff

Bloomington, Ind., April 6 [Special].—Appointment of Johnny Kovatch, former Northwestern university and Cleveland Rams star end, as Indiana university's new varsity end coach was announced today by Athletic Director Z. G. Clevenger.

A native Hoosier, who learned his first football at Central High school in South Bend, Kovatch has been athletic director, basketball and track coach at Illinois Wesleyan, Bloomington, Ill., since last December, when Don Heap received a commission in the naval reserve.

Second New Addition to Staff.

He is the second new addition to the Indiana varsity staff, William Feldhaus, former Miami university line coach, having been named to succeed Ralph Graham two weeks ago. Kovatch will take over the post vacated by C. A. Temerario, who also has a commission in the naval reserve.

The new Hoosier end coach was graduated from Northwestern in 1938, with a B. S. degree in education, after three brilliant years on the Wildcat football elevens of 1935, 1936, and 1937. Kovatch and his Northwestern teammates captured the Big Ten title in 1936. He went from Northwestern to Saginaw, Mich., High school as a football coach and teacher after spending the 1938 football season with the Cleveland Rams.

Plays 52 Minutes Wth All-Stars.

Kovatch was a member of the 1938 Chicago Tribune college All-Star squad, which Indiana's head coach, Bo McMillin, guided to a 28 to 16 victory over the Washington Redskins. He played 52 minutes of the game and caught a touchdown pass from Cecil Isbell. As a high school star at South Bend Central Kovatch played full back. He was shifted to end as a freshman at Northwestern. He will assume his new duties here tomorrow.

MISS KIRBY FACES MISS TAINTER AT AUGUSTA TODAY

Augusta, Ga., April 6 (AP).—Defending Champion Dorothy Kirby of Atlanta was forced to wage a bitter battle against young Mary Jane Garman of Sarasota, Fla., before gaining a one-up decision today to enter the semi-finals of the 12th annual Forest Hills Women's Golf tournament.

Miss Kirby's victory qualified her for tomorrow's semi-final test with Georgia Tainter, Fargo, N. D., veteran, who posted a two-up victory over Mrs. Charles D. Harbaugh ofb Cleveland.

The other semi-final contest will be between North and South Champion Louise Suggs of Lithia Springs, Ga., and youthful Jane Crum of Orangeburg, S. C. Miss Suggs survived by eliminating Eileen Stulb of Augusta, 5 and 3, while Miss Crum ousted Jeanne Cline, 15 year old Bloomington, Ill., girl, 7 and 5.

GOOD HIT, PLENTY SPEED—THAT'S MOSES OF SOX

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albuquerque, N. M., April 6.—In the rush of spring training with its groans, its sleeper rides, its occasional cash and carry meal etc., perhaps Wallace Moses Jr., hasn't been properly pictured for his new public, the White Sox fan colony. Wally not only is a good ball player but has had quite a career. Clubs have disappeared under him, but he merely moved on to the next place. Moses even brought about a slight rebuilding of Comiskey park, which at the time he little thought would be his future home.

The Comiskey park incident came up in 1935, his first season with the Athletics. Connie Mack, his boss, had repeatedly warned Moses that there wasn't as much give to the big league concrete walls as the board barriers of minor league parks. The light footed, reckless Moses just kept tearing around like a scared jack rabbit. Well, one day he tripped over a water spout projecting from the ground close to the right field wall. He crashed against the concrete and suffered a broken left collar bone. Soon thereafter recesses were knocked into the wall and the spouts placed therein. Wally was out for the remainder of the season.

He Still Has That Speed.

Moses, who came to the Sox last winter for Mike Kreevich and Pitcher Jack Hallett, thrown into the deal merely because Mack wanted to be able to point out that he had received two for one, hasn't been stepping around any too nimbly this spring. He has a trace of charley horse, but it won't be long before he will be up and off again with that jack rabbit abandon. Moses really can move, and altho he's 30 years old he still boasts that he never has been beaten in a 50 yard sprint.

It was speed that brought Moses attention from big league scouts. He started playing pro ball in Augusta, Ga., member of the Palmetto league, in 1931 and altho the league enjoyed only a brief life Moses managed to get an invitation to a St. Louis Cardinals assembly plant.

Events Keep Happening.

Wally was one of 200 youngsters at the school, and he ran them all right out of the park at Mobile, Ala. He kept on running until he reached Tyler, Tex., but another blowup occurred and he with four other players was used to pay off the obligations. Fort Worth took him on, but his arm went bad and he was sold to Galveston, which at the time was under the management of Billy Webb, now overseer of the Sox farm system. Moses was at Galveston in 1933 and 1934 and then was sold to the Athletics, where he remained until last December.

Manager Jim Dykes' idea in taking Moses was that he thus would get a hitter. If Dykes was guided in the move by past performances he didn't guess wrong. In seven seasons with the Athletics Moses never dropped below .301. He hit that figure in 1941. He is not a power hitter, but collected 25 homers in the 1937 race and that can't be laughed off.

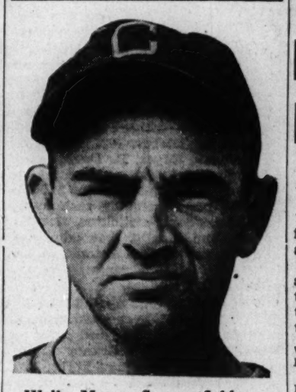

MIDWEST GOLF FIELD TO HONOR DAVIS' MEMORY

French Lick Springs, Ind., April 6 [Special].—More than 400 golfers who will participate in the 11th annual Midwest amateur tournament to be held here Friday thru Sunday will honor the memory of Joseph G. Davis, executive-secretary of the Chicago District Golf association, who was buried in Chicago today.

Play will be halted for one minute at 10:30 a. m., on the opening day of the tournament while players stand in tribute to the veteran who had been identified with the event since its inception in 1932.

Davis, who died Friday in Chicago, was a member of the original group of Chicagoans who were instrumental in developing the Midwest meet.

Count on Wally

Wally Moses, Sox outfielder acquired from the Athletics, is expected to prove a big help to the team. He has lots of speed and hits in the .300 class.

Lyons, Schmitz to Hurl Today for Sox, Cubs

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Albuquerque, N. M., April 6.—The Cubs and Sox, if the railroad gets them there, will appear tomorrow in Tucumcari, N. M. Ted Lyons and John Rigney will pitch for the American leaguers. The Cubs will use Johnny Schmitz and Eddie Hanyzewski.

Thornton Lee's shoulder ailment is getting no better, but Manager Jimmie Dykes intends to wait a few more days before rearranging his tentative pitching program, which calls for the big left hander to make his first appearance in the Cleveland series April 17, 18, and 19.

Dykes put on a baseball shirt today for the first time, but from the waistline down remained a civilian.

Dykes figured he would enjoy a big beef from Luke Appling after sentencing his recent holdout to an upper berth for the homeward journey. Luke claims he's very comfortable except for his usual half dozen or more physical infirmities.

Bob Sturgeon, Cub shortstop, once played here, so the fans were all ready for him when he showed up on the ball field. They summoned him to the plate and presented a traveling bag.

After Bill Dietrich had suffered a charley horse in his left thigh while running on the slippery clay surface in the third inning, Manager Dykes decided the safety of his regulars was more important than the decision. He sent a large batch of rookies into action.

ST. LOUIS GIVEN U. S. CLAY COURTS NET TOURNAMENT

St. Louis, Mo., April 6 (AP).—The National Clay Courts Tennis tournament will be held here June 13-21 instead of in Chicago as previously scheduled.

PIRATES OUTSLUG A'S.

Big Spring, Tex., April 6 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates slammed out 19 hits today to defeat the Philadelphia Athletics by the sandlot score of 12 to 11.

When all but out of the running, the Mackmen, who got 13 safeties, came back with three run rallies in the eighth and ninth innings to tie the score at 11 all. Aldon Wilkie, who relieved Johnny Lanning in the ninth to cut short the A's rally, doubled and scored on Alf Anderson's double to win.

Louis Blair, Felix Mackiewicz, and Vince DiMaggio all hit homers with two bases occupied. Score:

Philadelphia [A.]	300	002	033	11	13	1
Pittsburgh [N.]	300	322	101	12	19	0

Batteries—Knott and Castiglia; Strincevich, Lanning, Fowler, Wilkie and Phelps.

BROWNS ARE OPTIMISTIC.

Deland, Fla., April 6 (AP).—With the best pre-season record of any team in the American league, the St. Louis Browns broke camp today and started north hopeful of being the "dark horse" of baseball this summer.

The Brownies, who have won 14 games and lost 5, play at Anderson, S. C., tomorrow; Anniston, Ala., Wednesday, and Montgomery, Ala., Friday, before returning home for the spring series with the Cardinals.

Manager Luke Sewell announced Elden Auker or Bob Muncrief would be his starting pitcher against the Redbirds.

TIGERS START NORTH.

Lakeland, Fla., April 6 (AP).—Ending a six-week stay here, the Detroit Tigers broke camp today and headed northward with 27 players, nearly half of them newcomers, for the start of the American league season.

En route home the Tigers will play the St. Louis Cardinals at Durham and Winston-Salem, N. C., and Johnson City, Tenn., and the Cincinnati Reds at Ashland, Ky., Dayton, O., and Cincinnati. The club is scheduled to arrive in Detroit next Monday in time for a workout before the opening game April 14 with the Cleveland Indians.

In Florida, Detroit won eight and lost 14 exhibition games.

CAN'T PLAY BALL, SO WILDCAT NINE TURNS TO TRACK

Peoria, Ill., April 6 [Special].—Clad in their baseball suits, but wearing gym shoes borrowed from Bradley, members of the Northwestern university baseball team turned their attention to basketball and track this afternoon after weather canceled their game with the Braves. While pitchers limbered up their arms in one part of the Bradley gymnasium, the other Wildcats engaged in a spirited if somewhat unorthodox basketball game with 10 men to a side. Then Coach Maury Kent sent them for six laps on the Tech indoor track.

Bradley left tonight for Iowa City to meet the University of Iowa tomorrow. The Wildcats will meet State Normal in Bloomington tomorrow.

U.S. TABLE TENNIS TOURNEY DRAWS CHICAGO ENTRIES

Holzrichter to Lead Team Into Detroit.

Three members of the Chicago team which was runner-up to New York in the national intercity meet will compete in the 20th United States Open Table Tennis tournament from Friday to Sunday in Detroit.

Capt. Billy Holzrichter, voted most valuable player in the intercity meet, Eddie Ray, and Bill Du Metz will lead the Chicago contingent which also includes Bill Albin, recent runnerup to Holzricher for the state title.

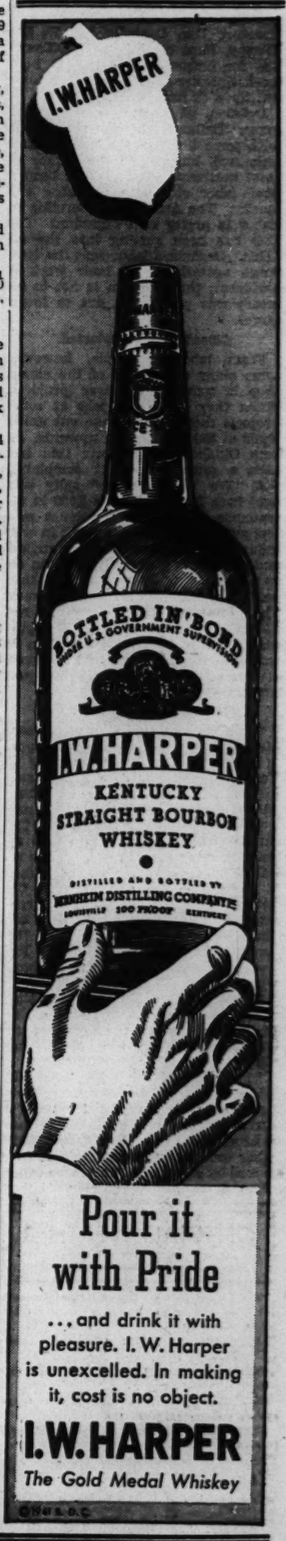

La Vera Weber, No. 1 Illinois women's player, Vee Bishop, and Jane Weber, all of Chicago, will seek the women's title.

Dan Krier, who played against New York, will compete in Detroit if he can obtain a furlough from his army duties at Fort Custer, Battle Creek, Mich.

Edward E. Kuhns, president of the Illinois association, has been nominated for vice president of the USTTA. The elections will be held Sunday in Detroit.

TEXANS BELIEVE 'IT'S TIME TO GET OUT AND WIN WAR'

Vigilantes' Direct Action Spirit Rules.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Houston, Tex., April 6.—Sentiment hereabouts on the movement in the south against the 40 hour basic week in war industry seems to be, "We figure it's time to get out and win the war." Casual talks with ordinary folks reveals that Texas stands first in volunteer enlistments; that a lot of families have relatives in service with MacArthur and elsewhere, and that many persons believe that the production of war goods is being hampered by the 40 hour week, excess profits on war contracts, and dilly-dallying at Washington.

They explain that in Texas the old vigilante spirit—direct action—is still rampant. Down here "the boys believe if something is wrong do something about it." As one citizen put it, "Politicians are not sacred. There's no defeatist attitude here. When the public gets mad something pops and the politicians have to get in line damned fast."

Ears Like Elephants.

This is the home town of Jesse Jones, secretary of commerce. Some of the congressmen have come back to get grassroot opinion, but here people say there is little need of that; that Texas politicians have ears like elephants, attuned as delicately as seismographs, and they can catch the murmur of a ground swell almost before it starts. A poll at Washington is said to show nearly all Texas representatives against the 40 hour week. Senators Tom Connally and W. Lee [Pappy, Pass the Biscuits] O'Daniel are for suspension of the 40 hour week. Speaker Sam Rayburn has come out for a 48 hour week.

Opinion, of course, is not unanimous. Dallas is an open shop town, with some unions. Houston is more unionized, but not to the degree of most northern cities. It has been a good labor city with no labor animosity. The American Federation of Labor is pretty well organized. The CIO has been getting into the oil fields. Organized labor says the campaign against the 40 hour week is anti-labor, that the aim is not to increase war production but to lower wages.

Closed Shops Protested.

From laboring people, however, come many complaints of the closed shop in some of the war projects. When they go to get jobs at some projects they have to take out union cards at $50 to $150 and upwards. In both Oklahoma and Texas this has been a source of great complaint.

A "We Want Action" rally was held here March 24, with 8,000 in attendance. It was to register a protest against the 40 hour week in war industries, for the outlawing of strikes and for curbing excessive profits on war contracts. It was turned into bedlam by some 300 shipyard workers. The promoters of the rally had not placed a labor speaker on the program. Quiet was restored when it was announced labor would be given a voice at the end of the regular program.

Connally a Headliner.

Sen. Connally, chairman of the senate committee on foreign relations, is a headliner in his home state of Texas. A week or so ago in Washington, when Sen. Alben W. [Dear Alben] Barkley, majority leader, and a voice of the White House, said the senate was not yet ready to take up amendments to labor laws, he was rebuked by Connally. The Texan said if the senate did not act soon the voters would get on the tail of senators at the ballot box. "I'm not threatening anybody," he told the senate. "I'm not a candidate. I'm trying to save some of these boys who are."

Connally has a bill providing that if a strike threatens to tie up a war production plant, the government could take over the plant and "freeze" all labor conditions.

"I'm not a labor hater," he said when he went to the mat with Barkley, it is widely reported here. "I don't propose we shall create any aristocracy of labor leaders. Most of labor wants to work, but they are hijacked by a few labor czars who order them around."

REAR ADM. FISKE DIES; A PROPHET OF AIR WARFARE

Called Daniels Unfit as Naval Chief.

New York, April 6 [Special].—Rear Adm. Bradley Allen Fiske, 87 years old, retired former chief of naval operations and former commander of the 1st, 3d, and 5th divisions of the Atlantic fleet, died tonight in his suite at the Waldorf Astoria hotel. He had been confined to his bed for the last two months with a nurse in constant attendance.

Adm. Fiske was one of the navy's most vigorous proponents of air power and was the inventor of the torpedo plane which he predicted would limit the usefulness of capital ships. He was a bitter critic of division of the fleet between the Atlantic and Pacific, and during the early '20s raised his voice many times against the peril of Japanese sea power in the Pacific.

Called Daniels Incompetent.

Once the personal aide of Secretary of the Navy Josephus Daniels, Fiske, after his retirement in 1916, assailed Daniels in testimony before congress and in his books, calling him an incompetent. He said in his "Naval Lessons of the World War" that Daniels both in writing and in oral testimony before congressional committees made many statements about "important naval matters within his cognizance that were absolutely false."

Fiske said the navy would have been caught entirely unprepared when we entered the World war if certain navy officers had not sacrificed or endangered their position by putting thru measures without the knowledge of Secretary Daniels. He advocated legislation restricting the power of civilian naval secretaries in making decisions on purely naval matters.

Blunder in Arms Pact.

In 1926 Fiske wrote a magazine article denouncing the 1922 limitation of armament conference as a great blunder of statesmanship. He entitled the article, "How British Guile Scuttled Our Navy," and accused American conferees of playing into the hands of British and Japanese diplomats. Particularly he denounced the American agreement not to make any further improvements in defenses of the Philippines.

In a letter to Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur in 1924 Fiske warned that our naval bases on the west coast are inadequate in case Japan should attempt to take the Philippines, and called attention to the 3,000 mile stretch between the Philippines and the drydock at Hawaii.

Philippines' Danger Seen.

He said that when he served on the navy general board officers were agreed Japan could capture the Philippines if she tried, but that no officer was willing to say the United States had the strength to retake them.

In addition to the torpedo plane Fiske was credited with inventing an electric range finder, an electrical system of turning turrets, an electrical ammunition hoist, and a system for detecting submarines. As navigator of the Petrel at the battle of Manila he was cited by Adm. Dewey for heroic conduct.

$7,000 JUDGMENT IS AWARDED FOR SUBWAY DAMAGE

Judge George W. Bristow of Paris, Ill., sitting in Circuit court, yesterday awarded a judgment of $7,000 against the City of Chicago for damages to two properties from the State street subway construction.

The suit, which sought $16,000 for the cost of shoring the buildings and for damages, was filed by Arthur T. McIntosh, Arthur T. McIntosh Jr., and Alexander W. Hannah, trustees for an estate owning the properties at 671 North State street, and 1 East Huron street.

City attorneys said they will appeal. This is one of the first tests of the city's liability to property owners for alleged subway damages, amounting to millions of dollars. In another case involving alleged damages to two buildings, owned by A. F. Cuneo, on North State street, the Illinois Supreme court has upheld a judgment against the city. A request by the city for a rehearing is pending.

TWO LIQUOR STORES ROBBED.

Mrs. Ignatius Cyrocki and her son, Leo, were robbed of $200 yesterday by two bandits who entered their liquor store at 5022 South Ashland avenue and threatened them with a gun. An hour later two men, similarly described, robbed Samuel Spilois of $130 in his liquor store at 357 West 63d street.

OBITUARIES

J. Frank Davis.

San Antonio, Tex., April 6 (AP).—J. Frank Davis, who wrote "The Ladder," a religious play which was staged on Broadway free to the public, was found dead in his home today. He was 71 years old. "The Ladder," which expressed an idea of reincarnation without creed or cult, opened in October, 1926, but proved a failure. Edgar B. Davis, an oil operator and no relative of the author, spent more than $1,500,000 on the play, including cash awards for best weekly criticisms, ticket refunds, and, finally, free admissions. Davis came to San Antonio in 1911.

Abel B. W. Hodges.

Los Angeles, Cal., April 6 (AP).—Abel B. W. Hodges, 79 years old, geologist and mining engineer, died yesterday. He established the Granby Consolidated smelter at Grand Forks, B. C., and for several years was general manager of the Cerro de Pasco Mining company in Peru. He long was associated with the Guggenheims. SEEKS TO OUST FORMER CONVICT FROM UNION JOB

Removal from office of Luke Ward, ex-convict business agent of local 11 of the Roofers' union, and ouster from the union will be sought by Capt. Daniel Gilbert, chief investigator for the state's attorney, he said yesterday after questioning Ward and Edward Washlow, local president, about the slugging of Lawrence Belles, a rebel member. Belles was slugged in his home at 553 Oakdale avenue last Thursday and Ward and Washlow were arrested Friday for questioning. Ward and Washlow were charged with disorderly conduct and will be arraigned today in South State Street court. Gilbert said he had verified their statements that they were elsewhere at the time of the slugging.

A SUCCESS, SAYS UNION OF SINGLE MILK DELIVERY

James G. Kennedy, president of the Milk Wagon Drivers' union, last night said the new war program of one delivery a day, carried out for the first time yesterday, had been a success. He said only a few complaints were made by customers.

Under the new arrangement the drivers start on their routes at 8 a. m. and make collections with deliveries. Heretofore they started earlier and doubled back to make collections.

SUPPORT GAINS FOR SALES TAX, SAYS TREADWAY

Terms Morgenthau Plan Too Drastic.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., April 6.—A plain hint that congress will not approve the harsh new income tax levies proposed by the treasury was given to the house today by Rep. Allen T. Treadway, [R., Mass.], ranking minority member of the ways and means committee.

Rep. A. T. Treadway.

Some income tax increases will probably be adopted, Treadway said, but none near the levels proposed by the government. He predicted also the inevitability of a special war tax, in the form of a national retail sales tax, in order to raise the revenues essential for the staggering demands of the war program.

Treadway gave members a review of the committee's consideration of the new tax bill during the last five weeks. He said scores of witnesses had opposed almost every phase of the treasury's plan which was advanced by Secretary Henry Morgenthau on March 3.

Morgenthau Asks 9½ Billion.

Morgenthau suggested a total of 9 billion, 610 millions in new taxes, including 2 billions in additional security taxes. This would be added to almost 18 billions now being extracted from the taxpayers' pockets to make an estimated total federal tax yield in 1943 of 27 billions, 487 millions. Ten billions more in state and municipal taxes make the grand tax total more than 37 billions.

The treasury proposal fell heaviest upon individual wage earners in the lower and middle brackets who are already under heavy burdens. Last year these income taxes were increased by as much as 300 per cent and the impact was felt last March 15 when the first instalment on 1941 income was due. The new taxes would more than double the payments next year for those with incomes of $3,000 to $5,000 and almost double the tax on incomes less than $10,000.

Treadway suggested that congress should not try to raise all the 9 billions plus asked by Morgenthau.

Future Generations Benefit.

"The benefits to be achieved by victory over the axis powers will inure to posterity as well as to the present generation of taxpayers and there is no reason therefore why future taxpayers should not share some of the cost," he said.

"The treasury shows no imagination but continues to overwork the income tax which has borne the brunt of all tax increases since 1932. I favor further increases in the income tax, both individual and corporate, but not as high as the treasury proposes.

"It seems to me that we might very well give consideration to the imposition of a special war tax, to be paid by all the people. A retail sales tax has been suggested in many quarters as being admirably suited for this purpose. It would be collected in small amounts and thus would not be a hardship to pay. Those who had the most to spend would pay the most. This would include those who have benefited most from the war boom.

"It is quite evident that the committee and the congress will be driven to adopt some form of sales tax to meet part of the total, however much objection there may be to such a tax under normal conditions.

Goal Impossible.

"While we should attempt to raise all we can by current taxes, there is a point beyond which we cannot go without drying up the tax sources. I have always been a strong advocate of a pay-as-we-go fiscal policy but at the present rate of expenditures, involving an outlay of 59 billions in the coming fiscal year, this would not only be impracticable but impossible to realize."

The present federal tax load, Treadway noted, is already three times as large as was imposed during the years of the first World war.

"Since the fall of France we have increased federal taxes three times," he said, "and the country has hardly become adjusted to the last increase of 3½ billions.

"I hesitate to set any definite figure as to how high we should increase taxes at this time but it seems clear that we can at least dispense with the proposed increase in social security taxes. We should keep such taxes for social security purposes."

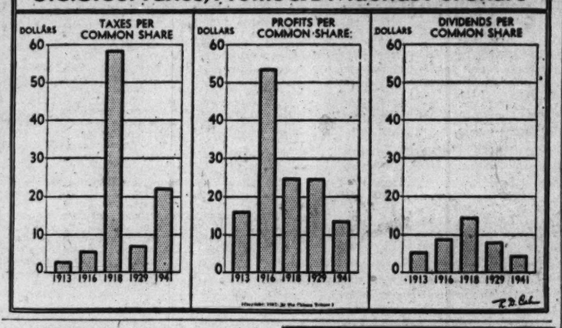

Harvester Plants to Get Treasury's Bond Honors

Treasury "minute man" banners and certificates of award for participation in the defense bond purchase program will be awarded to five International Harvester company plants employing 20,000 persons in the Chicago area at ceremonies today and tomorrow. Representatives of the treasury and the armed services will participate.

Steel Ingot Production Rate to Be Lower for Week

New York, April 6 (AP).—The American Iron and Steel institute estimated today the nation's steel mills would operate at 98.6 per cent of capacity this week, a slight decrease from last week's 98.8 per cent rate. A month ago the mills were operating at 97.4, and a year ago at 99.3 per cent of a smaller capacity.

1,000 Freight Handlers Quit in Pay Dispute

Nearly 1,000 freight handlers quit work late yesterday in a surprise strike against the National Carloading company, 55 West Roosevelt road, and the Universal Carloading company, 120 East South Water street.

The strikers, members of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, and Station Employés [AFL], gave the companies one hour's notice before walking out.

Local company officials said the strike was called because of a national dispute over wages, but declared they knew nothing of the terms. Glen Goble, union vice president, said the strike was news to him but that he was not prepared to describe it as a runaway strike without first consulting other union officials.

Union Head Charges Stalling.

George M. Harrison, president of the international, reached last night at his home in Cincinnati, O., declared:

"I'm going to recognize the strike. I've been expecting it. The men were fed up with the stalling on the part of both companies and they took action themselves."

Harrison predicted the strike would spread to other cities. The two companies operate freight loading terminals in about 80 cities, he said.

He declared the strike was called because "the men were restless after months of company stalling over wage negotiations." An arbitration board was certified last week by the War Labor board, he said. He charged that both companies had told the union they would arbitrate April 20, and later changed the date to May 5.

Ask 10 Cent Wage Boost.

The arbitration board was to hear union demands that the companies increase wages 10 cents an hour. "We got those increases on the railroads last January and we want the same increases from these two companies," Harrison said.

More than 500 union members walked out at the National Carloading terminal at 3 p. m. and were followed a short time later by more than 400 at the Universal depot.

Sergt. George Barnes, head of the police labor detail, said the strikers agreed to move all defense freight and all perishable goods during the strike.

ACCEPT TEXTILE TRUCE.

Fall River, Mass., April 6 (AP). — Members of the American Federation of Textile Operatives voted unanimously tonight to end a two week strike which had closed 17 mills and thrown 18,000 workers out of employment, and return to work tomorrow.

The independent union and the Berkshire Fine Spinning Associates accepted a war labor board proposal previously ratified by CIO textile workers who did not strike.

Under the proposal Rudolph Simonin, a knot tier over whom the walkout started, will not return to work in that capacity.

Many of the mills had government contracts.

CIO UNION BOARD ACTS TO AVOID WORK STOPPAGE

Pittsburgh, Pa., April 6 (AP).—The international executive board of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers [CIO], in a resolution saying the organization would not tolerate "any slowup or stoppage of war production," recommended today revocation of the charter of any amalgamated lodge disobeying the resolution.

The board also recommended that any lodge member found guilty of violating the "intent and purpose" of the resolution be discharged from employment and suspended from membership. Action was taken by the board after it had indorsed CIO President Philip Murray's pledge to President Roosevelt that there would be no work stoppages or slowups in production of war materials.

Government Brief Filed in Glass Container Trial

Toledo, O., April 6 (AP).—Government attorneys filed today in federal court here a 468 page brief summing up arguments in the anti-trust trial of major glass container manufacturers. The brief contended it was not necessary to prove that the various means thru which the alleged conspiracies were accomplished were illegal in themselves. To entitle itself to injunctive relief, the government needs only to show that the defendants participated in the conspiracies and that in the absence of court action they are likely to continue or renew these activities, the brief declared.

ADVISES 'INDUSTRIAL COMMANDOS' TO WHIP DIFFICULT WAR JOBS

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—A proposal that "industrial commandos" be used to tackle difficult jobs of war production was made today by Morris L. Cooke, former chairman of the Rural Electrification administration and later an official of the Office of Production Management.

Like the British commandos, who take on specialized difficult fighting assignments, Cooke said, industrial commandos who "would not take no for an answer" ought to be used in obtaining the output of anything from cotter pins to tanks.

Cooke made his proposal after a call on President Roosevelt, but said he had not discussed this problem with the chief executive. An engineer, Cooke is on a joint commission trying to adjust the dispute with Mexico over expropriated oil lands. The commission is to report to the respective governments by April 19, and Cooke admitted that "oil was mentioned" in his conference with Mr. Roosevelt.

Declares War Cost Must Be Shared by All

The farm bloc and other pressure groups may succeed for a time in getting special favors from congress at the expense of the people as a whole, but in the long run no group can escape paying the price that must be paid to win the war.

This warning that all face the prospect of living on lower standards as rising taxes curtail incomes was given yesterday by Lewis H. Brown, president of Johns-Manville corporation, at a regional meeting of the company's stockholders in the Drake hotel. Brown told the shareholders that profits from which their dividends are derived probably will decrease this year as a result of tax increases, despite indications that the company's sales will be "well over" 100 million dollars, against 93 millions in 1941.

Industry Indispensable.

Asserting that industry is proving that it is indispensable in war, he said it will prove again later that it is indispensable in peace, and added:

"I hope that the people, after the war, will desist from kicking industry around as they have done in the last 10 years of social revolution."

"In the next three or four years these people will get a chance to enjoy the fruits of the planned economy. If they don't they may decide to do something about it."

While indicating he did not agree with certain schools of thought that the return of peace will necessarily mean continued widespread government regulation of business, Brown said the Johns-Manville management supported the complete subordination of the normal aims of business to the job of winning the war.

"When the Japanese caught us asleep, the free enterprise system as we know it went out the window for the duration," he said. "Because of the gravity of our nation's danger, there can be but one primary test to be applied to every business operation, and that is: Will it help win the war?"

Reports to Stockholders.

Here are some of the things Brown told the stockholders in other parts of his address or in a later discussion period when he answered questions:

Profit on war work generally is less than on normal production.

The company is shaping its plans on the assumption that the war will last until 1945.

The company has insulated 500,000 homes, but its rock wool insulation business is only 3 or 4 per cent of its total business.

Only 30 per cent of current output is for civilian use, and the company's research department is trying to find ways to divert as much as possible of that to war production.

Some of the company's dealers are ready to market a recently developed demountable house designed for war plant areas.

Johns-Manville is planning to increase the work week of office forces to 5½ days, from 5.

Banks Urged to Join Coal Loan Program

Banks in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, and Wisconsin were urged yesterday by the Chicago loan agency of the Reconstruction Finance corporation to participate in a lending program to aid retail coal dealers in accumulating supplies early to avoid the fall railroad congestion.

F. M. Murchison.

In a bulletin to bankers, Frank M. Murchison, manager of the agency, outlined the provisions of the proposed program. He explained that the RFC will advance as much as 90 per cent of the loan if the bank wishes. The bank will be allowed to charge as high as 6 per cent interest on its share of the loan and the RFC will charge 4 per cent.

Credit Will Be Restricted.

The credit will be restricted to permit retail coal merchants to carry larger than normal stocks only thru the summer on coal shipped from mines before Aug. 1, Murchison said. The loan may not be used to finance the dealer in increasing his annual sales. Banks were instructed not to make commitments which would help dealers stock more than 1941 sales or the average of the last three years.

As a precaution against diversion of the loaned funds for purposes other than early stocking of coal, the RFC suggested that the banks insist that the dealer instruct the mine to draw a draft against the dealer's bank account and attach a bill of lading for the coal purchased.

Banks Must Supply Data

Banks desiring the RFC to participate in coal loans must supply the RFC with a copy of the dealer's financial statement to establish solvency, a list of officers and directors and their salaries, a list of employés receiving more than $3,600 a year, and a description of the kind of security to be offered.

The security may be a mortgage, warehouse receipt, customers' notes, accounts receivable, and, under certain circumstances, fidelity bonds and trust receipts, Murchison said. The salary list is required to prevent a loan being made to a coal company which is paying unreasonable salaries.

U. S. INDICTMENT CHARGES 5 WITH OIL WELL FRAUD

New York, April 6 (AP).—A federal grand jury indicted five men today on charges of mail fraud and conspiracy in the sale of oil investments. Jerome H. Doran, assistant United States attorney, said that the five—Charles D. Scheetz, Stephen H. Scheetz, and James D. Williamson of Newburgh, N. Y., Reed V. Bontecou of Albany, N. Y., and Archie H. Carpenter of Tyler, Tex.,—sold between $200,000 and $250,000 in royalties in 1938 and 1939 to investors who believed they were buying interests in productive wells at Beecher City and Centralia Lake, Ill., and Birk City, Ky.

Carpenter, who handled the drilling of the wells for the alleged combine, was enjoined in 1938 from continuing operations in the Centralia district because the land belonged to the Texas company, the attorney declared. Doran announced a month ago that Carpenter had pleaded guilty to charges of mail fraud involving the sale of oil and gas leases to residents of Rockland county, N. Y.

GOLDBLATT GETS 2 FIELD LEASES, PLANS BUILDING

A commercial building to cost not less than $250,000 is to be constructed at 324-28 South Wabash avenue when federal curbs on new construction are removed, under the terms of a transaction announced yesterday by Marshall Field & Co. and Goldblatt Bros., Inc.

The companies announced they had completed negotiations for the transfer, to two newly organized subsidiaries of Goldblatt's, of the leases on the land and buildings at 324-28 and 330-32 South Wabash avenue. The leases expire in 2014 and 2008, respectively, and call for annual rentals of $22,000 and $16,000.

The transaction is in accordance with plans made in September, 1936, when Goldblatt bought the Davis store from Marshall Field & Co. The properties had been operated in connection with the Davis store, and since have been used in conjunction with Goldblatt's State Street store.

WARNS ENTIRE TRADES FACING WAR EXTINCTION

Must Switch Over or Drop Business.

The War Production board's drive for capacity output of materials needed for the armed forces will wipe out entire civilian industries because vital materials are not available, Joseph M. Tucker, WPB priority specialist, declared yesterday.

By midsummer, he told 350 business executives attending the Chicago Association of Commerce war problems school in the Central YMCA auditorium, most consumer durable goods will disappear from store shelves. Thousands of merchants will be forced out of business because they will have nothing to sell, he warned.

"The industries and the workers who have been making these goods are already engaged in a very substantial share of war production," Tucker said. "Before long most of them either will devote themselves to making war materials almost entirely, or go out of business for the duration.

Reduced to Minimum.

"Except for a few industries which do not use critical materials or which do not have facilities which can be converted to making things for the army and navy, production of goods for consumers is being reduced to the absolute minimum necessity for public health and safety."

Tucker selected lipstick as an example of everyday comforts which Americans will have to sacrifice to winning the war. He explained that at present lipstick production has not been curtailed but that metal cases for lipstick will not be obtainable in the future because they require copper or other vital metals.

Chicago lipstick manufacturers, however, assured women that red lips are not out for the duration. One company said it is substituting wood, plastic and pressed paper for the metal cases. Others said there is no shortage of lipstick ingredients.

Paper Curb Held Likely.

Tucker indicated there will be curtailment of pulp and paper production because that industry requires large amounts of electric power and transportation facilities. Because of war industries' growing electrical demands, power plants of pulp and paper mills may be harnessed into electric grid systems to augment the facilities of public utilities, he said.

Vital raw materials will be governed by a tight system of distribution and control under the new production requirements plan expected to be in full operation by July 1. Only 5,000 companies are now covered by the plan but eventually all industry will be subject to its priority controls, Tucker said.

The WPB priorities bureau is receiving about 45,000 applications for priority ratings each week and this volume is expected to reach 50,000 soon, he said. The office is able to handle about 42,000 requests a week, but the issuance of ratings has been delayed by a big backlog accumulated in December and January.

Tucker is an Evanstonian and former vice president and general sales manager of the Oliver Farm Equipment company.

RAILS TURN DOWN OPA PLEA TO GIVE UP RATE BOOSTS

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—A special committee of railroad traffic executives today rejected a request that the railroads eliminate for 10 commodity groups the 6 per cent freight rate increases recently granted by the Interstate Commerce commission.

The request had been made by the Office of Price administration and the Office of Defense Transportation. The OPA said the increases would tend to create an inflationary spiral, but the rail men replied that the increases were "not in the category of speculative, unwarranted or abnormal increases such as the OPA was presumed to prevent."

British Markets Remain Closed for Easter Monday

All markets in Great Britain were closed yesterday in observance of Easter Monday. Canadian stock exchanges were closed but the Winnipeg grain market was open.

Navy Leases in Grain Building; Federal Rail Unit Established

Take Faroll Quarters

Another unit of the navy department will be moved to the Board of Trade building on May 1, it was announced yesterday coincident with the expansion of an agency already housed in the building.

The Office of Naval Officer Procurement will be moved to the present third floor quarters of Faroll Brothers, brokerage firm which on or about April 18 will move to ground floor offices at 208 South La Salle street.

To facilitate operation of a national program to obtain 30,000 pilots a year, the Chicago naval aviation cadet selection board has arranged larger Board of Trade building quarters and will double its office staff.

Gets All of Two Floors.

With the additional space the navy will occupy all of the third and 15th floors and about half of the 22d floor, according to Hogan & Farwell, Inc., Board of Trade building agent. Each floor has an area of about 24,000 square feet.

Edward M. Rosenthal, resident partner of Faroll Brothers, said the brokerage headquarters are to be moved at the firm's expense, but added the officers were "more than anxious to coöperate with the navy." The brokerage firm has been in the grain exchange building since its construction in 1929. Against the present 6,000 square feet of space, the new offices will contain about 5,000 square feet.

Other navy bureaus in the building are the Office of Inspector of Naval Material and the naval intelligence office.

Ready for Program.

Lieut. Carl G. Olson, senior member of the cadet selection board, said that with its added space and larger staff the board "is ready for the national program to obtain 2,500 student pilots a month." He said the board will be able to handle applications with efficiency and with a minimum of delay on the part of prospective pilots.

New officers added to the board staff include Henry D. Penfield, former mayor of Evanston; Lieuts. Lincoln Nathan, J. Smith Ferebee, Jay Berwanger, former football star, and James Knight, Donald Oven, and Ensign Gilbert McIntosh.

Unload Train Today

Employés of the Railroad Retirement board's bureau of wage and service records, first of the board's employés to be moved from Washington, D. C., to Chicago, will begin work tomorrow in the America Fore building, purchased recently by the government, James G. Bingham, assistant manager of the Office of Decentralization Service, said yesterday.

A special 22 car train arrived last night with more than 1,300,000 pounds of office furniture and equipment which will be unloaded today.

Bingham estimated about 160 of the bureau's 275 employés are moving to Chicago, while others found jobs with other government bureaus in the capital. Replacements will be made from civil service lists.

Other Bureaus Later.

This bureau has the third and fourth floors of the building. Other bureaus will move to Chicago as remodeling of their quarters is completed. The next to come, probably in about 10 days, will be the division of retirement claims, with 475 employés, Bingham said.

The Railroad Retirement board employs about 1,700 persons, of whom Bingham estimated 1,000 will come to Chicago. The board will occupy the entire America Fore building.

Moving van operators reported a number of trucks loaded with furniture of the board employés are arriving daily in Chicago.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RY. ANNOUNCES IMPROVED LAKE FREIGHT SERVICE

Improved Great Lakes freight service was announced yesterday by G. A. MacNamara, general freight agent of the Canadian Pacific Railway company. The road offers water transportation between Chicago, Milwaukee, and other lake ports as well as to New England and eastern Canada via Port McNicoll, Ont.

MacNamara said the service will be facilitated by the recent acquisition of new terminals at the foot of Randolph street, formerly used by the C. A. T. line, and by the continuous operation of three vessels. He said the Canadian Pacific Great Lakes line will operate the only lake package freighters calling at Milwaukee.

The first sailing from Chicago eastbound will be about April 28, he said.

NATIONAL TEA CO. CLEARS ARREARS ON PREFERRED

Directors of the National Tea company yesterday announced a dividend of 68¾ cents a share on the 5½ per cent $10 par preferred stock, clearing up accumulations on the issue for the first time since payments were omitted four years ago. A regular quarterly dividend of 13¾ cents also was declared. Previous payments on the stock were 55 cents in 1940 and $1.10 in 1941.

Dividends declared yesterday follow:

ORDERS TRANSIT MERGER BALLOT BY BONDHOLDERS

Submission of the 179 million dollar transit merger plan to a vote of the surface and elevated lines' 100,000 securities owners on April 14 was ordered yesterday by Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe. The court set a hearing for that date, at which time committees representing the 16 classes of securities on the two systems will submit any statements they wish to send to their depositing securities holders along with the plan.

The consolidation program has been tentatively approved by Judge Igoe and the dominant securities committees of the transit lines have agreed to recommend its acceptance to their depositors.

Mayor Kelly said yesterday the city is going ahead with plans to hold a referendum at the June 1 judicial election on the traction unification ordinance passed by the city council June 19, 1941.

COURT DISMISSES TRACTION FUND MISUSE CHARGE

Federal Judge William H. Holly yesterday dismissed a complaint charging the city had mishandled the 75 million dollar traction fund built up by payments from the street car lines under their 1907 franchises.

The complaint, filed last month by Attorney Weightstill Woods in behalf of six car riders, charged that the use of the fund to help finance the 60 million dollar subway, to pay fees to traction experts, and to buy the city's tax anticipation warrants "of doubtful value" violated the trust agreement under the 1907 franchises.

The city contended the federal court lacked jurisdiction and that the fund was not a trust fund for the car riders. Judge Holly ruled the petitioning car riders had no interest in the fund.

RAISE FEDERAL PRICES PAID FOR PORK AND LARD

Lend-Lease Buyers Want Half of Total.

Hogs Up 15-35 Cents

The hog market set new 16 year peaks in Chicago yesterday. Advances of 15 to 25 cents a hundred pounds were general, while some "lard hogs" were 30 to 35 cents higher. Cattle rose 10 to 25 cents to the highest since 1937, but lambs fell 15 to 25 cents.

Numerous shipments of hogs weighing 200 to 300 pounds brought the new $14.20 a hundredweight top, second highest April sale price since 1920. Packers paid an average of $14.10, the highest daily average since June, 1926, and the highest for April since 1920. This price compared with an average of $8.75 the same day last year and with $5.10 two years ago.

Announcement of an advance in federal buying prices for pork and lard for export yesterday was accompanied by reports that government buyers plan to purchase 40 per cent of all pork and two-thirds of all lard produced in plants under federal inspection this year for lend-lease purposes. Prices were boosted from ¾ to 2 cents a pound over recent purchase levels, packers said.

They said the higher prices apparently were offered the packing companies in an effort to make larger supplies available to the federal buyers. Lend-lease purchases have grown tremendously, they said, but the government still is not getting all the pork and lard it desires.

Buys 45 Per Cent of Output.

Last week it purchased close to 90 million pounds, the second largest weekly purchase so far in the lend-lease program. This represented more than 45 per cent of all the pork and lard produced in plants under federal inspection last week. In the last year federal buyers reported purchases of more than 237 million dollars worth of lard and pork products.

If the lend-lease buyers take 40 per cent of the pork produced this year, they may remove more than 3 billion 300 million pounds from the market. This compares with 653 million pounds of pork purchased in the first year of lend-lease purchases.

If they take two-thirds of the lard, they may take as much as 1 billion 200 million pounds, compared with 451 million pounds of lard bought in a year. Purchases have lifted retail prices of pork and lard sharply and have boosted live hog prices to 15 year peaks and the highest April average since 1920.

New Price Tops Listed.

Under the new schedule, the lend-lease buyers will pay up to the following ceilings on pork and lard for export:

Hams, sweet pickled, regular	26½ to 27½c
Hams, sweet pickled, skinned	28 to 30½c
Dry salted, American cut, bellies	16¾ to 17½c
Dry salted fatbacks	12¾ to 13¾c
Dry salted clear plates	12½c
Jowl butts	12½c
Wilshires	23½c
Refined boxed lard	14¼c

Prices vary with the weights of the cuts. They represent an increase of more than 80 per cent from the prices paid in first lend-lease purchase in March, 1941.

BROAD RISE PUTS STOCKS 1 TO OVER 5 POINTS HIGHER

Prices Move Up Along with Commodities.

New York, April 6 (AP).—A broad rally in stocks contributed to a brightened situation in speculative markets today. Share prices, moving in step with cotton, grains, hogs, and other commodity futures, stretched their April gains by fractions to a point or more. A few specialties finished 2 to more than 5 points higher.

The market's comeback was aided by a sharp tapering of offerings after disposal of the accumulated selling orders of the week-end. Buyers seemed to have a little more confidence as a result of Saturday's steadiness in the face of senate proposals for a stringent limitation on war profits.

Believe Selling Overdone.

This strengthened belief that the market had reached something of saturation point on bad news, and that the almost continuous decline in prices the last several months warranted expectations of a turn.

A rise of .4 of a point to 35.0 in the Associated Press index of 60 stocks combined with the small gains picked up in Easter week erased a large part of the March decline.

Transfers totaled 335,200 shares, compared with 371,760 Thursday, the last previous five hour trading session.

Coca-Cola climbed 5⅝ to the accompaniment of stories the sugar situation had become less threatening for big consumers.

Arrangements were made for sale of a New York Stock exchange membership at $17,000, duplicating the lowest price recorded since 1897, when a seat sold at $15,500.

CHICAGO PRICES FIRM.

Prices were unevenly higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday. Of 73 issues involved in transactions of 16,000 shares, 35 advanced, 13 declined and 25 closed unchanged. Of the more active shares, Central and South West, Libby, McNeill & Libby, and Brown Fence advanced fractionally, while Commonwealth Edison declined ⅛ and Hupp Motor Car was unchanged. In the half hour following the New York close, Aviation corporation and New York Central advanced ⅛ while Zenith Radio declined ⅛.

Offer 6,000 Share Block of Gen. Telephone Stock

New York, April 6 [Special].—Paine, Webber & Co. offered today after the close of the New York Stock exchange a block of 6,000 shares of General Telephone corporation common stock at $14 a share with dealers' discount of 70 cents.

Commodities

Cotton futures closed 5 cents a bale lower to 25 cents higher yesterday after early gains of as much as $1.10 a bale had established new 13 year highs for the third time within a week. Selling attributed to price ceiling uncertainties checked the gains. Hedge selling and liquidation depressed wool tops 0.1 to 0.6 cent a pound on a trading volume of about 200,000 pounds. Other commodities were unchanged.

WHEAT UP AFTER EARLY SLUMP TO 4 MONTHS' LOW

Strength in Other Staples Rallies All Grains.

BY PHILIP WARDEN.

Wheat dipped 1⅝ cents a bushel yesterday to a four months low on the Chicago Board of Trade before short covering and higher hog, corn, cotton, and soy bean prices rallied the market.

Renewal of selling, which has lowered wheat about 8 cents a bushel in the last three weeks, and 12 cents since the peak reached early in January, carried the market down at one time to $1.22⅛ a bushel for May delivery. This was the lowest price that has been recorded in the wheat pit since the day before the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor.

All Grains Finish Higher.

The rally in bread grain prices lifted the market 1¾ cents from the low of the session and wheat closed ⅛ to ⅝ cent higher than on Saturday with May at $1.23⅞. Corn was up ¼ to ⅝ cent; oats, ⅝ to ⅞ cent; rye, ¾ cent; and soy beans, 1⅛ to 1⅜ cents a bushel.

Prospects for a large wheat crop and the lack of storage space continue to depress the markets. Cash corn dealers reported lake shipments of corn to Canadian ports have come to a standstill because there is no longer any storage space available at the northern terminals.

Iowans Bid for Corn.

Meanwhile, it was learned that corn supplies are growing short in some of the feeding sections of northern Missouri and southern Iowa. Farmers in those areas told of paying 85 cents a bushel and higher for corn—practically the Chicago market—and said government supplies in steel bins in those areas are almost exhausted.

Cash grain dealers said they are offering corn at 84 and 85 cents a bushel in these sections, but cannot compete with truck sales which can deliver the corn direct to the farmer's crib. They said normally corn would be selling at 10 to 12 cents a bushel or more below the Chicago market.

People and Events

Pat G. Morris.
[Moffett Photo.]

Pat G. Morris, vice president and manager of the bond department of the Northern Trust company, and William H. Brand of the Wisconsin company, Milwaukee, have been elected governors of the Investment Bankers' association of America for three year terms. They will represent the association's central states group, which comprises Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Indiana, and Nebraska. John E. Blunt III, of the Lee Higginson corporation, Chicago, has been reelected governor for two years.

L. C. Schoenewald, vice president of Encyclopaedia Britannica, Inc., has been elected a director of the company, filling a vacancy created by the resignation of Donald M. Nelson, chairman of the War Production board, who has severed all of his former business connections. Schoenewald has operated from Chicago since 1939 when he was made general sales manager of the company.

The Illinois and Chicago associations of Life Underwriters will sponsor a sales congress April 18 in the La Salle hotel. A special session for agency managers will be held April 17, at which Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will be the speaker.

More than 2,000 industrial editors from all parts of the country are expected to attend the first annual convention of the National Council of Industrial Editors' Associations May 14-16 in the Drake hotel. Garth Bentley, Chicago, is president of the council.

Bank Check Volume Rises, but Lags Behind Year Ago

The federal reserve board said yesterday that checks debited to deposit accounts in banks in 274 large cities totaled 11 billion 707 million dollars in the week ended April 1, compared with 10 billion 14 million in the preceding week, and 11 billion 768 million in the corresponding week last year. Last week was slightly under a year ago because in 1941 the week ended on April 2, and included more of the customary first of the month business.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

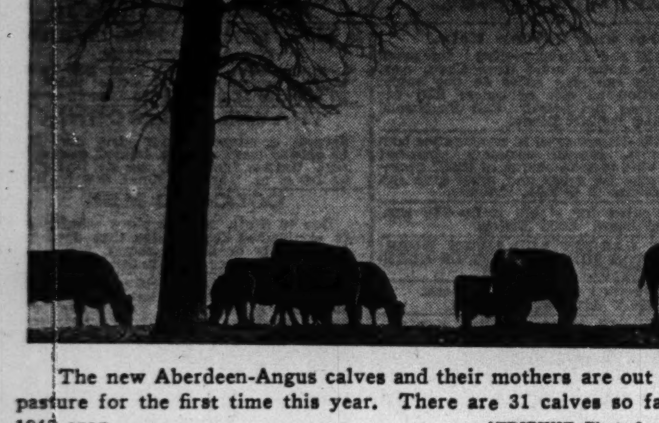

Calves Try Green Grass.

April 6, 1942.

Thirty-one little black calves got their first taste of green grass the other day when the farm manager at the Fox river farm turned the herd loose in a pasture.

The day was warm and sunny and the new Aberdeen-Angus calves looked very unhappy mired down in the cattle yard mud while the hillsides were showing green. The manager opened the yard gate and drove the herd out on a 10 acre auxiliary pasture.

The pasture serves to bridge the gap between the first days of spring when the animals should be outdoors and the time when there is a strong growth of grass in the regular pastures.

The new Aberdeen-Angus calves and their mothers are out on fresh pasture for the first time this year. There are 31 calves so far in the 1942 crop.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Ready to Seed Oat Fields.

The men at the farm were busy with last minute preparations before starting to seed the oat fields. This week the men expect to get most of the oat fields disked and seeded to oats and legumes. The manager plans to have three endgate seeders working in the fields at once to hurry the job. The oats will be sown at the rate of three bushels to the acre. Varieties used will be Iowa 103 and Columbia.

The seed oats have been cleaned and fanned and are ready for the soil. They have not been treated for smut as the farm has been singularly clean of smut and the manager did not think the treatment necessary.

The big corn sheller worked half of one day turning out shelled corn for the feeder steers. There are 39 Herefords on feed in one of the lots, each weighing about 1,350 pounds. On full feed they necessitate the shelling of hundreds of bushels of corn at a time.

Purchased in July.

The steers were purchased last July. They were grained a little on pasture during the summer. Then, when fly time became bad in early August, they were brought into the feedlot and put on full feed. The manager is going to hold them and feed them out weighing about 1,500 pounds. The cattle market looks good and the demand for heavy cuts makes the extra feed worth while.

In addition to disking the old stalk land this week, the men are expecting to get a good start on plowing up 40 acres of sod land. There are three tractors ready to go the minute the soil is dry enough.

The heavy working season has started now at the farm and there will be no rest or short hours until the last of the corn is gathered next fall.

SALES OF SEARS, WARD, WALGREEN CLIMB IN MARCH

Volume of Each Sets a New Record.

Dollar sales volume of Sears, Roebuck & Co. and Montgomery Ward & Co. in March and the first two months of their fiscal year established new records for these periods, the two large Chicago mail order and retail chain organizations reported yesterday. Walgreen company, drug chain with headquarters in Chicago, announced its sales in March and the three months ended March 31 were larger than in any preceding corresponding periods.

Sears' sales last month totaled $76,038,022, a 14.5 per cent gain over March, 1941. Volume for February and March aggregated $137,708,985, an 18.3 per cent gain.

Ward Sales Up 25 Per Cent.

Ward's March sales were $55,856,457, an increase of 25.56 per cent over a year before, while in the two months the company sold $93,825,352 of merchandise, up 19.79 per cent.

Last month's sales of the Walgreen company amounted to $7,527,396, a gain of 8.6 per cent over March, 1941. First quarter volume was $22,265,767, or 12.8 per cent over 1941.

Three large New York variety chains were among those reporting substantial gains for March in comparison with a year ago. Included were F. W. Woolworth company, $30,266,063, up 14.4 per cent; W. T. Grant company, $10,469,845, up 24 per cent, and G. C. Murphy company, $5,090,629, up 26.2 per cent.

October Egg Futures Rise Despite Big Fresh Supply

Scattered buying lifted October egg contracts .15 cent a dozen on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Supplies of fresh eggs in Chicago reached a new peak since last July, 193,000 dozens coming by truck and train to this market. A total of 93 carloads were held on track. There were no changes of any consequence in wholesale egg and butter prices.

Indiana Harbor Belt Line's Profit for February Falls

The Indiana Harbor Belt Railroad company yesterday reported February net income of $2,205, against $138,575 in February, 1941. Increased operating expenses accounted for the decline in the face of a $105,872 gain in gross income, officials said. The net for the first two months of the year was $65,979, against $315,060 for the corresponding period a year ago.

Canada Enlists Shoppers to Check Price Violations

Washington, D. C., April 6 [Special].—Women shoppers have been enlisted by the Canadian Wartime Prices and Trade board to report violations of price ceilings established last December, the United States department of commerce reported today. Booklets in which shoppers record prices paid for merchandise were distributed to 25,000 housewives.

FARM MORTGAGE DEBT DOWN 3% SINCE 1939; GAINED 24% IN 1914-'17

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—Altho the farm mortgage debt is approximately 50 per cent larger than at the start of the last war, farmers have entered this war with a comparatively healthy debt situation, the Farm Credit administration reported today.

The agency cited a 3 per cent decrease in the total mortgage debt since the beginning of the present war period in 1939 in contrast to a 24 per cent increase from 1914 to 1917. It said that because of only a slight change in the farm mortgage interest bill in recent years, the greatly expanded farm income of 1941 and the prospective income of 1942 meant that the debt burden should be substantially lower in the next few years; "that is, a smaller portion of the farmer's income will have to go to his creditors than formerly."

LEHMAN ASSETS DIP WITH SLUMP IN STOCK PRICES

Per Share Value $24.74 as of March 31.

Reflecting the decline in the market value of securities to the lowest level since 1935, net asset value of the Lehman corporation capital stock dropped to $24.74 a share as of March 31. This compared with $26.74 last Dec. 31 and with $28.77 a share on July 1, 1941, the start of the investment company's current fiscal year.

Increased returns from investments and smaller operating expenses combined to produce a larger net ordinary income for the nine months ended March 31, the interim report showed.

Loss on Securities Over a Million.

Gross income from interest and dividends in the period was $2,525,588 against $2,335,229 in the corresponding period of the 1941 fiscal year. Operating expenses declined to $395,379 from $459,430. Net ordinary income before realized investment losses was $2,130,209 against $1,875,798. Net realized loss on investments for the nine months ended last March 31 amounted to $1,011,635.

Among the portfolio changes effected in the March quarter, as revealed by Robert Lehman, president, were the following:

New holdings: 2,000 common shares of United States Gypsum company, 5,000 of South Porto Rico Sugar, 2,900 of Timken Roller Bearing company, 75 common shares and $22,500 in 5 per cent notes of 1947 of Distillate Production corporation, 100 shares of American Viscose corporation, and 4,000 5 per cent preferred shares of United Aircraft corporation.

Buys More Chrysler Stock.

Eliminated: 2,000 shares of Electric Bond and Share $6 preferred stock, $23,000 of Paramount Pictures 4s of 1956, and 200 shares of Copperweld Steel company 5 per cent preferred.

Additions: 4,000 shares of Chrysler corporation, 2,200 of Borg-Warner corporation, 1,200 Electric Auto-Lite company, 1,200 of Johns Manville corporation, 2,600 of Santa Fe, and 4,100 of Pennsylvania railroad.

Reductions: 7,700 shares of Montgomery Ward & Co., 6,800 shares of Sears, Roebuck & Co., 1,000 shares of Amerada Petroleum, 4,300 shares of Humble Oil and Refining corporation, 1,200 shares of Phillips Petroleum company, 8,400 shares of Chesapeake and Ohio railway, 1,800 of Continental Can company, 1,200 of Monsanto Chemical company, and 4,500 of General Foods corporation.

The company's investment portfolio is divided as follows: 70 per cent in common stock; 16.8 per cent in cash, government bonds, short term notes, and receivables; 6.9 per cent in other bonds, and 6.1 per cent in preferred stocks.

TREASURY ISSUE WELL RECEIVED, SAYS SECRETARY

Washington, D. C., April 6 (AP).—Secretary Henry Morgenthau said today the treasury's offering of 1½ billion dollars of certificates of indebtedness was "very well received." He praised the thousands of securities dealers who, he said, did an "exceptionally good job" in familiarizing the investing public with details of the issue, and said the treasury may use the same method of introducing other new types of securities.

The certificates, which bear ½ of 1 per cent interest and mature in 6½ months, are a type of treasury obligation which had not been sold since 1934.

Altho no figures were available, preliminary reports enabled the treasury to close the subscription books at the close of business today. Subscriptions placed in the mail, however, will be considered if postmarked before midnight.

REYNOLDS NEARS END OF BIG WAR EXPANSION WORK

Aluminum Output Much Increased in Year.

As a result of its large expansion program, substantially completed in 1941, the Reynolds Metals company's capacity for producing aluminum alloys at least equals that of the entire nation as late as 1939, R. S. Reynolds, president, told stockholders yesterday in his annual report mailed from the company's headquarters in Richmond, Va. The statement showed substantial improvement in sales volume and earnings.

R. S. Reynolds.

"The company's operations," Reynolds said, "are fast becoming integrated to the point where the successive stages of production, from the mining of bauxite to the fabrication of aluminum products, will enable the company to supply the much needed material [aluminum] for additional thousands of military planes."

Building Many New Plants.

Reynolds said the expansion program, started in 1940, has included acquisition of domestic bauxite mines and negotiation of "favorable contracts" for foreign bauxite in the western hemisphere.

He said a large alumina plant and five aluminum reduction units have been erected and are operating, while three additional reduction units are under construction. In addition, he reported, several large plants for fabricating strong aluminum alloy sheet, rod and extruded shapes for the war program have been completed and are in operation. These new plants, Reynolds added, employ thousands of workers, all of whom had to be trained while the machines and processes were being developed.

Sales Up 67 Per Cent.

Reynolds said sales of the company's products, which include a number of metal items in addition to aluminum alloys, aggregated $48,602,557 last year, a gain of 67 per cent over the $29,157,971 of 1940.

Net income for 1941, the report showed, was $2,867,674, equal to $2.53 a common share, a gain of 18 per cent. Provision for federal and state income and excess profits taxes was $2,478,000, against $1,616,767.

Twentieth Century-Fox Film corporation reported consolidated net profit for 1941 of $4,921,926 after providing a reserve of $550,000 for foreign assets. The profit was in contrast with a net loss of $517,336 reported for 1940 after adding $2,800,000 to the reserve that year. The report was issued by Hermann G. Place, chairman of the executive committee.

De Met's, Inc., Chicago restaurant, soda fountain and candy store chain, reported a net loss last year of $95,240, compared with a loss of $46,726 in 1940. Net sales for 1941 were $1,955,375, against $1,936,441 in 1940.

WARREN REORGANIZATION.

I would appreciate a brief explanation of the treatment of securities and claims provided by the plan of reorganization of the Warren Brothers company.—N. T. J.

Answer: The plan of reorganization of the Warren Brothers company, Cambridge, Mass., which has received federal court approval, provides the following treatment of securities and claims outstanding:

For each $1,000 of 5½ per cent notes and accrued interest to July 31, 1941, will be offered $680 principal amount of series A bonds, $680 series B bonds, and a cash adjustment of $13.88. For each $1,000 of 6 per cent debentures and accrued interest to July 31, 1941, will be offered $700 of series A bonds, $700 series B, and $12.67 in cash. The new series A bonds carry a 4½ per cent interest rate and the series B a 5 per cent rate.

If the amount of allowed claims is $200 or less each, payment will be made in full in cash. If the amount exceeds $200, series A and B bonds in equal amount will be offered, plus a cash payment to adjust any remaining sum of less than $20.

Holders of first and second preferred stock will receive one share of new class A stock for each share under the plan. Holders of convertible preferred stock will receive one class B share and 2.9 shares of class C stock for each share. Holders of common stock will receive one-fourth share of class C stock for each share.

Those holding allowed claims are given an alternate option. They may receive for each $2,000 of such claims the following: $1,000 face amount of 4½ per cent external Republic of Cuba bonds, 1941-'55; $1,000 face amount of external Cuba 4½s, 1937-'77, and an amount of cash equal to interest on these bonds at the rate of 4½ per cent from Aug. 1, 1941, to the time fixed by the court for the delivery of the bonds. The balance of claims of those taking this option will be paid in equal amounts of new A and B bonds, plus a cash adjustment if necessary.

The new A bonds mature in 1956 and the B bonds in 1977. The latter pays interest to the extent earned. The Warren Brothers company is one of the world's largest highway builders. Reorganization was begun in 1937.

HOW MANY PHONES?

How many telephones are there in the United States.—M. S. T.

Answer: Latest figures indicate a total of 23,450,000 phones were in service at the end of 1941.

FURNITURE LOANS
At Commonwealth you may take your choice of several loan plans. Actually, however, a furniture loan is by far the most popular. The requirements are so simple that nearly any one keeping house can qualify. The payments, too, can usually be adjusted to fit even the most modest income. If you need money, investigate the various loan plans COMMONWEALTH has to offer. STOP IN, WRITE, or PHONE for full details.

Chicago Marks Army Day with Big Parade—Submarines Slice Tanker in Two; Half Brought to Port

Vehicles of army mechanized units rolling down Michigan avenue in yesterday's Army day parade of soldiers, sailors, marines, World war veterans, and ROTC cadets. There were 15,000 paraders, and they were watched and cheered by countless thousands of Chicagoans.
